THIRD SUNDAY OF THE YEAR: A: "THE CALL TO DISCIPLESHIP" (Is: 9: 1-4; 1 Cor: 1:10-13&17; Matt: 4: 12-23)

Dear friends in Jesus Christ,

I am very happy to see you all through this homily. Today's first reading is from the book of the Prophet Isaiah. In this passage Isaiah predicts the future glory of an oppressed and suppressed people of Israel. There will be three fold changes: darkness will be replaced by light; sorrow will be replaced with joy; and oppression will be replaced by freedom. The prophecy of Isaiah finds its fulfillment in Jesus the son of God who came as light and liberator of the world.

The second reading is from the first letter of St. Paul to the Corinthians. In this passage Paul speaks about the polarization in the Christian community at Corinth. He denounces those divisions in the community in strong terms and pleads with them to be united in mind and heart and to heal their divisions. The Apostle reminds them that all Christians are united in the Lord and thus they should live in unity and peace without giving room for divisions and dissensions.

"I will make you fishers of men."

Today's Gospel reading is from St. Matthew. This passage has two vibrant themes. The First part of the passage speaks about the inauguration of Jesus' public ministry in a land of gloom and darkness. Jesus begins His mission with the simple invitation to "Repent". The repentance demanded by Jesus of His followers implies willingness to sacrifice and make radical changes in their value system.

In the second part of the passage we have the call of the first disciples of Jesus. The setting is the Sea of Galilee in the land of Zebulun and Naphtali. The fishermen were Simon Peter, his brother Andrew and two other brothers: James and John. Walking along the shore Jesus calls them to leave their fishing nets and to come after Him. There is no hint about where they are going. There are no details of what the discipleship would lead them to. All that is promised by Jesus is that they will be made fishers of men. Immediately they leave their boats, nets (their possessions) and follow the Lord.

Every one of us is called to be a witness to the Lord and fisher of men and women. We fulfill this mission of Jesus whenever we reach out in love to others, to heal them and to comfort them in their sorrows. To be fishers of men and women is not a metaphor. It is a mission through, with and in Christ. Every one of us is called to continue that mission.

"Discipleship is not limited to what you comprehended - it must transcend all comprehensions" -Dietrich Bonhoeffer.

"Discipleship is relationship" - T. Bonifacio.

"Discipleship is 'not hero worship' but intimacy with Christ" - Dietrich Bonhoeffer.

I wish you all Wonderful and Lovely weekend and Blessed Sunday to you all. God Bless you all. Fr. Selva.

Eucharistic Actions

WASHING OF HANDS: The washing of hands by the Priest after preparing the gifts of bread and wine is called LAVABO. The Priest does not wash his hands because they are dirty, but to signify a spiritual meaning of sanctification. Since the time of Moses, the priests were to wash their hands and feet in a bronze basin of water before entering the tabernacle or drawing near to the altar of incense. Hence, Psalm 24 exhorts the symbolic association between outward cleanliness and inward purity: "Who shall ascend the mountain of the Lord? And who shall stand in His Holy place? Those with clean hands and pure hearts...." The Priest concludes this rite by repeating David's prayer of contrition: "wash me O Lord from my iniquity, and cleanse me from my sin". (Mass communication info) According to St. Cyril of Jerusalem: "You have seen then the Deacon who gives to the Priest water to wash, and to the Presbyters who stand round God's altar. He gave it not at all because of bodily defilement; it is not that; for we did not enter the Church at first with defiled bodies. But the washing of hands is a symbol that you ought to be pure from all sinful and unlawful deeds; for since the hands are a symbol of action, by washing them, it is evident, we represent the purity and blamelessness of our conduct. Did you not hear the blessed David opening this very mystery, and saying, I will wash my hands in innocence, and so will compass Your Altar, O Lord? The washing therefore of hands is a symbol of immunity from sin". The washing of hands is a ritual that reminds the Priest that he is called to live devoutly, avoiding all sin. The General Instructions of the Roman Missal #76 therefore states "The priest then washes his hands at the side of the Altar, a rite that is an expression of his desire for interior purification." The washing of hands before committing to the act of consecration is a baptismal prayerful action: a wish to relive again the holy moment of baptism, and a true reconciliation with God and the faith so that he (the priest) may worthily advance as alter Christus to the act of consecration.

MIXTURE OF WATER AND WINE: The mixture of water and wine by the Priest in preparation for consecration is very significant. The water represents the humanity of our Lord Jesus Christ while the wine symbolizes His divinity. The mingling of the water and wine in the chalice symbolizes THE INCARNATION OF OUR LORD JESUS CHRIST. It also recalls His passion when the soldier Longinus pierced His side with a spear and then flowed water and blood (John 19:34), and signifies baptism and Eucharist. The people of God are signified by the water while the wine signifies the Blood of our Lord Jesus Christ. Hence, when water and wine are mixed in the chalice, the people are made one with our Lord Jesus Christ. The officiating priest testifies to this by the accompanying inaudible prayer: BY THE MINGLING OF THIS WATER AND WINE, MAY WE COME TO SHARE IN THE DIVINITY OF CHRIST JESUS WHO HUMBLLED HIMSELF TO SHARE IN OUR DIVINITY. St Cyprian therefore wrote: "for because Christ bore us all, in that He also bore our sins, we see that in the water is understood the people, but in the wine is shown the blood of Christ. But when the water is mingled in the cup with wine, the people are made one with Christ and the assembly of believers is associated and conjoined with Him on whom it believes; which association and conjunction of water and wine is so mingled in the Lord's cup, that that mixture cannot anymore be separated. By the same token, Jesus humanity can never again be separated from His divinity, and He will never be separated from His Church. (Matt. 28:20) In His divinity we have access to God the Father. (Jn. 17:21,23) TO BE CONTINUED...

RAISING DISCIPLES TO INSPIRE RELATIONSHIPS WITH JESUS

Kids Corner- Third Sunday in Ordinary Time

Jesus Tells us to Repent

Today we hear about Jesus beginning His mission of preaching and healing the sick. The very first thing He tells the people is that they should repent from their sins.

Why do we need to repent of our sins? Why don't we just stop thinking about the bad things we did and start trying to be good?

Well, pretend your soul is like a garden. When you sin, it's like making a big hole in the ground. You can't grow flowers in a hole, and someone might trip on it and make the hole bigger. That's what can happen with sins too- little sins can cause bigger ones.

When you are sorry for your sins and go to confession it's like filling in the holes and planting flowers where they used to be. Keep your soul like a good garden and make sure you don't have any holes in it!
