Dear Parishioners of Mary Star:

As we conclude the month of September school is in full swing and things hopefully have become a bit more settled and calm. Interesting for us all is the topic of friendship, which grows and deepens throughout our lives. Below is an insightful article which might help direct each of us to develop better and long lasting true friendships rooted in Christ. Have a blessed week.

The Difference Between Lasting and Temporary Friendships

By Ana Lydia Sawaya

Aristotle sheds some light on why some friendships last forever, and others are so ephemeral.

As the years go by, we find that some friendships last practically forever, while others fade away without us even realizing it. In an age when social media make it materially possible—and quite easy—to stay in touch despite distances, an age-old question becomes even more relevant: why are some friendships so lasting, and others so ephemeral?

While there can be various factors involved, there are some commonalities that we can identify. For an answer, let's turn to one of the greatest and most influential thinkers of all time: Aristotle (384/383-322 BC).

He addresses this topic in his work Nicomachean Ethics. While friendship is necessary in human life, he says, there can be different foundations for friendship, two of which—pleasure and utility—lead to merely temporary relationships.

They who have friendship for one another desire one another's good according to the motive of their friendship; accordingly they whose motive is utility have no friendship for one another really, but only insofar as some good arises to them from one another.

And they whose motive is pleasure are similar: I mean, they have friendship for people of easy pleasantry, not because they are of a given character but because they are pleasant to themselves. So then they whose motive for friendship is utility love their friends for what is good for themselves; (...) that is to say, not in so far as the friend beloved is but in so far as he or she is useful or pleasurable. These friendships then are a matter of utility: since the object is not beloved in that the person is the such as he or she is, but in that he or she furnishes advantage or pleasure, as the case may be.

Such friendships are of course very liable to dissolution if the parties do not continue alike: I mean, that the others cease to have any friendship for them when they are no longer pleasurable or useful. Now it is the nature of utility not to be permanent but constantly varying: so, of course, when the motive which made them friends is vanished, the friendship likewise dissolves; since it existed only relatively to those circumstances.

Young people

According to Aristotle, these characteristics are frequently found in friendship between young people, and this is why such relationships are often inconstant and fleeting:

But the friendship of the young is thought to be based on the motive of pleasure: because they live at the beck and call of passion and generally pursue what is pleasurable to themselves and the object of the present moment: and as their age changes so likewise do their pleasures.

This is the reason why they form and dissolve friendships rapidly: since the friendship changes with the pleasurable object and such pleasure changes quickly.

The young are also much given up to love; this passion being, in great measure, a matter of impulse and based on pleasure: for which cause they conceive friendships and quickly drop them, changing often in the same day: but these wish for society and intimacy with their friends, since they thus attain the object of their friendship.

Seeking what is good

For Aristotle, only those who seek what is good in itself can have lasting friendships:

That then is perfect friendship which subsists between those who are good and whose similarity consists in their goodness: for these people wish one another's good in similar ways (...) and those are specially friends who wish good to their friends for their sakes, because they feel thus towards them on their own account and not as a mere matter of utility; so the friendship between these people continues to subsist so long as they are good; and goodness, we know, has in it a principle of permanence.

Moreover, each party is good in itself and also relative to their friend, for all good people are not only good in an abstract sense but also useful to one another. Such friends are also mutually pleasurable because all good people are so not only in themselves, but also relative to one another (...). Now when people are good they will be always the same, or at least similar.

Friendship then under these circumstances is permanent, as we should reasonably expect, since it combines in itself all the requisite qualifications of friends. (...) Moreover, in it there is what is good in itself and what is pleasant in itself, and as these are specially the object-matter of friendship so the feeling and the state of friendship is found most intense and most excellent in people of this kind.

Rare

Aristotle recognizes that such friendships are rare:

It is probable that friendships of this kind will be rare, because people of this kind are rare. Besides, all requisite qualifications being presupposed, there is further required time and intimacy: for, as the proverb says, people cannot know one another “till they have eaten the requisite quantity of salt together;” nor can they in fact admit one another to intimacy, much less be friends, till each has appeared to the other and been proved to be a fit object of friendship.

