Faith Formation

By Sharon Mayer

It was a quiet week at St. Joseph as we did not have any students here last Wednesday. Okoboji was on spring break. This is something we did not have when I was in school. Our spring break was Easter weekend: Friday through Monday.

That was always okay though as it was something we looked forward to. I was always blessed to get a new Easter dress, maybe shoes and at that time a hat. It didn't seem to matter when Easter was, but it meant spring and you saw lots of springy colors. Now most people do not even dress up for Easter. Is it just another day?

It doesn't really matter if you get together for a large meal with family or if you dress up or not if you recognize why we celebrate Easter. To young children, it is about the Easter bunny and eggs, and candy. I'm okay with that if they know why we celebrate at all. This year, during Holy Week we will present an Easter "fair" for the students in grades K-5. Through rotations they will learn about the events of Holy week and why Easter Sunday is our greatest feast.

I don't think it would hurt any of us to dress up for Easter and take pride in the Feast Day. It is just another way of recognizing the special act of love Jesus did for us that is beyond compare. We are halfway through Lent now. Have you made or accomplished the effort of giving something up? Doing more for others? Adding more prayer or Mass to your life? It is not too late. Accept the challenge of Lent.
