Stewardship: Christians share their talents, time and treasure to carry on the work of the Church. Your offerings are essential to St. Ignatius Church, for us to maintain our staffing, programs and buildings.

Cemetery: There are grave sites available for active parishioners in the new section at the base of the hill. Catholic Cemeteries of the Archdiocese of Washington administers the sale of lots and burial. Because we do not have an adequate endowment, the costs of maintenance come from general parish funds. “Lord, send out your Spirit, and renew the face of the earth.”

Mass Intentions

Saturday, May 22 – 5:00 p.m.- Brenda Canter (belated birthday wishes)

Sunday, May 23 – 9:00 a.m. – William Anthony Eichhold +

We all need a Pentecost Inigo de Loyola was a very traditional guy in a time of change. Five hundred years ago, the middle aged (30 years old) Inigo de Loyola placed himself on a medieval wall defending Pamplona against the French. It was one of the many wars when emerging nation states absorbed formerly independent principalities. There were no great values at stake, in siding with the Spanish against the French, Inigo turned on Navarre, in whose court he had learned the ways of knights and courtiers. His insistence on holding out against a superior force, made little difference since the cannon barrage crushed the resistance. One of the cannon shots did shatter one of his legs and damaged the other forcing Inigo to leave the field of battle in defeat, retreating to convalesce in the family castle. Not only did his hopes of great honors and worldly acclaim disappear, but so did his physical stamina and hopes for chivalrous deeds.

Inigo had been baptized as a child, the youngest of thirteen children, but his understanding of his faith was one of obligation and guilt, not one of loving relation with God in Christ. His conversion to a deeper and personal knowledge and love of Jesus continued to evolve throughout his life, but it began in his sick bed. His immobility forced him to read for entertainment. The available books were a life of Christ and Lives of the saints. Freed from his prior desires by force and left to contemplate his future, he listened to the small voice of the Holy Spirit which led him to know and love the Lord. He made pilgrimages, poured out his soul to spiritual directors and confessors, begged for his tuition and support; all the while growing in familiarity with God. Ignatius was not with the disciples in the Upper Room when Jesus breathed on them giving them the Holy Spirit, nor was he there for the tongues of fire and swirling winds. He was there in his own time in meditation and petition. His convalescence was his Pentecost, but the rest of his life was his continuing conversion.

We each need to be open to a Pentecost in our own lives, looking to God in doubt, staying with Him in wonder. We celebrate a past sending of the Spirit once a year, but we need to be open to personal visitations of the Spirit throughout our years.

Second Collection Next Weekend will be our annual collection for Archbishop Neale School scholarships. Please be as generous as you can.

Welcome Back Procedures and considerations - Chapel Point Please remember, just because the pandemic is winding down, it does not mean that there might not be a new wave. Nearly half of Charles County residents over 18 years old have been fully vaccinated, as have 80% of those over age 65. Some of you are anxious to be rid of the masks and social distancing; some of you might be very uncomfortable around people without masks or distancing. We are trying to accommodate all within the guidelines passed down by the Archdiocese.

Modifications on the Church environment

- The Holy Water fonts and dispenser for Holy Water bottle will return.
- Hard copy bulletins and other printed liturgical materials are back.
- We will still have hand sanitizer in the back of the church.

Return of most but not all practices within the Mass.

- Procession at the beginning of Mass and recession at the end of Mass may be restored.
- The celebrant will greet parishioners after Mass, but shaking hands should be avoided.
- The offertory Procession of the Gifts will be restored next week.
- The Sign of Peace is restored with the use of a gesture, such as a bow or wave, but shaking of hands should be avoided.
- The distribution of the Precious Blood remains suspended until further notice.
- Distribution of Holy Communion – The priest will be at the foot of the altar in the center and the left and right side aisles, front to back, will come around to the back and up the center aisle and return to their pews. The center aisle will receive last, back to front, and return by the side aisles.
- The use of masks by priests and extraordinary ministers while distributing Holy Communion is still required (as is the requirement to sanitize one's hands prior to the distribution of Holy Communion. Holy Communion on the tongue continues to be discouraged, but allowed. If a minister distributes Holy Communion on the tongue, he or she should still sanitize his or her hands after the distribution to each individual on the tongue.
- Reservations -- No longer required. Thank you ushers for the great work you've done with this.
- Masks
- Those who have not been vaccinated should wear masks out of regard for others who are also not vaccinated. People who are at high risk from infections should also feel comfortable wearing a mask.
- Seating
- Those who prefer to be more secure through distancing as we have been doing, should sit on the left side of the church as you enter. We will continue to have alternate row seating there.
- Those who have been vaccinated and feel secure without distancing may sit on the right side as you enter, where the ribbon dividers have been removed.
- Collections once we have enough ushers again we will resume taking up the collection. Ushers will need to wear mask while taking up the collection, as it requires leaning into the pews.
