MISSION STATEMENT

"We, the community of St. Gregory Barbarigo, are called forth in Baptism to follow the mission of Jesus to teach, to love, and to serve."

By now you will have received the schedule for Advent and Christmas. There are some changes that are due to the short (almost non-existent) fourth week of Advent. This year Christmas falls on the Monday after the Fourth Sunday in Advent. That means that the Fourth Week of Advent lasts for half a day – the morning Mass on the 24th is for the Fourth Sunday in Advent, and the afternoon/evening Masses are for Christmas. Because of having Christmas on the Day after the last Sunday in Advent, the 11 AM Mass has been dropped on Sunday the 24th of December, leaving only the 5 PM on Saturday and the 8 AM on Sunday for the Sunday Masses. Both the 4th Sunday of Advent and Christmas are holy days of obligation. In the evening of the 24th the 10 PM Christmas Mass has also been dropped because there were less than 100 people at that Mass last year and we have trouble finding enough people to be ushers, acolytes, lectors, and extraordinary and music ministers to serve at that Mass. Next year should be more normal, though I doubt that we will have the 10 PM Mass on Christmas Eve because of the dwindling numbers in previous years. I am willing to reconsider if there is a strong reaction to dropping it, but for those who like to stay up late on Christmas eve, there is a midnight Mass at Conception Abbey which is a beautifully done.

The weekend following Christmas we will have a regular schedule for the weekend Masses (Dec. 31, the Feast of the Holy Family), but only a 9 AM Mass on Monday for New Year's Day (Solemnity of Mary the Holy Mother of God). New Year's Day is not a holy day of obligation this year because it falls next to Sunday. It will be a holy day of obligation next year when it falls on a Wednesday. If you find this confusing, you are not alone.

We are having a Penance Service on the 11th of December at 5:30 PM with soup supper afterwards. I encourage families to come and celebrate together and hope that many of you are able to take advantage of this opportunity. We will have five confessors here. If you are not able to come, we are usually hearing confessions before Masses, both on weekends and weekdays. Confession is a great way to prepare spiritually to celebrate Christmas.

In the Vestibule on the table are brochures for MOScholars, a state program to help children who qualify to attend private schools. Our diocese participates by running what is called Bright Futures Fund. IT COSTS YOU NOTHING! If you pay $1,000 or more of state income tax, you may designate as much as half of your taxes to go to the Bright Futures Fund (the Educational Assistance Organization run by the KCSJ Diocese). The money is used to help students from lower income families to afford tuition under conditions set by the state. At this time we do not qualify – it only applies to students in areas of population of 30,000 or more. But it can help Catholics in the diocese, and hopefully this program will be extended in the future to include us. Please lobby your representative to make this happen! I encourage you to take a brochure and participate in the program. The deadline is December 31st, and the brochure gives you clear, step by step instructions on how to participate.

I will be gone from Dec. 28 – Jan. 5. I am doing a wedding for my God-daughter in St. Louis, then staying for a SEEK Conference for college age students, also in St. Louis. The conference is put on annually by FOCUS (Fellowship of Catholic University Students) who is represented at our NWMSU Newman Center by four fine FOCUS missionaries. I am going to the conference as chaplain of the Newman Center.

Let us prepare together for Christmas this year. It is a privilege to be your pastor.

Father Albert, O.S.B.

SYMPATHY

Our deepest sympathy and prayers are extended to the family of David Viotor, brother of Rudy and Joan Pargas, who died recently. May he and all our faithful departed enjoy eternal rest in peace.

Keeping our Children in the Church

This is a subject I think about often. Not only because I am the mother of two boys under 18, but also because I spent many years away from the church. As I reflect on why I left, something I read about how we need to shift our culture from the traditional Behave-Believe-Belong to Belong-Believe-Behave really resonates with me. When I left, I didn't feel like I belonged because I didn't believe in or want to conform to the behavior expected by my family or church. 19 year old me only saw the church as rules. I thought of many excuses for why I left, but the ultimate reason is that I didn't know, understand or accept the church's authority and teachings. I also didn't understand the unconditional love of my parents, or the unconditional love of Jesus. Those two loves are very much related.

Why I came back took the form of many things, people, and situations, "Holy Moments". However, I think I was only open to being influenced by those moments because I was raised within the framework of faith. I have my parents to thank for that, they did a lot of things right. They practiced their faith religiously, they never missed Mass, we prayed together at meal and bed time, and we talked about faith. They honored the sacraments, they baptized their babies, got them to first communion, and confirmation. These were not optional in our household. While I was resentful then of not having choices, now I appreciate that they made me do those things. They understood that sacraments are the path to salvation. They put me on that path, even though I took a detour, at least I knew there was a path.

If you are in a place where you desire salvation for your kids, but you don't know where you are yourself, I invite you to learn. It's like the air supply on an airplane, you have to get yourself connected before you can help others. A great place to start is "The Search" by Chris Stefanick which is available for free on Formed.org. <https://watch.formed.org/the-search>

If you want more information about Catholic parenting here is a great resource Kelly Quinlin shared: Dr. Edward Sri's podcast All Things Catholic the episode title is "Keeping Kids Catholic". Scan the QR code to access it on Apple Podcasts. I listen to it whenever I need to be reminded of what to focus on.

Thank you for sharing your gifts. — Chris Kuhlemeyer
