December 2025

Grand Knight Report

Hope you had a great Thanksgiving this year and soon to be a merry Christmas.

As usual we are a busy council, we have all the usual events in December. Monday night football on Mondays, bowling on Thursdays and the community dinner on Sundays.

We also have the Ya Ya Christmas party at the kc hall on Dec 13th.

Bingo continues to do well, but we could also use some manpower help on Saturdays, remember bingo is how we fund most of our activities in our council.

There is an also and exemplification for new knights at the KC hall on Dec 18.

We will be having a free Turkey Dinner and Turkey shoot at the KC hall on Dec 12th.

The dinner is from 4:30pm to 6:30pm on Dec 12. The menu is the usual, Turkey, dressing, mashed potatoes, green beans, rolls and of course Pumpkin pie with whipped cream.

We are having a fundraiser to raise money for Tony Lemos, he is need of some financial support and in need of a kidney. We will also be raising money for the Grand Knight fund, that helps knights in need. There will be an Eggplant Parmesan fundraiser at the KC hall on Dec 19th to raise money for Tony and provide information on Kidney donations.

Advent

The season of Advent is time of expectation. It's meaning is two-fold: preparing for the celebration of Jesus' birth (His first coming) and anticipates His future return (the second coming). The word advent is derived from the Latin word adventus which means "coming".

Advent is a time to prepare our hearts and lives for the celebration of Christmas, the birth of Jesus. We do this with prayer, spiritual reflection, readings from Scripture, particularly from the Old Testament prophets like Isaiah. Many traditions include acts of self-denial, charitable works and acts of kindness during the season.

Many families set up an advent wreath which has three purple and one rose colored candles. Every week you light a new candle and say a special advent prayer. Most Christians use the four themes of advent - hope, peace, joy and love - to guide them through a season of meaningful reflection and spiritual preparation.

Potential Longevity Benefits of Scarlet Beebalm Extract

Exploring the Health Advantages of Monarda didyma for Lifespan

Life Extension just brought out a new product; Biological Aging Defense - based on an extract of Scarlet Beebalm (Monarda didyma), also known as Oswego tea or bergamot. Scarlet Beebalm is a perennial herb native to North America. Traditionally valued for its vibrant flowers and aromatic leaves, this plant has also been used in herbal medicine for centuries. In recent years, interest has grown in the potential health benefits of scarlet beebalm extract, especially concerning longevity and healthy aging.

Antiaging Properties

In-vitro studies on human cells show that scarlet beebalm extract reduces oxidative stress, DNA damage, and markers of cellular senescence, mechanisms involved in tissue aging and degenerative disease.

A randomized, placebo-controlled, double-blind clinical trial in adults aged 45–65 found that 12 weeks of 100 mg per day of scarlet beebalm extract stabilized DNA methylation age, whereas the placebo group showed a measurable increase in epigenetic age over the same period. The same study reported a significant improvement in leukocyte telomere length in the beebalm group, contrasting with telomere shortening in the placebo arm, pointing to a potential slowing of biological aging at the chromosomal level.

Importantly for stressed midlife adults, supplementation was associated with roughly 25% reductions in cortisol and improved subjective quality-of-life scores, including physical and psychological domains. Wearable and questionnaire data also indicated better sleep indices and increased physical activity, implying that users may feel more energetic and better recovered, not merely “younger” on lab markers.

Antioxidant Properties

One of the most significant factors influencing longevity is the body’s ability to combat oxidative stress. Scarlet beebalm is rich in antioxidants, such as flavonoids and phenolic compounds. These antioxidants help neutralize free radicals—unstable molecules that can damage cells and contribute to aging and age-related diseases. By reducing oxidative stress, scarlet beebalm extract may help protect the body’s tissues and organs, supporting overall health and potentially extending lifespan.

Anti-Inflammatory Effects

Chronic inflammation is closely linked to many age-related conditions, including cardiovascular disease, arthritis, and neurodegenerative disorders. Scarlet beebalm contains compounds like thymol and carvacrol, which possess anti-inflammatory properties. Regular consumption of scarlet beebalm extract may help modulate inflammatory responses in the body, thereby reducing pain and the risk of chronic diseases that can impact longevity.

