FIFTH SUNDAY OF LENT: A:
FROM DEATH TO LIFE
(Eze: 37: 12-14; Rom: 8: 8-11; Jn: 11: 1-45)

Dear Friends in Jesus,

I am well pleased to see you all though this Homily. Today's first reading is from the book of the Prophet Ezekiel. In this passage Ezekiel assures the people of Israel who were under the Babylonian captivity that God's power will restore them from slavery and misery. He compares their captivity in terms of death and that of their liberation and return home in terms of resurrection and spiritual renewal. He promises them that they will know and experience Yahweh as their Lord and savior.

Second reading is from St. Paul's letter to Romans. In this passage Paul reminds the Christian community in Rome and all of us that those who live according to the flesh live in accordance with their natural inclinations. But we are in the Spirit and hence we belong to Christ. Paul assures us that it was the Spirit who raised Jesus from the dead. The same Spirit lives in us. So the Spirit of God will give life to our mortal bodies.

"I am the resurrection and the life."

Today's Gospel reading is from St. John. This passage gives us a vivid account of the death of Lazarus and subsequently how Jesus raises him from the dead. This miracle story is the seventh and the most spectacular of the signs performed by Jesus which includes: the wedding feast at Cana, woman at the well, the healing of the royal official's son, the miracle of loaves, walking on the water, healing of the blind man and finally raising of Lazarus.

By the time Jesus arrives at Bethany, Lazarus was already dead and buried for many days. Martha voices her regret that if Jesus had come early things would have been different. But Jesus' absence is very essential to the whole story. Jesus explains that through the death of Lazarus, "the Son of man will be glorified." The death of Lazarus serves to show that Jesus is the life giver.

The name Lazarus means helpless. He is dead, lifeless in a tomb with a stone in front and the smell of decay inside. This is the state of Lazarus before being raised to life. Jesus wants us to step out of our tombs. When Martha told Jesus that she knows her brother will rise again at the resurrection, Jesus told her, "I am the resurrection and the life." When Jesus becomes the mainstay of our lives we can experience resurrection here and now.

Jesus is the Lord of life. If we believe in Him, death is something that only affects our bodies. We will still live even after our physical lives are over. At the present times we are experiencing a culture of death due to the corona virus infection and consequent deaths all over the world. Today's Gospel reassures us and it should help us to overcome our pain and frustration, just like Martha and Mary when Lazarus died and was buried.

"While the resurrection promises us a new and perfect life in the future, God loves us too much to leave us alone to contend with the pain, guilt and loneliness of our present life." -

J. MacDowell

"He alone can believe in immortality who feels the resurrection in him already." - F. W. Roberts

"Every parting gives a foretaste of death, every coming together again a foretaste of the resurrection." - A. Schopenhauer

I wish you all a fruitful Lenten Season and Lovely Weekend. God Bless you. Fr. Selva.

The Kiss Of Peace: The Holy Kiss

UNITY OF JEW AND GENTILE

The holy kiss from a Jewish Christian to a Gentile Christian was evidence that the Gentiles were accepted fully into Christian fellowship. Most of the early Church was comprised of Jewish Christians, some of whom thought a Gentile convert should also become Jewish. Those who thought so, were labeled as "Judaizers". Judaizers held to the Mosaic law as their source of justification, and taught that a Gentile would have to adhere to all Jewish law in order to be a follower of the Messiah. The holy kiss between the Jewish and Gentile believers was done righteously in recognition that all believers are brothers and sisters in the family of God. With the peace of Christ bestowed upon them, they would turn to spouse, family and those nearby to offer a gesture of communality and sharing—just as earth is reconciled to heaven, so the faithful are reconciled to one another.

FORGIVENESS

The holy kiss was also viewed as a sign of forgiveness before receiving Holy Communion, inspired by the scriptural example of the return home of the prodigal son, whose father kissed him instead of judging him:

"...and [the prodigal son] arose, and came to his father. But when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him and had compassion, and ran and fell on his neck and kissed him."

Luke 15:20

Saint Matthew had something to say about forgiveness as a requisite to entering into the liturgy of the Mass:

"Therefore, if you bring your gift to the altar, and then remember that your brother has something against you, leave your gift before the altar and go your way, first be reconciled to your brother, and then come and offer your gift." Matthew 5:23-24

THE HOLY KISS EVENTUALLY DIED OUT

A few centuries later, the kiss of peace fell into disuse for several reasons. The Church discovered that the ceremony of the holy kiss could not always be decorously maintained if exuberance caused good manners to be forgotten. Then there was the Bubonic Plague and the Black Death (that destroyed one third of the European population) to deal with in the twelfth century.

In the thirteenth century a new tradition was introduced to replace the holy kiss, known as the "Pax-board". This was a little plaque made of metal, ivory or wood, and decorated with a pious carving, usually of Jesus on the cross. The plaque had a handle by which it would be carried to the altar for the Priest to kiss at the proper moment in the Mass. Then it was brought to each member of the congregation who was kneeling at the altar rails, for them in turn to kiss. A linen cloth was used to wipe the pax-board between each kiss. But even this practice eventually died out, being replaced by the Priest simply kissing the corporal spread upon the altar.

For a time it was also customary for the Priest to kiss the sacred Host itself. Nowhere in the rubrics of the Mass is anyone directed to kiss the consecrated host. The proper act of adoring the host during Communion is to bow prior to reception. The Church does permit leeway for some local customs, but those occasions are explicitly permitted in Church documents, and kissing the host is not one of those situations. Because Mass is the public liturgy of the Church, and not a private devotion, the Church instructs the faithful on what to do and when to do it. Believers gather in unity during Mass, as the Body of Christ; and if each person starts doing his or her own thing the visible symbol of oneness can easily get lost.
