INTRODUCTION

Bishop Antoine Blanc brought a new vision to the Diocese of Louisiana. His first few years were dedicated to setting the Diocese in order. He had served as Vicar-General of the diocese under Bishop Neckere and had also served as administrator until his accession as Bishop of Louisiana. He brought a fresh vigor and foresight to the diocese.

However, just as every Bishop of Louisiana before him, he was forced to spend an inordinate amount of time trying to attend to the problems of the trustee system in the diocese. Especially trying and time consuming were his difficulties with the "marguilliers" of St. Louis Cathedral and the trustees of the church in Lafayette. Even with his time taken up with these problems, he still was able to open up a diocesan seminary in the parish of Assumption in Plattenville, Louisiana. From this seminary the first priest was ordained in 1840 and the first native priest in 1845. That first native priest, the Abbe Rouguette, was to become an important figure in the growth of the church in Louisiana.

The next task that Bishop Antoine Blanc set himself was the calling of a Diocesan Synod. This synod, the third in the history of the diocese, was called to strengthen the reforms that Bishop Blanc was able to make in the diocese. In the courts and in the legislature he was able to win some important battles against the trustee system. With these important legal entanglements behind him, he was able to look to the spiritual development of the diocese in a concentrated way.

You may wonder why, during this time period, no new parishes were opened in the area of the now Baton Rouge Diocese. The turbulence of the trustee system precluded the Bishop from putting his efforts into that very necessary work. The area was populous and it would seem that parishes would be created to take care of the people who were living in these sections. That they were needed is evidenced that in the ten years beginning in 1848, seven new parishes would be established within the area of the present Diocese of Baton Rouge.

Volume 6 contains 9,298 entries. The entries are records of 5,807 baptisms, 1,048 marriages and 2,343 burials, 100 blacks with surnames. This volume of records of the Catholic Church Records of the Diocese of Baton Rouge was produced under the direction of Mrs. Nora Lee Pollard, Diocesan Archivist, with the assistance of Mrs. Una Daigre and Mrs. Jay Hartley. The manuscript was typed for the Diocesan Archives by Mrs. Pamela E. Johnson and Ursula Helouin.

The staff of the Archives of the Diocese of Baton Rouge is presently at work on the next volume, number 7, 1848 - 1852.

Certified copies of all baptisms, marriages and burials in this volume can be obtained from the Department of Archives, Diocese of Baton Rouge, 1800 South Acadian Thruway, P.O. Box 2028, Baton Rouge, Louisiana 70821.