Although this kind of friendship can be difficult to attain, we should never give up on the desire of having and being this kind of friend. Today’s world needs good people who form lasting friendships and seek what is good for others, not just seeking their own pleasure and utility.

CARE FOR EACH OTHER

Don’t delude yourselves, Jesus says through the parable of the rich man and Lazarus. We really are supposed to care for others. It is not enough to go to Mass and occasionally serve at a parish or outreach function. We cannot remain complacent and consider ourselves followers of Jesus. No matter how much or how little material wealth we have, we always have something to give—our time and attention, care, and, when possible, our money. The way we treat and care for others, especially the poor and vulnerable, is the manner in which we show our love of God. As disciples, we must “pursue righteousness, devotion, faith, love, patience, and gentleness.” Jesus calls us to see and respond to the least among us, because, as God’s children, we are all part of one another.

PRAYER OF THE WEEK

O God, who manifest your almighty power above all by pardoning and showing mercy, bestow, we pray, your grace abundantly upon us and make those hastening to attain your promises heirs to the treasures of heaven. Through our Lord Jesus Christ, your Son, who lives and reigns with you in the unity of the Holy Spirit, God, for ever and ever.

Reflection question:

How has God shown mercy to me?

GOSPEL and PRAYER

THE HOLY ARCHANGELS Feast day September 29

First Reading	Amos 6:1a, 4-7
Responsorial Psalm	Psalm 146 R/ Praise the Lord, my soul!
Second Reading	1 Timothy 6: 11-16
Gospel	Luke 16:19-31

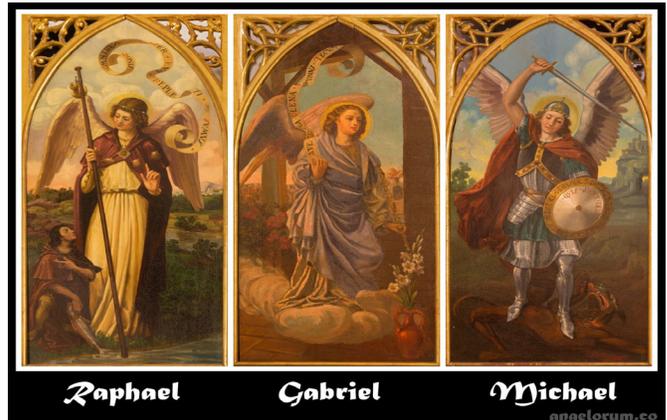

GOSPEL Luke 16:19-31

Jesus said to the Pharisees: "There was a rich man who dressed in purple garments and fine linen and dined sumptuously each day. And lying at his door was a poor man named Lazarus, covered with sores, who would gladly have eaten his fill of the scraps that fell from the rich man's table. Dogs even used to come and lick his sores. When the poor man died, he was carried away by the angels to the bosom of Abraham. The rich man also died and was buried, and from the netherworld, where he was in torment, he raised his eyes and saw Abraham far off and Lazarus at his side. And he cried out, 'Father Abraham, have pity on me. Send Lazarus to dip the tip of his finger in water and cool my tongue, for I am suffering torment in these flames.' Abraham replied, 'My child, remember that you received what was good during your lifetime while Lazarus likewise received what was bad; but now he is comforted here, whereas you are tormented. Moreover, between us and you a great chasm is established to prevent anyone from crossing who might wish to go from our side to yours or from your side to ours.' He said, 'Then I beg you, father, send him to my father's house, for I have five brothers, so that he may warn them, lest they too come to this place of -torment.' But Abraham replied, 'They have Moses and the prophets. Let them listen to them.' He said, 'O no, father Abraham, but if someone from the dead goes to them, they will repent.' Then Abraham said, 'If they will not listen to Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded if someone should rise from the dead.'"

The Gospel of the Lord.

Prayer to St. Michael the Archangel

St Michael the Archangel, defend us in battle. Be our defense against the wickedness and snares of the Devil. May God rebuke him, we humbly pray, and do thou, O Prince of the heavenly hosts, by the power of God, thrust into hell Satan, and all the evil spirits, who prowl about the world seeking the ruin of souls. Amen

Who are the three archangels?