Immune System Support

A robust immune system is essential for healthy aging. The phytochemicals present in scarlet beebalm have demonstrated antimicrobial and immunomodulatory effects in some studies. By supporting immune function, scarlet beebalm extract can enhance the body's resistance to infections and illnesses, which is especially important as the immune system naturally weakens with age.

Cardiovascular Health

Scarlet beebalm's anti-inflammatory and antioxidant properties may contribute to improved heart health by protecting blood vessels and reducing the buildup of arterial plaque. Enhanced cardiovascular health is directly associated with increased lifespan and better quality of life in older adults.

Digestive Health and Detoxification

Traditionally, scarlet beebalm has been used to support digestive health. Healthy digestion and efficient detoxification processes are vital for longevity, as they help prevent the accumulation of harmful substances in the body. The extract can promote a balanced gut microbiome, which has been linked to improved metabolic health and longer lifespan in various studies.

Conclusion

While more studies are needed to fully understand the longevity benefits of scarlet beebalm extract, current evidence indicates longer healthy cell function before the onset of senescence or death of immune and other cells, while traditional use suggest that its antioxidant, anti-inflammatory, and immune-supporting properties may contribute to healthier aging. As with any herbal supplement, it is advisable to consult with a healthcare provider before incorporating scarlet beebalm extract into your wellness routine, especially for individuals with existing health conditions or those taking medications.

Anyone interested in adding this to your supplement regimen call me at 805-587-6855 or email wilhelmi@pacbell.net. I will be ordering for myself and will stock it for my clients at a discount and save the shipping cost as well.

May you have a blessed Advent as we approach a likewise blessed Christmas Season!

To Your Greater Health and Fitness – In Christ,

Frank

JOIN THE FOURTH DEGREE PATRIOTIC ASSEMBLY 2557

The Fourth Degree Patriotic Assembly represents the pinnacle of knighthood within the Knights of Columbus, embodying the order's commitment to faith, patriotism, and service to both Church and country. Members of the Fourth Degree stand as visible symbols of Catholic citizenship, participating in civic ceremonies, honoring veterans, supporting active-duty military personnel, and promoting love of country rooted in Christian principles. Their presence—often marked by the distinctive regalia—brings dignity and respect to liturgical celebrations, parades, funerals, and community events. Through their dedication, the Patriotic Assembly reminds us that true patriotism is lived through service, unity, and unwavering devotion to the values that strengthen both our nation and our faith.

Being active in the Fourth Degree offers a unique opportunity to live out your faith through visible and meaningful patriotism. Participation allows you to honor veterans, support those currently serving our country, and represent the Knights of Columbus with dignity at church and civic events. It also builds strong bonds of fraternity, giving you a chance to work alongside fellow Catholic men who share your commitment to service and love of country. By staying active, you help strengthen the Assembly's mission, ensure its traditions continue, and make a lasting impact in both your parish and community. Ultimately, involvement in the Fourth Degree is a powerful way to deepen your faith, serve others, and uphold the values that define Catholic citizenship.

Being active in the Fourth Degree means fully embracing the mission of faith, patriotism, and service—and that starts with showing up. Attending monthly meetings keeps you informed, connected, and engaged with the work of your Assembly, ensuring your voice and talents help shape its direction. Participation in religious events is equally important, as Fourth Degree members are a visible sign of Catholic devotion and unity, especially during liturgies, processions, and parish celebrations. Serving at funerals and memorial services is one of the Assembly's most honorable duties, offering dignity and respect to our deceased brothers and their families. And by running for elected positions, you help strengthen the leadership and future of the Assembly, bringing fresh energy and commitment to its mission. Active involvement in these areas not only enriches your own experience, it keeps the Fourth Degree vibrant, respected, and strong.

If you are a member of the 3rd degree and would like to join Assembly 2557 or have any questions, call me at (805)428-6413 or e-mail at f_valdez@yahoo.com.
