St. Augustine Zhao Rong and Companions

Feast Day: July 9 (d. 1648 – 1930)

Christianity arrived in China by way of Syria in the 600s. Depending on China's relations with the outside world, Christianity over the centuries was free to grow or was forced to operate secretly.

The 120 martyrs in this group died between 1648 and 1930. Eighty-seven of them were born in China, and were children, parents, catechists, or laborers, ranging in age from nine years to 72. This group includes four Chinese diocesan priests. The 33 foreign-born martyrs were mostly priests or women religious, especially from the Order of Preachers, the Paris Foreign Mission Society, the Friars Minor, Society of Jesus, Society of St. Francis de Sales (Salesians), and Franciscan Missionaries of Mary.

Augustine Zhao Rong was a Chinese soldier who accompanied Bishop John Gabriel Taurin Dufresse of the Paris Foreign Mission Society to his martyrdom in Beijing. Not long after his baptism, Augustine was ordained as a diocesan priest. He was martyred in 1815.

Beatified in groups at various times, these 120 martyrs were canonized together in Rome on October 1, 2000.

Reflection

The People's Republic of China and the Roman Catholic Church each have well over a billion members, but there are only about 12 million Catholics in China. The reasons for that are better explained by historical conflicts than by a wholesale rejection of the Good News of Jesus Christ. The Chinese-born martyrs honored by today's feast were regarded by their persecutors as dangerous because they were considered allies of enemy Catholic countries.

The martyrs born outside China often tried to distance themselves from European political struggles relating to China, but their persecutors saw them as Westerners and therefore, by definition, anti-Chinese.

The Good News of Jesus Christ is intended to benefit all peoples; today's martyrs knew that. May 21st-century Christians live in such a way that women and men will be attracted to hear that Good News and embrace it.

St. Maria Goretti, Virgin and Martyr

Feast Day: 6 July

A story like many others... In every respect other than her death, Maria Goretti's brief life seems a story repeated over and over again across the globe. The third of seven children, she was born in 1890 in Corinaldo, Italy, to a poor family. By the time she was five, her parents had lost their farm and hired themselves out to work for others as tenant farmers. The family moved often, finally ending up in Nettuno, not far from Rome.

When Maria was nine, her father died, and her mother and siblings threw themselves into work to feed the family. Maria kept house, cooked and watched her baby sister. It was a hard life. There was no time for school, for the family was too busy trying to survive. Like many of the poor, the Gorettis could not afford a home of their own, so they shared living quarters with another family, the Serenellis. And like many young girls in similar circumstances, Maria was the victim of unwanted sexual advances on the part of Alessandro, the Serenellis' 20-year-old son. She said nothing about his unwelcome invitations, which she refused, for she was a frightened child and he was a grown man threatening to kill her if she told.

Uncommon courage: In 1902, 11-year-old Maria was sitting on the steps mending a shirt when Alessandro grabbed her and dragged her into the house. He held an awl and threatened to stab her if she refused him again. Maria did just that. "No," she cried as he tried to choke her, "It is a sin! God doesn't want it!" She struggled and tried to run for the door. He caught her, and when she said that she would rather die than give him what he wanted, he stabbed her fourteen times with the awl before running away.

Her family heard the baby crying and ran into the house to find Maria bleeding on the floor. In the hospital, the doctor operated on her without anesthesia. "Think of me in Paradise," he suddenly said in the middle of the surgery. "Which of us will get there first?" she mused. "You, Maria," he answered. "Then yes, I will remember you," she promised.

"I want him with me in heaven!": She knew she was dying now, and so still more came to her with astonishing clarity. There was someone who needed something from her, indeed, who needed the greatest gift she could give before dying. Alessandro Serenelli needed her forgiveness, and the forgiveness of God. She told the police the name of the man who had harmed her, but she added, "I forgive him, and I want him with me in heaven!"

Alessandro took a long time to accept that forgiveness. Sentenced to thirty years in prison, at first he showed no remorse. Years later, he had a dream, which he recounted to a bishop who came to visit him in jail. He saw the little girl he had killed handing him lilies she had gathered, but they burned in his hands. He woke and he knew that the forgiveness she had given him was a power mightier than he could conceive, and that this power was at work in him. Alessandro's heart broke open, and he began to accept the forgiveness of God.

A miracle of forgiveness: Twenty-seven years after Maria's murder, Alessandro was released from prison. He went straight to Maria's mother, Assunta, and begged her forgiveness. Who was she to refuse, the mother said, what her daughter had given so readily? The next day, they went to Mass together as if they were mother and son. Alessandro became a Franciscan lay brother, working in the garden of a monastery until his death.

It was this miracle of forgiveness and conversion that sealed what many had already begun to suspect: that illiterate child who died was a martyr filled with divine charity. In 1950, Pope Pius XII canonized this "20th century St. Agnes" in the presence of her mother, her siblings, and her erstwhile neighbor, who had killed her only to discover in her an intercessor, a sister and a friend.

News from the Roman Catholic Diocese of Burlington

July 4–10, 2026

A Fourth of July Message from Bishop McDermott

As we celebrate the 250th birthday of our nation, it provides us an opportunity to reflect upon the many blessings we have received, are receiving and will receive as citizens of the United States of America.

For some this may be a time to remember our ancestors who came to America from far off lands looking for a better life for themselves and their families. For others, it may be a time to pray for family members who made the greatest sacrifice and laid down their lives in defense of our nation. Others may use this as a time to consider the heroes and heroines of the Revolutionary War and the subsequent years when our nation was still in its infancy and was struggling to take its place on the world stage. Or this may be a time to consider the fact that our nation is still far from perfect and will pray for the healing of divisions which disrupt and threaten our land.

However we choose to commemorate this significant anniversary, I ask that we first use it as an opportunity to thank God for the freedoms we enjoy as a nation, especially the freedom to practice, celebrate and share our faith in Jesus Christ. As imperfect as our union may be in so many ways, the fact that we still can come together to worship God and proclaim our faith in the public square is something we must never take for granted. Daily we read of Christians throughout the world whose lives are at risk because they openly profess their faith in Christ. Martyrs are still shedding their blood rather than renounce their relationship with Jesus. As we freely come together in our churches this weekend, let us thank God for our freedom to do so and offer a prayer for those who take their lives into their hands by attending their parish churches. 'So many Christians in our world long to be able to enjoy this basic human right of the freedom to worship and live out their faith free from threats or dangers. We are so blessed.

I also ask that we keep the sacrifices of these sisters and brothers in Christ in mind as parishes and parishioners in the Diocese of Burlington are being asked to agree in the sacrifice of reduced Mass schedules and sharing parish priests. Mass times may be changing, and priests may not be as readily available as they were in the past because they are caring for more parishes and people, but the great gift of the Eucharist is still being offered freely and frequently throughout our state. If we have to drive a bit further to attend Mass or attend a Mass at a slightly different time than in the past, offer up this small sacrifice for those Christians who cannot attend Mass for fear of their lives, or because of the absence of priests.

Our nation is celebrating 250 years of freedom, a gift that should be celebrated; but every week because of this freedom we are blessed to freely celebrate the mystery of our salvation in Christ through the Holy Mass. May we never take either of these freedoms for granted.

God alone suffices,

+John J. McDermott
