HOLY HOUR TO KNOW YOUR VOCATION: Have you ever wondered where God is calling you in life? Have you ever asked yourself how best to use the short time on earth God has given you? On Sunday, April 21 at 2 pm at Sacred Heart Church, there will be a holy hour to help you discern your vocation. This is ideal for young people who are still figuring out where they are going in life, and for adults for whom marriage or religious life (to be a priest or a nun) are both possibilities. There will be an hour of Adoration of Our Lord in the Blessed Sacrament accompanied by three meditations. # Sharing God's Word ~ Through Faith Formation and Pastoral Life

FROM OUR DIRECTOR OF FAITH FORMATION

THE COMMANDMENTS AND CHESTERTON'S FENCE

For the next several weeks I will be writing about the Ten Commandments. Some have argued that things like not stealing, not committing adultery, serving only the one true God, are all either outdated or at least not inviolable. People of this mind have proposed that we do away with the moral system that has governed Christians for 2000 years in favor of some kind of new morality. In response to such people, I offer these words from G.K. Chesterton's essay, "The Drift from Domesticity."

In the matter of reforming things, as distinct from deforming them, there is one plain and simple principle; a principle which will probably be called a paradox. There exists in such a case a certain institution or law; let us say for the sake of simplicity, a fence or gate erected across a road. The more modern type of reformer goes gaily up to it and says, "I don't see the use of this; let us clear it away." To which the more intelligent type of reformer will do well to answer: "If you don't see the use of it, I certainly won't let you clear it away. Go away and think. Then, when you can come back and tell me that you do see the use of it, I may allow you to destroy it."

This paradox rests on the most elementary common sense. The gate or fence did not grow there. It was not set up by sleep walkers who built it in their sleep. It is highly improbable that it was put there by escaped lunatics who were for some reason loose in the street. Some person had some reason for thinking it would be a good thing for somebody. And until we know what the reason was, we really cannot judge whether the reason was reasonable. It is extremely probable that we have overlooked some whole aspect of the question, if something set up by human beings like ourselves seems to be entirely meaningless and mysterious.

There are reformers who get over this difficulty by assuming that all their fathers were fools; but if that be so, we can only say that folly appears to be a hereditary disease. But the truth is that nobody has any business to destroy a social institution until he has really seen it as an historical institution. If he knows how it arose, and what purposes it was supposed to serve, he may really be able to say that they were bad purposes, or that they have since become bad purposes, or that they are purposes which are no longer served. But if he simply stares at the thing as a senseless monstrosity that has somehow sprung up in his path, it is he and not the traditionalist who is suffering from an illusion. We might even say that he is seeing things in a nightmare.
