HONORING ALL WHO SERVED

VETERANS DAY

IT'S A LONG WAY TO CASTLECOMER

Castlecomer is a small old town in County Kilkenny, Ireland. It has no particular claim to fame and is not unlike countless other small towns and quaint villages throughout the world. No one of any renown has ever hailed from one of its modest cottages. In 1891 it was home to only one thousand and nineteen people. Life in 19th Century Ireland could be very harsh for people of humble means. But like all people whose lives are rooted in faith and family they worked hard and dreamed big.

Among the residents of Castlecomer at that time was an infant who one day would become a father of three and the grandfather of nine. I would be the first of his nine grandchildren. But we are getting ahead of the story. In 1910 he and one of his sisters left Ireland for America. It was not an easy voyage crossing the Atlantic Ocean in cramped quarters with nothing more than what you could carry. Comfort and hygiene were in short supply. Tedium and apprehension weighed heavy on families huddled in steerage.

Leaving behind all that is familiar for an unknown future and an uncertain outcome can be quite daunting. It truly is a leap of a faith. So much of what we have is owed, in no small part, to the courage and sacrifices of all those who came before us and who risked everything. They dared to believe despite setbacks and disappointments. They continued to hope even as the smug and self-satisfied dismissed their honest efforts and looked with disdain upon their humble origins. They chose to give of themselves because the guiding star in all their many journeys was Jesus Christ who promised them and us, "I am with you always even unto the end of the world." No first class accommodations for Jesus of Nazareth. He travels with the poor who yearn to be free and all those who seek justice and respect.

I can only imagine the overwhelming emotions people like my grandfather must have experienced when they reached the distant shores of America and from the ship's crowded deck caught sight of the Statue of Liberty. It is a moving and powerful symbol that welcomes the weary traveler and reassures the anxious immigrant. With relief and gratitude they embrace one another and with one voice proclaim, "We made it." Thank God!

My grandfather and his sister 'made it' too and soon they found their way to the southeast side of Chicago and St. Kevin's parish at 105th and Torraine. She entered the convent and eventually became superintendent of Catholic Schools in the diocese of Peoria. Her name was Sister John Berchmans and by all accounts she was fiercely devoted to her students – stern but fair. In other words you did not mess with her. Education was too important and faith was paramount.

My grandfather worked for the Rapid Transit and Surface Lines that eventually became the CTA. It was hard work. In 1918 he returned to Europe as a soldier and saw action in the terrible bloodletting that was World War I. He was a lifelong fan of the Chicago White Sox. In fact he encouraged my parents to name me Luke for his favorite Sox player Luke Appling. When he retired he would take the bus to visit us. In the crook of his arm was a fan of the Chicago White Sox. In fact he encouraged my parents to name me Luke for his favorite Sox player Luke Appling. When he retired he would take the bus to visit us. In the crook of his arm was a smashed loaf of Silvercup bread. He never came without it. He told my mother you could never have enough bread in the house. If it got stale, you could always feed it to the birds. Thoughtful gestures from a good man that comes to mind in this month of November when the Church and all of us remember in a special way our departed loved ones.

Perhaps we light a candle, say a prayer, visit the cemetery or go to mass. We trust that they are happy in heaven and know with certainty that their love is alive in our hearts. Whether it is recent or many years ago their loss brings a tear to the eye but fond memories warm our hearts and even now brings a smile to our face. All of us have memories to share and stories to tell of the people we loved and who loved us. We remember the times we laughed and cried. We celebrate the milestones and achievements of a life well lived. And we believe that the relationships forged in this life do not end. In faith we know that loss is not forever. Death, however painful, does not have the final word. Jesus does. And we will never hear two more beautiful words than his, "Welcome home."

More than any other month November lends itself to pensive reflection and solemn remembrance. It is a month of transition. The days grow shorter. The wind blows colder. The trees are barren. Winter draws near. As November begins we honor 'all the saints' who have shown us the way and 'all the souls' we still hold dear. We salute our veterans and cast our ballots. On the fourth Thursday we pause and give thanks for all our blessings. Even the Scripture readings we hear at Mass reflect the finite nature of this passing world and the coming Day of Judgment.

So I find myself contemplating my own mortality and wondering what the future holds for me and our weary world.

