Staff Spotlight - Theresa Sundstrom

Theresa Sundstrom grew up on a farm near Mechanicsville and met her husband, Deacon Josh Sundstrom, running cross-country with him at Clarke College. She graduated with a degree in Elementary and Special Education and worked as a Community Trainer through Goodwill Industries. Just before their third child was born, she took a position as Music Coordinator at St. John the Baptist in Mt. Vernon, to live closer to family and has been there for 15 years.

She later became the Music Coordinator and Director of Religious Education at St. Isidore the Farmer in Springville. Since the pastorate changes, she continues to enjoy sharing her faith as Director of Religious Ed in Springville. They now live in Olin with 8 children, where she loves spending time with the kids homeschooling. Their house is slowly becoming less full these days, with their oldest a freshman at Mount Mercy and the next one graduating this year!

All Saints Ministries

Welcome to the last Sunday of our liturgical year, when we celebrate the Solemnity of our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe. Our readings today use the contrasting images of God as both shepherd and an all-powerful, punishing divine king, to speak to the reality of the final judgment.

In our reading from Ezekial, we are given a portrait of how God wants us to love our brothers and sisters through the image of how the Lord GOD loves each of us. He nurtures, rescues, and provides for us, His sheep. He gives us rest, defends us against enemies and danger, and heals us. God is the ultimate Father – loving, caring, and protective. But as is foreshadowed at the end, if we do not mirror this same care with our brothers and sisters on earth, there will be judgment at the end.

It is no surprise, therefore, when we are celebrating a funeral liturgy, the end of earthly life, that so many find comfort and hope in our Psalm today, Psalm 23. The resource manual, Living Liturgy, sums up our Psalm using both the images of shepherd and king, "This reminds us of what [Christ's] kingship looks like. It is not authoritarian domination, treating his subjects as pawns or props. Christ's kingship is not for himself, but is exercised out of love for us. He shepherds us to green pastures and guides us on his path. He anoints us with oil [baptism and confirmation], setting the table before us [the Eucharist and the Messianic banquet]. If we accept Christ as king of our life, we shall want for nothing." But what does it look like to accept Christ as king of our lives; what does it look like to belong to Christ?

Pope Benedict XVI in his encyclical, Deus Caritas Est (God is Love) looks to 1 John 4:16 for the answer, "God is love and he who abides in love abides in God, and God abides in him." This verse is what the encyclical letter is centered upon; that this love is the "heart of the Christian faith: the Christian image of God and the resulting image of mankind and its destiny." Our identified destiny is resurrection with Christ when we belong to Christ. And we belong to Christ when we mirror love: love of God and love of neighbor. In our current age and culture, we misuse and abuse the word "love." To clarify the difference between all other understandings of love and the love that includes us as belonging to Christ, Pope Benedict XVI goes straight to the Eucharist.

He highlights that, this sacramental 'mysticism' is social in character, for in sacramental communion I become one with the Lord, like all the other communicants…Union with Christ is also union with all those to whom he gives himself. I cannot possess Christ just for myself; I can belong to him only in union with all those who have become, or who will become, his own. Communion draws me out of myself towards him [Christ], and thus also towards unity with all Christians…Love of God and love of neighbor are now truly united."

In our Gospel reading today, Jesus makes it crystal clear how this melding, this unification, this image of love of God and love of neighbor is to be lived concretely in every age and in every culture. It is interesting, but also very identifiable with the culture of the Jewish faith at that time, that Jesus would use sheep and goats to represent the two end results of our earthly life. From the podcast, Sunday School, Dr. Scott Powell instructs that on the Day of Atonement in the Jewish faith at that time, the priest would lay his hands on a goat and all of the sins of the people would be laid upon the goat. The goat would then be destroyed as a visual representation of the sins of the people being extinguished. So the association of a goat with sins was a clearly understood image. Jesus referred to the lost nation of Israel and then also to those outside the Jewish faith who came to believe in Him, as sheep. Again, a clearly understood image for those who chose the way of Christ.

While we have an individual responsibility to live love of God and love of neighbor, it is incomplete without the ecclesial community. It is in and through the Eucharist, the preparation for the Messianic banquet at the end of times, that we magnify and truly become the Body of Christ. It is as the Body of Christ that Jesus as our king and our shepherd guides us to manifest God's love to the world "reigning until he has put all his enemies under his feet." Then and only then will we hear the king say, "Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world."

Praying with you always!

Tracy

Pastorate Events

Do You Know Someone Who Is in the Hospital, Homebound or in Assisted Living?

Our pastorate is committed to caring for parishioners who cannot be with us at weekend Mass. If you know someone who is in the hospital, homebound, residing in an assisted living or nursing facility, or recovering at home, we would be grateful to hear from you. Your help ensures that those who may feel isolated receive pastoral visits, Holy Communion, prayer support, and a continued connection to our pastorate family.

Please contact Mary Swiderski at 319-393-4445 or m.swiderski@dbqarch.org with their name, location, and your relationship to them. Together, we can make sure every member of our pastorate knows they are remembered, valued, and loved in Christ.

Faith in Action – Second Collection Reminder | November 28–29

This is a wonderful opportunity to double the impact of your generosity. Your contributions support organizations serving those most in need in our local communities and beyond. Please consider giving above and beyond your regular offertory. Together, we can put our faith into action! Thank you for your generosity!

Pastor's Corner

The Advent Season is just around the corner. Over the past four months I have been encouraging our various staff and committees to start working together throughout the Cedar Rapids Area East Pastorate. Some activities and events are easier to coordinate than others. This year, those responsible for the Advent Giving Tree in our respective parishes are keeping some of the traditions the same, while working in cooperation with other aspects of the event.

Sacred Scripture reminds us, "Whatever you did for one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did for me." — Matthew 25:40

This Advent, the four parishes of the Cedar Rapids Area East Pastorate—All Saints, St. John the Baptist, St. Ludmila, and St. Pius X—are coming together to bring hope and joy to others by supporting local schools, families, community organizations, and individuals who could use a little extra help this Christmas season. As we prepare our hearts for the birth of Jesus, we are called to remember those in need and to be the hands and feet of Christ in our communities. Each parish will feature specific agencies and needs, with opportunities to purchase gifts, provide gift cards, or make monetary donations beginning in November. There will be a sign near all the trees listing all the organizations that will be assisted this year!

How to Participate:

- Select a gift tag from any parish Advent Giving Tree or participate through an available online sign-up.
- Purchase the requested gift or gift card, following the instructions provided.
- Return your donation to the designated location by the deadline listed on your tag.
- Please vist https://www.crpiusx.org/giving-tree for more details!

Every gift, no matter the size, is an opportunity to share God's love and bring hope to someone in need.

As we journey through Advent, may we remember that the greatest gift we have received is Jesus Christ. May we reflect His love through our generosity, compassion, and care for one another.

Thank you for putting your "Faith Into Action" and helping make Christ's love visible in our communities this Christmas!

"God loves a cheerful giver." — 2 Corinthians 9:7
