WITH THE HELP OF SAINT CECILIA PASTORAL REFLECTIONS

Dear brothers and sisters,

Eight hundred and six years ago, Saint Francis walked from Assisi to Damietta, Egypt to see the Sultan of that land at the very moment that the great King was engaged in mortal combat with the Fifth Christian Crusade. The extraordinary journey would have taken over a year, as Saint Francis and his companions passed through modern day Syria and through the Holy Land, until finally arriving in Egypt. There he encountered the Sultan of Egypt, Malik-al-Kamil, the nephew of Saladin the Great, who had decreed that anyone who brought him the detached head of a Christian would be rewarded with a gold coin.

St. Bonaventure, in his Major Life of St. Francis, tells us how the Saint and his companions just walked right into the enemy camp, where they were predictably placed in chains, beaten and dragged before the Sultan. And then it began. Like Pilate before the Lord, the great Sultan had no idea who was before him. Who sent you? the Sultan asked. God. Francis replied. And why did he send you? To save you and to teach you the truth, he answered.

“When the Sultan saw his enthusiasm and courage,” Bonaventure tells us, “he listened to him willingly and pressed him to stay with him.” Here you have this medieval Goliath of a Sultan with an army so powerful he and his brother had conquered the whole Middle East, but he was conquered by the simplicity of the poverello, saying pace e bene...God sent me to save your soul.

It was an unfair imbalance for a diplomatic negotiation. The Sultan probably saw Francis as a delegate of Cardinal Pelagius and his troops who would seek to negotiate a cease fire or even the return of the Holy sites or the surrender of Egypt. But Francis did not arrive as a diplomat seeking an audience with the Great Ayyubid Sultan Malik al-Kamel Naser al-Din Abu al-Ma'ali Muhammed, seeking political advantage. No. Francis arrived as a man who so loved Malik that he sought to obtain his soul for God. In other words, Francis saw Peace not as the prize at the conclusion of an effective political negotiation, but as the opportunity to love the one who had been cast as his enemy, to humanize him and recognize him as his brother.

Which is why his example is so good for me. I am no diplomat. My entire knowledge of international diplomacy comes from observing Jed Bartlett and Leo Magarry in the Situation Room of the West Wing. I, frankly, have no idea how to solve the geopolitical intricacies of any war. I am no a diplomat. I am a Priest. But as a Priest I know the road to true peace is paved with love and prayer, even when you are afraid.

Even when you are angry. Pray for peace. And listen for that knock on all the doors you have locked. It is the Lord, who breathes his Holy Spirit upon us on this Pentecost Sunday and gives us the peace the world cannot give.

In the Lord,

Monsignor Moroney

BISHOP MCMANUS AND I NEED YOUR HELP!

My dear brothers and sisters,

Every day, throughout the Diocese of Worcester, faith filled individuals go out into the community and preach God's love. Some minister to those who are at risk of being homeless, others to those who are struggling with life's burdens. Teachers and catechists nourish the minds and nurture the faith of our youth in schools and parish faith formation classes. Young men who are pursuing vocations to the priesthood and older men are in the diaconate look forward to serving God's people in our parishes.

Bishop McManus and I need your help in making their ministry possible for another year. In a recent letter to past donors, Bishop McManus wrote: "The Church exists to bring the message of Christ to the world, as with the virtues of faith and hope, charity is only possible when we are infused with the grace of God."

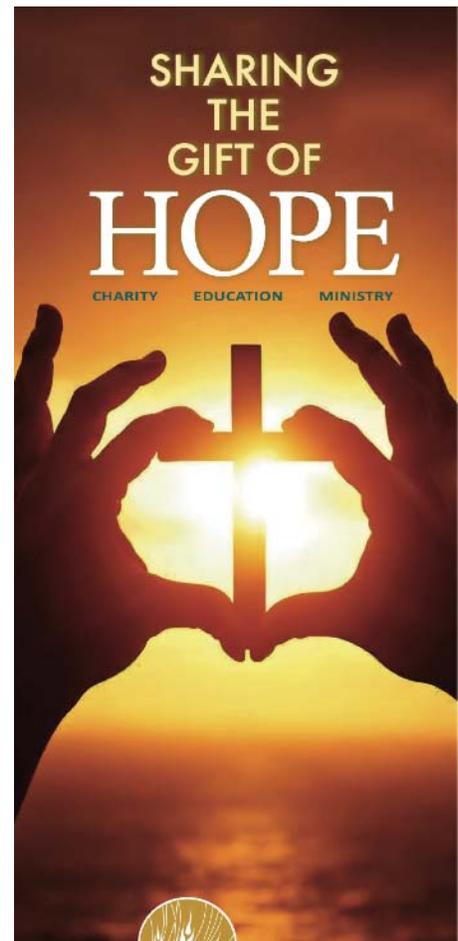

Our parish goal (which we have made for each of the past four years) is $50,000. As of today, thanks to seventy six generous donations, we have reached 39% of that goal. And while I know reaching our the goal involves real sacrifice (especially when you are always so generous to our many parish needs) we desperately need your help.

