SUPER BOWL LII SUSPECTS?

by Andrew Flanagan

So far this season, the Eagles have been on the best winning streak in the NFL. And hopefully it stays that way! In fact, the last time they went 10-1 was 2004. Of course, Carson Wentz has been a huge part in this. Garrette Blount has helped the Eagles tremendously this season too. Many players like Agholor and Jeffery have improved, thankfully. Our defense is also the best it's been in a long time. Now, back to Wentz. If it weren't for his perfect throws and his running back like abilities, we definitely wouldn't be where we are right now. So, is it enough to get the Eagles into the Super Bowl? In my opinion, yes. As long as they stay as one team and work together, they could even win. LET'S GO EAGLES!!!!!!!!!!

What's Happening in Our World Today

by Nicolas Sheen

Puerto Rico is a Caribbean island and unincorporated U.S. territory.

Despite the best efforts of cell companies, the vast majority of Puerto Rico is offline. Internet coverage might seem like a luxury when people are struggling for clean water and power, but communications make moving essential supplies much easier, and let lost families and friends find each other.

That's why the FCC has given an emergency license to Google parent company Alphabet to deploy 30 balloons over the island, with the hopes of providing basic internet service while the regular cell network is brought back online.

Project Loon is an Alphabet "moonshot" concept that's been running since 2013. It's meant to bring internet to remote areas using balloons. Testing is going slowly, but Loon has proven pretty good at restoring communications after a natural disaster. Earlier this year, Loon provided help to tens of thousands of people in Puerto Rico following major flooding.

St. Bernadette Field Hockey

by Bridie McCann, Bridget Grazel, and Lizzy Hennessy

Over the past few months, the St. Bernadette field hockey team has had an extraordinary season. We worked hard, but still found time to have lots of fun, with our teammates, and coach, Sierra. Before every game, we said a prayer and cheer dedicated to our good friend Sydney. In addition, we wore orange socks and ribbons in support of her and her fight against cancer. We won many games, and eventually made it to the playoffs. It's been years since the field hockey team has gone this far.

Pictured (from left): M. Sheridan, L. Hennessy, B. McCann, C. McDonald, B. Grazel.

We worked very hard, but it all paid off when we did something very special, making it to the championship! On the day of the championship, we were both excited and nervous, and made sure not to eat too much. The team we played was St. Pius, to whom we lost earlier in the season. But the chip wasn't out of our reach, because we previously beat them in the championship of the Bonner Prendie field hockey tournament. The Region 25 Championship was very competitive. Sadly, we lost in the end by two points, but we still had a phenomenal season, better than which we had in previous years. It was a truly great experience, and we thank all of the people that supported us through the season.
