NOTE FROM FR JONATHAN

This holy season brings joy but also sadness. Those who have hope feel much joy and desire to give. But those who have no hope feel more depressed and are often thrown back on their lonely selves in despair.

I ask that each one of us take time to call or message others in our immediate circle, and reach out to those who live alone or may have no family or who are unable to be with family. Let us all care and hold one another especially those who are experiencing difficulties, those battling anxiety, loneliness, depression or feelings of helplessness during this time. Remember, to heal is not to take the pain or the struggle away. To heal is to say, "I am with you. Together, with the help of God, we can do this, we'll get through this."

If any of you are struggling to cope, please know that Fr. Ed and I are here to help. Know of our love, support and prayers for you all!

God bless you!