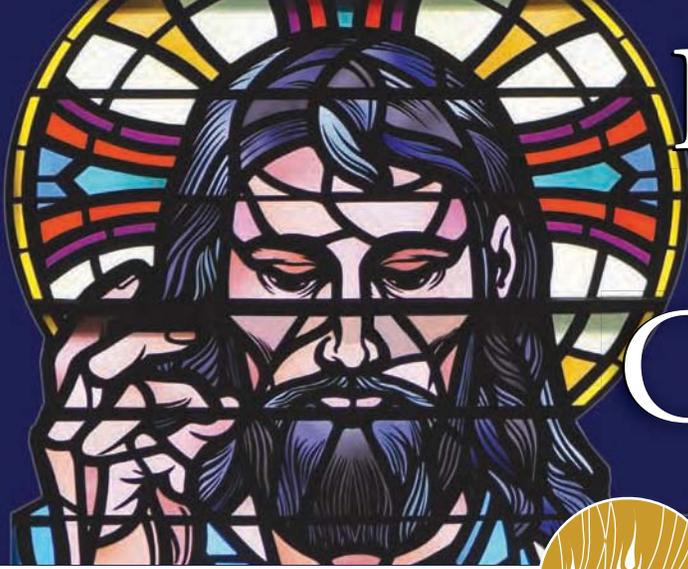

If you have not yet given, there are envelopes at the entrances which you can drop in the collection basket this week or next. If you have already given, could you consider a second gift?

We need your help and trust in your generous support of these vital Diocesan Ministries, from vocations to schools to retired priests, and so many worthy ministries in between!

In the Lord,

Monsignor Moroney

Be the face of CHRIST

We couldn't do it without you!

“Lord, you give the great commission, heal the sick and preach the word; lest the church neglect its mission, and the gospel go unheard...”

Partners
in Charity

This wonderful hymn sums up so well why the Diocese of Worcester invites all parishioners to participate in the annual Partners in Charity appeal.

“The Church exists to bring the message of Christ to the world,” says Bishop McManus. “If we believe Christ cared for the poor and those who were on the periphery, as Pope Francis often puts it, then the Church must do that, too. That is what we are doing through the agencies and ministries of Partners in Charity by offering compassion to those less fortunate than ourselves.”

People are struggling in so many ways beyond dealing with the ongoing COVID pandemic, experiencing a hunger of the body, a hunger of the mind and a hunger of the soul.

Together with our parishes and schools, our agencies and ministries are witnessing to the love of God made known to us through the Gospels. Making the face of Christ real to tens of thousands of people each year, we are assuring that our Catholic faith is alive and tangible in the world today, for it is a faith in action!

“As with the virtues of faith and hope, charity is only possible when we are infused with the grace of God,” Bishop McManus said. “When we recognize the grace of God that is given to us, we can respond to those around us in need.”

Hunger of the Body

Charitable agencies are offering the face of Christ each day to those who are hungry, struggling with the risk of homelessness, or in need of clothing and other necessities for their families.

Miurka Torres, of Catholic Charities said, “Our clients have always been grateful that Catholic Charities helps them find hope, not just a quick solution for that day. We work with them to help them on a road that keeps families together and leads to independence in the future.”

Lateasha, a client of Catholic Charities, said, “I am so grateful that when I came to Catholic Charities for help, they wanted to know me and my family. They are even helping deal with how this pandemic has made life so hard.”

Hunger of the Mind

Catholic education is about presenting the face of Christ to those who are hungry to know how to prepare for life.

High School, said, "Catholic schools provide many opportunities for students to connect with God and to discover what God has planned for them and to make the world a better place, as Saint Paul writes in his letter to the Romans. We recognize that our students are the Church of today, not just for the future."

"I am grateful for receiving a Catholic education since the seventh grade, because I was treated as a whole person, not just a number," said Daniel Mara. "It truly is a blessing that people donate to financially support families who want their children to get a Catholic education and to experience the great things I have experienced here at Saint Paul."

Hunger of the Soul

"I was a college graduate with a good career path as a medical technician," says Jonathan Amidon, seminarian for the Diocese of Worcester. "But I kept feeling that I was being called to serve people as a priest. God's love has been so present and powerful in my life that I need to share that love with others whether in times of joy, or sorrow, or despair. The diocesan seminary program is making it possible for me to pursue studies for the priesthood without the distraction of how to support myself and figure out how to pay for another college degree."

"It is very difficult today for a young man to hear God calling him to a vocation to the priesthood," said Father Donato Infante, director of vocations. "We are grateful that Partners in Charity offers the financial means to provide the environment for young people to discern through prayer, reflection and spiritual direction."

Consider Making a Pledge or Gift today

Whether you make a monthly or quarterly pledge, or a one-time gift, your support of Partners in Charity is making a difference for tens of thousands of people in need.

Check out the options for ways to donate on this brochure. Your response is a response to someone who is hungry for hope in their lives and the lives of their loved ones.

As Bishop McManus expressed, "My fervent hope and prayer is that people will respond as missionary disciples to those in need, making the Good News of the Gospel real in people's lives through the work of the agencies and ministries of Partners in Charity."

WHERE IT ALL BEGAN!

Finally work began in September of 1931, in the heart of the depression, and continued year-round with the first Mass being celebrated on Christmas day 1933. The construction of the church provided jobs during the Great Depression while also bringing hope to the parishioners of St. Cecilia Parish. The cost to build the church was 400,000 which is equivalent to 9,636,793 today. While the exterior of the church was completed the interior of the church has been a continuous project even to this day.
