October 19 is the Feast of the North American Martyrs. We have a reliquary in the Narthex at Holy Martyrs Church in their honor. The eight Jesuits--Jean de Brébeuf, Noël Chabanel, Antoine Daniel, Charles Garnier, René Goupil, Isaac Jogues, Jean de Lalande and Gabriel Lalemant--are some of the most heroic and noble men in the church's calendar of saints. They worked in the wilderness, among people with whom they had little in common other than their common humanity, far from their homelands, sometimes together, sometimes apart, always bound to the Lord, in "New France," in the 17th century. Their work defies imagination even today. After 14 years as a missionary, Jean de Brébeuf died on March 16, 1639. He was 56. At his death his heart was eaten as a way for the Iroquois, who were stunned by his courage, to share in his bravery. Eight other Jesuits were martyred around this same time, and are now referred to as the North American Martyrs.

May they pray for us and be our examples of patience, fortitude and faith. To learn more about these men go to our website where we have links to a video and stories.

Session 3: The Bible

Is the Bible more than just a collection of ancient writings, more than simply an important historical document to be appreciated but ultimately dismissed? Is it possible that God reveals his truth to us through Sacred Scripture? If so, what does that really mean for our faith?

God is the author of the Sacred Scriptures. He inspired the human authors, through their own language, style, and powers, to consign to writing whatever he wanted written, and no more. Because God is the author, the Scriptures always teach the truth. All Scripture tells a single story—the story of salvation that culminates in Jesus. The Old Testament prepares for the New, and the New Testament fulfills the Old.

PLUGGING TEENS INTO THE FAITH:

DON'T ...

... let them skip Mass

"You would never let your child not get out of bed in the morning or not eat simply because they said they didn't want to. The same goes for Mass. It's OK to require your children to attend Mass as long as they live at home. Even better, plan your family's week around Sunday Mass. Teach them its importance by not letting anything — games or practices or work — interfere."

— Alison Griswold

Respect Life Once again, we mark the month of October as Respect Life Month. God says to us, "Do not fear: I am with you" (Isaiah 41:10). The 2017-2018 Respect Life theme, "Be Not Afraid," reminds us of this promise. Building a culture of life isn't something we just do one month of the year, or with one event or initiative-it's essential to who we are. It happens through our daily actions, how we treat one another, and how we live our lives." excerpts from Timothy Cardinal Dolan, Chairman, USCCB Committee on Pro-Life Activities.
