

St. Luke Catholic School

Educate/Inspire

April 30, 2014

Dear Parents and Students,

We are having a reading initiative for next school year and to start it off, we're having a book drive! You can help with this initiative by donating your used books to our campus. The goal is to have more books available to the children so they are encouraged to read more. We are trying to collect 1,000 books by the end of this school year. If we meet this goal, we will receive a free Green and Gold day! These books will be organized by grade level and placed in the hall for the children to read. Next year, we will have a reading initiative to read a certain amount of books together. If we meet that goal, we will have a celebration. (More information to come later.)

I know creating life-long readers is the best gift we can give our children, so let's get started. You can drop off your donations of gently used books at the school office or send them to your homeroom teacher beginning tomorrow. We need books for Pre-K, all the way up to the middle school. (No adult books, please.) If we have a variety of books available for children to read, they will read! Let's work together to create life-long readers.

Thank you for your continued support. Let's read, read, and read!

Bless you,

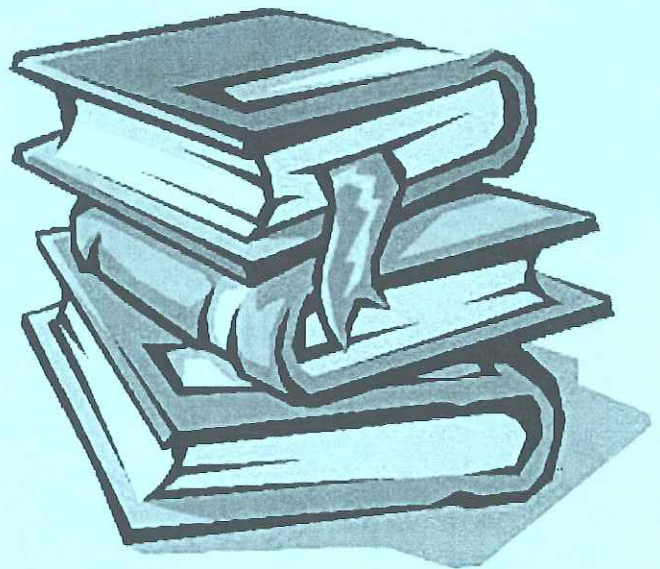

Nadine Buhrman
