FROM THE PASTOR

Dear Parishioners,

This weekend, the fourth Sunday of Lent, we celebrate the second scrutiny with our catechumens — those who are to be baptized at Easter time. Last week we heard Jesus meeting the Samaritan woman at the well and offering her living water. In her conversion, she came to see who Jesus was. This weekend, we meet the man born blind. Jesus, like with the Samaritan woman, meets him in his needs. The man wants to see. However, the healing of the blind man has a deeper meaning as well. Just like the Samaritan woman at the well, the blind man literally gets to “see” who Jesus really is. The irony is that the blind man discovers, and sees, Jesus for who he is — while the Pharisees and scribes, who are sighted people, do not see at all.

In the first reading, David is chosen from among Jesse’s sons. Jesse, although he is a son of Abraham, should have been able to see which of his sons would be the Lord’s anointed. But God’s choice is not Jesse’s choice. God chooses the youngest, the one who seems inexperienced. He chooses David because God sees in different ways than human beings. It is still that way today.

Fr. Jerry Francik
