Sixth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Sirach 15:15-20; 1 Corinthians 2:6-10; Matthew 5:17-37

One of the first Catechism lessons we learned was the one about the ten commandments. And in many ways, we remain “ten commandments people.” We are old covenant people in our thinking, and thus in our doing. We are minimalists, as some would say. We look at a commandment and say, “well, I don’t do that—steal, rob, lie, cheat, commit adultery, etc. so I’m doing pretty good!”

To that, Jesus, were he to speak in a colloquial fashion, would probably say, “Ha! Doing pretty good? You’re not even in the ball park, much less playing the game!”

The reading from the Sermon on the Mount for today really stretches our ideas about what “doing pretty good” means. Jesus picks out a few of those very familiar commandments and invites us to look deep below the surface of the words. For example, “good enough” just to not commit murder. If we are to follow the ways of God taught by Christ Jesus, then we wouldn’t even think ill of another person!

This and the others mentioned in today’s lesson are very lofty ideals Jesus sets forth. But we can only move along into becoming new covenant people as we endeavor to live out our Lord’s invitation.

Next week’s readings:

Leviticus 19:1-2, 17-18; 1 Corinthians 3:16-23; Matthew 5:38-48

The 10 Commandments

Sadly, most people know little about the Ten Commandments or where to find them in the Bible (read Exodus 20 and Deuteronomy 5).

Few people can name more than three or four of them. Those who take the time to study the commandments find they're not a list of "Do nots," but are in fact God's guide to the good life—a life full of blessings. That's why the Bible calls them "the royal law" and "the law of liberty."

There's much more to these commandments than meets the eye. They're not just God's way of preventing us from having a good time.

The commandments are designed to protect us, our families and our communities. They're a guide to transforming the way we think, what we do and how we live.

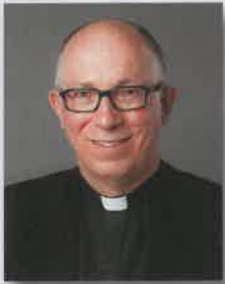

They truly are ten keys to a successful and happy life!

Serving the Poor... God's work is here

*"The most important thing is...to help
anyone in need."*

Dear friends,

Serving others. Sharing with others. Those were 2 of the markers for parish vitality that you identified in our synod survey last year.

It was heartwarming to see that, because it means that we get it, namely, that love of neighbor practiced by helping anyone in any need is the practice of true religion.

That when Jesus comes again, he will judge us on whether or not we helped those in need: those who do will enjoy heaven; those who don't, won't.

And that helping the poor is the focus our holy father Francis wants for our Church: To be a Church of the poor (people aware of their dependence), for the poor (anyone in any need).

In the end, the most important thing is for us to keep the most important thing as the most important thing: to help anyone in any need. Won't you, please?

Thanking you in advance for support of the good work of Catholic Charities, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Michael Jackels
