Traditions and customs in the Month of November

Pope Leo XIV's November prayer intention: We pray that the progress of robotics and artificial intelligence may always serve humankind

What are Christians called to remember during the month of November?

Devote or take time to:

- ❖ Pray for the Faithful departed and all of our loved ones who have passed on. All the Holy Souls in Purgatory.
- ❖ Contemplate the Body of Christ
- ❖ Pray and reflect upon the life of the world to come.
- ❖ Visit a cemetery paying our respects to loved ones who have passed on.
- ❖ Learn and pray the Divine Mercy Chaplet reflecting more deeply on the great gift of God's Mercy.

Remember: As Christians it is good, normal, and spiritually healthy to pray and reflect upon our own mortality and future death.

St. Paul's Corner

As the end of the liturgical year draws near the Church invites all Christians during the month of November to pray and reflect upon the Four Final Things: death, judgment, heaven and hell.

God did not create death, nor does he rejoice in the destruction of the living. In the image and likeness of God we have been created unique and unrepeatable and, from the moment God created man and woman, He declared them to be very good. There is an inherent dignity to each and every person. God has given each of us a body and a soul. We are a body-soul composite. We frequently strive to address the needs of our physical body and health, but what about our soul? Are we frequently striving to address the spiritual needs of our soul? How is the state of your soul? What does the Catholic Church teach about death?

“It is in regard to death that man’s condition is most shrouded in doubt.” In a sense bodily death is natural, but for faith it is in fact “the wages of sin.” For those who die in Christ’s grace it is a participation in the death of the Lord, so that they can also share in his Resurrection.

Death is the end of earthly life. Our lives are measured by time, in the course of which we change, grow old and, as with all living beings on earth, death seems like the normal end of life. That aspect of death lends urgency to our lives: remembering our mortality helps us realize that we have only a limited time in which to bring our lives to fulfillment...

Death is a consequence of sin. The Church’s Magisterium, as authentic interpreter of the affirmations of Scripture and Tradition, teaches that death entered the world on account of man’s sin. Even though man’s nature is mortal, God had destined him not die. Death was therefore contrary to the plans of God the Creator and entered the world as a consequence of sin. “Bodily death, from which man would have been immune had he not sinned” is thus “the last enemy” of man to be conquered.

Death is Transformed in Christ. Jesus, the Son of God, also himself suffered the death that is part of the human condition. Yet, despite his anguish as he faced death, he accepted it in an act of complete and free submission to his Father’s will. The obedience of Jesus has transformed the curse of death in a blessing. By death the soul is separated from the body, but in the resurrection God will give incorruptible life to our body, transformed by reunion with our soul. Just as Christ is risen and lives forever, so all of us will rise at the last day.” (CCC 1006-1009, 1016)

Although at death life is changed, it is not ended. Live in Hope. Live life with eternity in mind. Pray and reflect upon the Hail Mary.
