CAMPAIGN FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

From the Desk of Father Paul….

Dear St. Anthony Parishioners:

Happy thanksgiving! This is a nice time of the year but can be challenging too for those of us who may not have families we can gather with or that have lost some family members. Hopefully we can be hospitable to those who may need to receive hospitality. We thank God for our blessings and try to help the less fortunate. Thank you on behalf of all the poor who you do help with your donations, volunteering, and prayers. We recall Jesus' words that whatever we do to the least of our brothers we "do unto Him." This is the criteria for paradise according to The Gospel of Matthew, chapter 25. This inspires me and makes me ask: am I doing enough; what else can I do and what does God want me to do for the poor. It is so nice to see homeless shelters and other social service venues share thanksgiving meals with the less fortunate. When we involve ourselves with considering the poor, we shouldn't feel so bad about our own imperfect situations whether that be spiritual, moral, social, or even economic. We can "count our blessings." That is part of the meaning of our national holiday Thanksgiving. We can and do influence society and those around us with our faith in God's love for us transmitted especially through the Word and Sacraments. Yes, we can make a difference because God is making us different with His love for us. Like the story of the first Thanksgiving between the natives of this land and the Europeans, if we can complement and share the resources of this land with each other we could celebrate every day 'thanksgiving". In fact, Jesus compared the Kingdom of God with a meal which becomes sacramental for us here and now in the gift of the bread and wine turned into His Body and Blood. In a way this American holiday and tradition can be more religious than some other religious holidays since a basic act of religion is to give thanks to the Creator.

The Mass here is at 9:00am (bilingual) on Thanksgiving Day and will include hospitality after the mass to give you the morning "Joe" (as in coffee) and "carbs" (as in bagels or donuts) to gather as a community of imperfect believers but that give thanks to God for his love for us and for all our brothers and sisters. Meet us in the St Joseph pavilion after the 9:00 am Mass.

God bless you.

Father Paul

Pope: May we turn wars, plagues into opportunities for conversion

By Vatican News staff reporter

In a letter to Cardinal Juan José Omella Omella, Archbishop of Barcelona, Pope Francis discusses St Ignatius' conversion, and the gift of his Spiritual Exercises to the modern world.

Exactly five hundred years ago on Monday, St Ignatius arrived in Barcelona, a city which played an important role in his formation.

To mark the occasion, Pope Francis sent a letter to Cardinal Archbishop Juan José Omella Omella of Barcelona, in which he examines the saint's conversion and his famed Spiritual Exercises.

Pope Francis began his letter by vividly evoking the event being commemorated.

Five hundred years ago today, he wrote, "Our protagonist, having served the king and his convictions to the point of shedding his blood, was wounded in body and spirit, had stripped himself of everything, and was determined to follow Christ in poverty and humility."

"It mattered little to him," the Pope continued, "whether he stayed in houses for the poor, or had to withdraw into a cave to pray, and least of all that this meant being 'esteemed vain and mad' (S.E. 167)."

Despite these inauspicious beginnings, however, the Pope noted, "five centuries later the civil and religious authorities of that region … are coming together in an institutional way to celebrate that event."

St Ignatius lived, like us, in a time of war and plague, Pope Francis said, and it is significant that God used both of these to call Ignatius to conversion.

"It was the war that brought him out of the siege of Pamplona and was the trigger for his conversion, and the plague that prevented him from reaching Barcelona and kept him in the cave of Manresa."

"This is a great lesson for us," said the Pope, one which should inspire us to take the wars and plagues of our time "as an opportunity to reverse the course we have followed so far and invest in what really matters, whatever the field in which we operate."

"Through crises," he continued, "God tells us that we are not the masters of History, with a capital letter, not even of our own histories, and although we are free to respond or not to the calls of His grace, it is always His design of love that directs the world."

St Ignatius responded to this call, Pope Francis said. Importantly, however, "he did not keep this grace to himself, but saw it from the beginning as a gift to others, as a way, as a method."

