

THE EPIPHANY
OF THE LORD

JANUARY 5, 2020

SCRIPTURE REFLECTIONS for Jan. 12th The Baptism of the Lord

Isaiah 42:1-4, 6-7

Where do we see the quiet justice of the Lord in action in our daily lives?
Have we accepted God's justice in our own lives?

Acts 10:34-38

Dare we claim to be impartial in our dealings with and opinions of others?
Do we acknowledge the good God has done through others around us?

Matthew 3:13-17

It took willing action by a human to release the power of God.
How willing are we to be Jesus' "partner" when He asks?

The Epiphany of the Lord

Matthew is writing for a community, most of whose members are Jewish converts. He is anxious to show that the Gospel of Jesus reveals God fulfilling all the promises with which they are familiar from their own tradition. In the background to the birth and early days of Jesus we find many echoes of the story of Moses. In today's extract, we are presented with the wicked king, Herod, who, like Pharaoh in the Exodus story, sees a threat to his throne and so orders a massacre of infant Jewish boys to eliminate the danger. Matthew is showing that, in the person of Jesus, the Exodus, the most significant event in Jewish history, is being fulfilled. Above the crib is the cross. The three gifts which the magi offer symbolize Jesus being a king (gold), Jesus being God (incense) and foreshadow his burial after the crucifixion (myrrh).

Scholars sometimes describe the stories of the birth of Jesus as "the Gospel in miniature". They mean by this that we find in the first two chapters of Matthew and Luke the themes that the evangelist will develop in the narrative of the ministry, passion and resurrection of Jesus. One important aspect of the Gospel message is that it is inclusive: no one is excluded from the loving plan of God for human beings. The other readings from the scriptures today emphasize this point. In Matthew's account of the life and ministry of Jesus, we hear of Gentile characters, such as the Canaanite woman and the Roman centurion coming to him, and of Jesus responding positively to their requests.

Epiphany of the Lord

"Then they opened their treasures and offered him gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh." MATTHEW 2:11

The image of the Magi kneeling before the infant Jesus and opening their treasure chests for Him is an image that we should all try to follow each day. In gratitude for all that we have been given, we are called to generously share all of our gifts, not just the ones we pick and choose. God wants us to be generous with everything, but especially that one thing that means the most to you.