In today's gospel reading, despite adversity and persecution, Jesus tells his disciples, "By your perseverance you will secure your lives." I'd like to think my grandfather heard those words as he took that first step on his journey from Castlecomer to Chicago. If we can persevere, stand erect and hold our head high then as the gospel acclamation proclaims, "Our redemption is at hand." There is a beginning and an end to every journey. As believers we journey from, with and back to the Lord. We are all homeward bound. Together we can and should be "One Body, One Spirit in Christ."

One day I hope to journey to Castlecomer and proclaim to the spirit of my grandfather and all intrepid voyagers, "We made it" There is an old folk song from the sixties that ends with a father singing these words to his son who is crying, "And if you take my hand my son, all will be well when the day is done." When we join hands with the Lord and one another we can rest assured that "all will be well when the day is done" and the journey over. We will be home and what joy shall fill our hearts. Cead Mile Failte!

Reading I

Lo, the day is coming, blazing like an oven, when all the proud and all evildoers will be stubble, and the day that is coming will set them on fire, leaving them neither root nor branch, says the LORD of hosts. But for you who fear my name, there will arise the sun of justice with its healing rays.

Reading II

Brothers and sisters:

You know how one must imitate us. For we did not act in a disorderly way among you, nor did we eat food received free from anyone. On the contrary, in toil and drudgery, night and day we worked, so as not to burden any of you. Not that we do not have the right. Rather, we wanted to present ourselves as a model for you, so that you might imitate us. In fact, when we were with you, we instructed you that if anyone was unwilling to work, neither should that one eat. We hear that some are conducting themselves among you in a disorderly way, by not keeping busy but minding the business of others. Such people we instruct and urge in the Lord Jesus Christ to work quietly and to eat their own food.

Gospel

While some people were speaking about how the temple was adorned with costly stones and votive offerings, Jesus said, "All that you see here-- the days will come when there will not be left a stone upon another stone that will not be thrown down." Then they asked him, "Teacher, when will this happen? And what sign will there be when all these things are about to happen?" He answered, "See that you not be deceived, for many will come in my name, saying, 'I am he,' and 'The time has come.' Do not follow them! When you hear of wars and insurrections, do not be terrified; for such things must happen first, but it will not immediately be the end." Then he said to them, Nation will rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. There will be powerful earthquakes, famines, and plagues from place to place; and awesome sights and mighty signs will come from the sky. "Before all this happens, however, they will seize and persecute you, they will hand you over to the synagogues and to prisons, and they will have you led before kings and governors because of my name. It will lead to your giving testimony. Remember, you are not to prepare your defense beforehand, for I myself shall give you a wisdom in speaking that all your adversaries will be powerless to resist or refute. You will even be handed over by parents, brothers, relatives, and friends, and they will put some of you to death. You will be hated by all because of my name, but not a hair on your head will be destroyed. By your perseverance you will secure your lives."

Dear Parishioners,

It's that time of year again, The Holidays! Thanksgiving, Christmas, The New Year, baking and gift giving. Fair Trade might be able to be of help in that department. For those who have used our baking cocoa in the past, we still have a few currently dated cans, together with teas and coffees. In November we will be in Arnold Hall the weekend of November 12 & 13th. Saturday we will be there after 5pm Mass and on Sunday after the 8am Mass and thereafter. We will have decafe and regular coffee for sampling. Happy Holidays to you all.

How great it is for our Catholic faith community to put into practice the corporal and spiritual works of mercy. Once again, the Family of St. Gerald will come together in charity and love for our community members in need. Due to the success of last year's giving, which again far exceeded our hopes and expectations, we are again asking for that same spirit of giving to continue this year.

Together with our community partners, we are asking you to participate by purchasing gift cards. This easy and efficient way of assisting the following community recipients was a huge success and received very positively: Catholic Charities, St. Agatha, St. Peter Claver, Mission of Our Lady of the Angels, St. Vincent De Paul and our School Families.

We encourage you to utilize the St. Gerald MANNA Program and have provided the order form with this letter and instructions for you to use. Because a percentage of purchases will go back to the school, this is a win-win for everyone!

Please return the gift cards to the parish office the weekend of November 26th & 27th.

Gift card purchases to the following businesses: Jewel-Osco, Kohl's, Target, Walmart, Speedway, and Walgreens. If you prefer to make a cash or check donation (made payable to St. Gerald Manna), that would be accepted and would be distributed amongst the receiving partners.

Let us all keep those in need in our community always in our prayers as I continue to pray for each of you and your loved ones. "St. Gerald...Pray for Us...Live Jesus in Our Hearts Forever!"

Blessings,