The Pope compared this technique – St Ignatius' famed Spiritual Exercises – to "other itineraries of perfection, such as the twelve degrees of humility of Saint Benedict, the Mansions of Saint Teresa, or more simply those proposed to us by the beatitudes or the gifts of the Holy Spirit."

The Spiritual Exercises, like each of these other spiritual pathways, is "presented to us as that Jacob's ladder which leads from earth to heaven, and which Jesus promises to those who sincerely seek Him."

De la Oficina del Padre Paul…

Queridos feligreses de San Antonio:

¡Feliz día de Acción de Gracias! Esta es una bonita época del año, pero también puede ser un desafío para aquellos de nosotros que no tenemos familias con las que podamos reunirnos o hemos perdido a algunos miembros de la familia. Ojalá podamos ser hospitalarios con aquellos que necesiten recibir hospitalidad. Damos gracias a Dios por nuestras bendiciones y tratemos de ayudar a los menos afortunados. Gracias en nombre de todos los pobres a quienes podemos ayudar con sus donaciones, su trabajo voluntario y oraciones. Recordamos las palabras de Jesús de que cualquier cosa que hagamos por el más pequeño de nuestros hermanos "lo hacemos a Él".

Este es el criterio para el paraíso según el Evangelio de San Mateo, capítulo 25. Esto me inspira y me hace preguntarme: ¿estoy haciendo lo suficiente? qué más puedo hacer y qué quiere Dios que haga por los pobres. Es muy agradable ver refugios para personas sin hogar y otros lugares de servicio social que comparten comidas de acción de gracias con los menos afortunados. Cuando nos involucramos en la consideración de los pobres, no deberíamos sentirnos tan mal por nuestra propia situación imperfecta, ya sea espiritual, moral, social o incluso económica. Podemos "contar nuestras bendiciones".

Eso es parte del significado de nuestra fiesta nacional de Acción de Gracias. Podemos influir en la sociedad y en quienes nos rodean con nuestra fe en el amor de Dios por nosotros transmitido especialmente a través de la Palabra y los Sacramentos. Sí, podemos hacer una diferencia porque Dios nos está haciendo diferentes con Su amor por nosotros. Como la historia un tanto mítica del primer Día de Acción de Gracias entre los nativos de esta tierra y los europeos, si podemos complementar y compartir los recursos de esta tierra entre nosotros podríamos celebrar todos a diario un día de agradecimiento.

De hecho, Jesús comparó el Reino de Dios con una comida que se vuelve sacramental para nosotros aquí y ahora en el don del pan y del vino convertidos en su Cuerpo y Sangre. En cierto modo, esta fiesta y tradición estadounidense puede ser más religiosa que otras fiestas religiosas, ya que un acto básico de la religión es dar gracias al Creador. La Misa es a las 9:00am (bilingüe) el Día de Acción de Gracias e incluirá hospitalidad después de la misa para darle el "Joe" de la mañana (como en el café) y los "carbohidratos" (como en los bagels o las donuts) para reunirse como una comunidad de personas imperfectas. creyentes sino que dan gracias a Dios por su amor por nosotros y por todos nuestros hermanos y hermanas. Nos reuniremos en el pabellón de St. Joseph después de la Misa de las 9:00 am.

Dios los bendiga,

Father Paul

Defiende la Dignidad Humana
Domingo, Noviembre 20

A lo largo y ancho del país se trabaja para luchar contra las raíces de la pobreza en lugares que ofrecen una educación deficiente, toleran viviendas costosas y les dan la espalda a las comunidades que sufren necesidades. La CCHD financia a grupos comunitarios que trabajan para cambiar los sistemas que los mantienen en la pobreza. Tu apoyo producirá cambios. La semana del 20 de Noviembre tendremos una colecta.

Sobres para esta colecta se podrán encontrar en la entrada de la Iglesia y en las bancas. Ponga su donativo en el sobre y lo recogeremos a la hora de la colecta después de las Oraciones Universales. Muchas gracias.
