Congratulations to Joelynn H. Parham, who received the distinguished Charles Gray Awards for Excellence in arts education. The Charles Gray Award is a Pittsburgh CLO arts education recognition awarded annually to an elementary, middle or secondary school in Allegheny County that has demonstrated special creativity, innovation and effectiveness in providing arts education in the school for all students.

Joelynn's school community is so proud of this award for St. Benedict the Moor School. She keeps herself busy with her instrumental band of 75 students, grades two through eight.