The three archangels whom the Church honors by name are St. Michael, St. Gabriel, and St. Raphael. They are also the only three angels who are mentioned by name in Sacred Scripture. The Feast of all three Archangels is September 29. In the traditional calendar this was St. Michael's feast day, with St. Gabriel's being March 24th (the day prior to the Annunciation) and St. Raphael's being October 24th. Communities which celebrate the Extraordinary Form of the Roman Rite still celebrate the three feasts. (EWTN.com)

"When you are before the altar where Christ reposes, you ought no longer to think that you are amongst men; but believe that there are troops of angels and archangels standing by you, and trembling with respect before the sovereign Master of Heaven and earth. Therefore, when you are in church, be there in silence, fear, and veneration."

- Saint John Chrysostom

When God created the angels, he appointed many of them to be at the service of humanity. Besides giving everyone a personal guardian to protect them in this life, God has also appointed three archangels to provide us aid on our pilgrimage to heaven. This fact shows how much care God has for us, surrounding us with powerful angelic beings to serve, guard and protect us. In particular, these three heavenly helpers were given specific roles and we are encouraged to invoke them in our hour of need.

Below is a beautiful prayer to the Archangels that highlights the role each Archangel has been given by God and how that role can help us when we need them the most.

Heavenly King, You have given us archangels to assist us during our pilgrimage on earth. Saint Michael is our protector; I ask him to come to my aid, fight for all my loved ones, and protect us from danger. Saint Gabriel is a messenger of the Good News; I ask him to help me clearly hear Your voice and to teach me the truth. Saint Raphael is the healing angel; I ask him to take my need for healing and that of everyone I know, lift it up to Your throne of grace and deliver back to us the gift of recovery. Help us, O Lord, to realize more fully the reality of the archangels and their desire to serve us. Holy angels, pray for us. Amen.

WEEKLY HOLY HOUR AT MARY STAR OF THE SEA

Every Wednesday, 6:00 PM

Every Wednesday there is a Holy Hour in the church. It begins with exposition of The Blessed Sacrament. Within the hour, the rosary is prayed, followed by a time of silent reflection and the Chaplet of Divine Mercy. The Holy Hour concludes with Benediction. Please come and spend one hour with Jesus. This is a special time of abundant blessings for all!

*In order to convert America and save the World, what we need is for every parish to come before Jesus in the Blessed Sacrament in Holy Hours of prayer.

LECTIO DIVINA

EWTN invites you to join them on Sunday afternoons at 3:00pm for information on Lectio Divina, prayer and reflection.

What Does the Latin Name Mean?

The Latin phrase “lectio divina” may be translated as “divine reading.” Lectio divina is a method for praying with the Scriptures. As one reads and invites the Word to become a transforming lens that brings the events of daily living into focus, one can come to live more deeply and find the presence of God more readily in the events of each day. DID YOU KNOW

Parents helping parents

Some parents seem to struggle with, or just do not understand the importance of being on time for school or for pick-up at the end of a team practice. Children and other parents notice persistent tardiness and concerns about possible neglect may arise. In today's climate, a well-meaning parent who steps in to assist with offers to drop-off or pick-up another child may, even under the best of circumstances, become suspect for showing "too much" interest in a child who is not theirs. It is important to find ways to engage parents on such important responsibilities early on. One way to start the process is by inviting them to come together to talk about issues and to brainstorm policies and solutions. For more information, read the VIRTUS® article "Parents who don't quite 'get it,'" at lacatholics.org/did-you-know/.

