FR. CHRISTOPHER'S CONTEMPLATION

Hello and Happy Easter!!

I pray that everyone has had a blessed Easter. I hope you were all able to pray through the Triduum and celebrate Easter with deeper faith and appreciation for Christ and His passion. This week we have been celebrating the octave of Easter. Like Christmas, we celebrate the eight days after Easter as if it were the day of Easter. We now begin another great spiritual journey. This one is longer, fifty days. This is not a journey of penance and repentance, instead, it is one of celebration. We celebrate the ministry of Christ after the resurrection and journey towards Pentecost where the first disciples received the Holy Spirit.

During this time we celebrate many feasts in the Church. This weekend we celebrate Divine Mercy Sunday. In our Catholic faith, there are many images that become familiar to us: the Sacred Heart of Jesus, Immaculate Heart of Mary, the image of Our Lady of Guadalupe, the image of the good shepherd and many more. Another familiar image is that of the Divine Mercy.

In this image, Jesus is pointing to His heart and from it come two streams like beams of light, one red and the other white. Under the image reads: "Jesus I trust in you." This image was revealed to St. Faustina on February 22, 1931. If you do not know her story, I encourage you to look it up. This image, again, should be one that is familiar to us.

Jesus is the source of mercy and love and from His heart flows blood and water. We see these symbols in the sacraments of Baptism, Eucharist, the saving waters and the blood of our redemption. One of the saddest things in the world is a heart that believes they are beyond the mercy and love of Christ. No one, no matter what they have done in their lives, is beyond the mercy of Christ if they repent and turn back to Christ. Jesus is love and full of mercy. He desires nothing more than for us to turn from sin, grief, unforgiveness, hatred and receive His mercy. The first step is to ask for it.

I encourage all of us to make this a regular practice. To ask the Lord for mercy and forgiveness, to trust in Christ. The best way to do this is by frequenting the sacrament of reconciliation. Another great way is to pray the chaplet of Divine Mercy. This chaplet is similar to the rosary. It can be prayed on the rosary beads. If you are unfamiliar with this devotion, please look it up. We have pamphlets in the parish office on how to pray the Divine Mercy Chaplet. This chaplet prays for the mercy of God upon us and the whole world. As we continue with our Easter joy, let us strengthen our resolve to be a people of prayer. To root ourselves in Christ and His saving love and mercy.

As Christ's disciples, we have many spiritual weapons (the rosary, prayers, divine mercy chaplet, indulgences, sacramentals) at our disposal. Let us use them often. To make use of all that has been entrusted to us. As we continue the Easter season, I encourage you to post the Divine Mercy image in your homes, offices, etc. Entrust yourselves and your families to the care of Christ and pray often: "Jesus I trust in you."

FAITH FORMATION NEWS

Jean's Jottings

Today we celebrate God's mercy but do we even know what that means? In the Old Testament, mercy is one of God's key character traits. After God freed the ancient Jews from slavery in Egypt, the Jews turned from God to worship a golden calf. God could have given up on His unfaithful people, but instead, He appeared to Moses and described Himself as "a God gracious and merciful, slow to anger and abounding in love and fidelity" (Exodus 34:6) A careful reading of the Old Testament reveals that God calls the people to relationship and covenant in love. When people turn from Him in sin He pursues them, not to punish, but to call them back to the relationship. This is one way He demonstrates His mercy.

We see something similar in today's Gospel. Jesus has died a horrendous death without the support of His closet companions. Now He is risen from the dead and ready for the next stage of salvation history. How will He respond to those who rejected Him in His greatest hour of need? As we learn, He is not angry, and He does not hold the disciples' past actions against them. The disciples are hiding in fear that they could be killed next, and Jesus comes to them, offering peace.

Jesus could have found new followers to continue His mission rather than depend upon those who had proven undependable. But our God is a God of second chances, and of third and fourth if that is what we need. This is a witness to His mercy.

In the Old Testament, the word for mercy is often translated as compassion, an English word that means "suffering with." By coming to us in our brokenness, God is willing to get into the hardship of human life and be right there with us, offering us help and grace in the midst of distress.

The mercy of God is available for us today. In our Gospel, Jesus tells the apostles, "Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them." This illustrates how God's mercy is active in our sacraments. When we go to confession, He does not hold our mistakes, failings, and weaknesses against us. Thus, the mercy of the Father revealed in the Old Testament is continued by Jesus in the New Testament. It lives on today through our priests, who stand in Jesus' place to bring that mercy to us through the sacraments.

Dear Jesus, help us to accept Your mercy so that we can bless others with the blessings we have received. May we meet others in their needs, just as You meet us in ours. Amen. (Catechist Magazine- April/May 2020 – Volume 53, Number 7)

Peace and prayers as we stay safe and centered in Christ,
Jean Hartman, DRE

STEWARDSHIP

IRA ROLLOVER

What you need to know about the IRA charitable gift rollover

Congress has extended and the president has signed the favorable IRA charitable rollover tax provisions for 2015 and made them permanent for future years.

What should a donor over age 70½ do in order to get the benefit that IRA distributions will not be included in taxable income? Donors should follow the same general procedures for IRA charitable distributions as in the past —

- Only direct distributions to charity up to $100,000 qualify as tax-free. Distributions in exchange for a charitable gift annuity or to a charitable remainder trust do not qualify.
- It is especially important that the IRA distribution be made payable to the charity, not to you as the IRA owner and beneficiary. Otherwise, the distribution would not qualify for the favorable tax treatment. Advise your IRA administrator to make the distribution check payable to the Church or other charity, not to you.
- Only distributions from traditional or certain Roth IRAs are tax-free; the law does not apply to other qualified retirement plans, such as 401(k) plans. However, you should consider consulting with your financial or tax advisor about the possibility of transferring funds from one of these other qualified plans to establish an IRA, with the distribution to charity coming from the newly established IRA.
- Consult with your IRA administrator and tax advisor on the proper procedures for making a direct distribution to your parish, the Archdiocese of Detroit Endowment Foundation, the Catholic Services Appeal, Sacred Heart Major Seminary, Catholic Charities of Southeast Michigan, or another archdiocesan institution or qualified charity.

SECOND SUNDAY OF EASTER (DIVINE MERCY SUNDAY)

The topic of faith links today's Scripture readings. In St. Peter's First Letter, he encourages the Christians in Asia Minor — modern day Turkey — to be steadfast in their faith, even during difficult trials. In St. John's Gospel, the evangelist tells of Jesus appearing to His disciples on the evening of His Resurrection, but Thomas is not present. This passage also includes the following week's encounter, when Jesus reveals to Thomas the nail marks from His crucifixion. In faith, Thomas now believes and proclaims: My Lord and my God. But Jesus admonishes him and professes: Blessed are those who have not seen and have believed. God, in unity with His Son and the Holy Spirit, releases this powerful gift of faith by bestowing upon us His abundant grace. While we are granted free will to accept or reject faith, faithful stewards acknowledge and embrace this awesome gift like the early Christians portrayed in the Acts of the Apostles. As stewards, we should open our heart and make Jesus personal in our faith life, then in a spirit of evangelization, share this joy with everyone we meet. Begin to personalize Jesus by learning to pray the Divine Mercy Chaplet.
