Third Sunday of Easter

April 10, 2016

“Yes, Lord,
you know that I love you.”

John 21:15

REDEMPTION

Do you remember Peter on the night Jesus was arrested? He claimed he had never heard of Jesus. Today we are called to join Peter in testifying to the name of Jesus as he does in the first reading, and in proclaiming our love for him as Peter does in the Gospel passage. The powerful imagery of John's vision in the second reading from the book of Revelation shows us the company we keep when we have faith in the name of Jesus. We join all living creatures, "countless in number" from "heaven, earth, under the earth, in the sea; everything in the universe" (Revelation 5:11, 13). The dignity and majesty described in each reading are in stark contrast to the dark and pitiful image of Peter and the other apostles at the time of Jesus' arrest, trial, and crucifixion. What a relief that we can all be redeemed so completely! Copyright (c) J. S. Paluch Co.

REDIMIDOS

¿Recuerda a Pedro la noche que arrestaron a Jesús? Insistía en que nunca había oído de Jesús. Hoy estamos llamados a unirnos a Pedro en dar testimonio del nombre de Jesús como lo hace en la primera lectura, y a proclamar nuestro amor a él tal como lo hace Pedro en el pasaje del Evangelio. La poderosa imagen de la visión de san Juan en la segunda lectura del libro del Apocalipsis nos enseña la comunidad a la que pertenecemos cuando tenemos fe en el nombre de Jesús. Nos unimos a todos los seres vivientes "miles y millones" en "el cielo, sobre la tierra, debajo de ella y en el mar, y todo lo que hay en ellos" (Apocalipsis 5:11, 13). La majestad y dignidad expresadas en cada lectura están en profundo contraste con la oscura y miserable imagen de Pedro y los otros apóstoles en los momentos en que Jesús era arrestado, juzgado y crucificado. ¡Qué alivio que todos podemos ser tan totalmente redimidos! "As soon as the faithful awake, and rise from bed, even before setting about their work, they are to pray to God and only then begin their work." The Apostolic Tradition

Morning Prayer

The prayer of the morning is a prayer of praise. Our world is light again. The things of the night-fear, exhaustion, discouragement, loneliness-are chased away by the rising sun. These may find their way into our day, but the prayer of morning proclaims that they shall not prevail; God's love wraps us round.

The prayers which have marked the morning for Jews, and those which Christians added to these, speak of how the person, this wakened creature, stands before the Lord. They are not prayers that dwell on the hardships of the morning. The morning has its troubles, always has had, but the church brings us prayers which rejoice to be again awake, to be again before the wonder of breath, of hunger, of color, of sound. The prayer of the morning finds each day extraordinary, grace and gift of God.

The prayers offered [here] for the morning can be taken singly, finding in one or more of them a basis for praying in the day's new opportunities. They may also be taken as an order of prayer, following from beginning to end with some choice among alternatives.

Initially, the morning prayer [like all the prayers in this book] may be read, but it is meant to be committed to memory. This is especially so of the morning prayer because, for most people, there is not usually an opportunity to sit quietly and pray. Instead, one can make the sign of the cross and say the doxology on first awakening. The Benedictions can accompany the movements of rising, dressing, and washing. The psalms and a hymn might come later, while preparing breakfast or going to work.

Doxology 1

Glory be to the Father and to the Son and to the Holy Spirit: as it was in the beginning, is now, and ever shall be, world without end. Amen

The "Glory be" is a Christian doxology or prayer of praise. In more elaborate forms, it is found at the conclusion of hymns.

In the very early church, glory was given to the Father through the Son and in or with the Holy Spirit. This remains the form of many doxologies. To give glory is to acknowledge and share in the praise of the Lord given to him by all time and creation. "Glory" belongs to him alone.