Padres ayudando a padres

Algunos padres de familia parecen tener dificultades, o simplemente no entienden del todo la importancia de llegar a tiempo a la escuela o de recoger a sus hijos al final de una práctica deportiva. Los niños y otros padres de familia notan las tardanzas persistentes y pueden surgir preocupaciones sobre posible negligencia. Dado el ambiente social en la actualidad, un padre de familia bien intencionado que trate de ayudar con ofrecimientos de dejar o recoger a otro niño puede, incluso en las mejores circunstancias, convertirse en sospechoso por mostrar "demasiado" interés en un niño que no es su hijo. Es importante encontrar formas de involucrar a los padres de familia en estas responsabilidades importantes desde el principio. Una forma de iniciar el proceso es invitándolos a reunirse para hablar sobre posibles problemas y hacer una lluvia de ideas sobre directivas y soluciones. Para obtener más información, lea el artículo en inglés de VIRTUS® "Parents who don't quite 'get it,'" (Padres que no lo entienden del todo) en lacatholics.org/did-you-know/.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

How did the rich man do it? Did he avoid using the door where Lazarus lay? Did he have a servant clear the poor man off the doorstep before he came or went? Did he keep his eyes upward as he walks? It can be hard to understand how this man, dressed in fine garments and ate "sumptuously", could have ignored the poor man who suffered just under his nose. He must have been pretty callous to step over Lazarus and just go on his way!

And yet it happens all the time. It is easy to become numb to the plight of those who are suffering or in need. Busyness can get the better of us. Or fear of getting involved. Or just a tinge of that self-concern that had so consumed the rich man in the parable.

We ourselves may be guilty of looking the other way sometimes when we encounter another person's need. Think about the homeless man on the sidewalk that you drive by on your way to work. Or that young mom in the neighborhood who could use a listening ear. How often do we ignore them on our way to somewhere else.

Given today's readings, it's a good time to examine how we treat people who are less fortunate than we are. The truth is, we can't take care of everyone's needs. But we can ask the Lord to help us see people through his eyes. We can try to be sensitive to the Holy Spirit showing us a need. And we can trust that if we feel God is asking us to do something, he will give us the grace to respond.

Given these opportunities to meet the needs of others is a God-given grace that helps build up the Body of Christ.

Mary Star of the Sea Elementary

Dear Mary Star of the Sea Parishioners,

Mary Star of the Sea Elementary School offers the opportunity to participate in CYO (Catholic Youth Organization) Sports Programs. Our fall season just began with Flag Football “A” (7th and 8th grade), Volleyball “A”, and Volleyball “B”. Our teams are coached by dedicated parent volunteers and teachers who are committed to our school philosophy of integrating Catholic Values into our students’ everyday lives and activities.

Each athlete and their parents sign an agreement that they will meet the requirements of our school program. This agreement asks students to realize they are representatives of their school and parish, they must maintain academic eligibility, and parents commit to be involved in the program.

Our Schoolwide Learning Expectations are an integral part of all student academics and activities. Our Sports Program helps develop the following:

Display strong moral values and faith-based decision making
 Demonstrate self-discipline and healthy choices
 Continue to nurture personal gifts and talents

Please pray for our elementary school and the school’s athletes and coaches as they begin the fall sports season.

This Tuesday, September 27, the Catholic Church celebrates the feast day of Mary Star of the Sea. At school, we will celebrate the feast day with an all-school Mass at 9:00 am. All families are invited. The rest of the day will have special activities, games, and even delicious treats for lunch. Happy Feast Day MSSE!

God Bless You,

Fr. Patrick Foutts Juan Mata
 Rector Principal

WHY ADVERTISE IN YOUR LOCAL CHURCH BULLETIN?

J.S. Paluch will create, produce and print your ad for less than you'd spend elsewhere. They help you reach consumers at extremely affordable rates and offer options to advertise effectively and keep pace with market change.

If you own a business or know of a local business that might like to support your local Catholic parish by advertising in its parish bulletin, please contact J.S. Paluch. Grow your business by advertising in the church bulletin and create strong connections with your target audience. Benefits include:

GREAT COVERAGE - 97% of all households attending church take at least one church bulletin home every Sunday.

GREAT VALUE - 70% of all households are aware of and look at the advertising in the church bulletin and 68% of households surveyed when making a choice between businesses are inclined to choose the one who advertised in the church bulletin.

GREAT LOYALTY - 41% of households do business with a company specifically because they are advertising in the church bulletin.

GREAT PRODUCT - 62% of households keep the church bulletin the entire week as reference.
