

The EPIPHANY of the Lord

Notes from Fr. Sean*Today's Gospel

Although the Gospels of Matthew and Luke are believed to borrow heavily from the Gospel of Mark, each has a particular audience. Luke was writing to the Greeks. Mark was writing to Romans. Matthew's primary audience was Jews.

It may seem odd that in today's gospel, the gospel directed to Jews, the first visitors we see to the newborn King of the Jews are foreigners. This event foreshadows the rejection of Jesus by the Jews but also makes clear, from the beginning, that the mission of Jesus is not just to the Jews but to all humanity.

El Evangelio de hoy

Aunque se cree que los Evangelios de Mateo y Lucas se inspiran en gran medida en el Evangelio de Marcos, cada uno tiene un público particular. Lucas se dirigía a los griegos. Marcos se dirigía a los romanos. Mateo se dirigía principalmente a los judíos.

Puede parecer extraño que en el evangelio de hoy, el evangelio dirigido a los judíos, los primeros visitantes que vemos ante el recién nacido Rey de los judíos sean extranjeros. Este acontecimiento prefigura el rechazo de Jesús por los judíos, pero también deja claro, desde el principio, que la misión de Jesús no es sólo para los judíos, sino para toda la humanidad.

The Three Epiphanies of Christ

According to the Merriam-Webster Dictionary, an epiphany is "an appearance or manifestation especially of a divine being" or "a usually sudden manifestation or perception of the essential nature or meaning of something." Today, we celebrate the feast of the Epiphany, when Christ was made known to the Magi from the East. This is the first of three events in the life of Christ that are considered "epiphanies." The second event is the baptism of Jesus in the Jordan River. The third event is the Wedding Feast at Cana.

In each of these events, the presence of God in our world is made manifest to those who are open to receive. Whether it was the three wise men who traveled from afar to greet the newborn King of the Jews or those who would go on to the Jordan River to repent from their sins in response to John the Baptist, or it was the servants at the wedding feast who followed Mary's command to "Do whatever he tells you to do," (Jn 2:5) these people saw the glory and the power of God.

An epiphany is usually a "sudden manifestation" of the truth. But we have the truth with us at all times. Our Divine Savior, "the way, the truth, and the life," (Jn 14:6) is with us. We do not have to travel long distances to encounter him. We do not have to go down to the river to encounter him. We only have to go to church to encounter him in the Eucharist.

Las Tres Epifanías de Cristo

Según el diccionario, una epifanía es "una aparición o manifestación, especialmente de un ser divino" o "una manifestación o percepción, generalmente repentina, de la naturaleza esencial o el significado de algo". Hoy celebramos la fiesta de la Epifanía, cuando Cristo fue dado a conocer a los Magos de Oriente. Este es el primero de tres acontecimientos en la vida de Cristo que se consideran "epifanías". El segundo acontecimiento es el bautismo de Jesús en el río Jordán. El tercer acontecimiento son las Bodas de Caná.

En cada uno de estos acontecimientos, la presencia de Dios en nuestro mundo se manifiesta a quienes están abiertos a recibirla. Ya fueran los tres magos que viajaron desde lejos para saludar al Rey de los judíos recién nacido, o los que se dirigieron al río Jordán para arrepentirse de sus pecados en respuesta a Juan el Bautista, o los sirvientes del banquete de bodas que siguieron la orden de María: "Haced todo lo que él os diga" (Jn 2,5), estas personas vieron la gloria y el poder de Dios.

Una epifanía suele ser una "manifestación repentina" de la verdad. Pero la verdad nos acompaña en todo momento. Nuestro Divino Salvador, "el camino, la verdad y la vida" (Jn 14:6), está con nosotros. No tenemos que recorrer grandes distancias para encontrarlo. No tenemos que bajar al río para encontrarle. Sólo tenemos que ir a la iglesia para encontrarlo en la Eucaristía.

Historical Introduction

Paragraph 5 – The Holy Spirit

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets.

We believe in one God in three Persons. The third Person of the Trinity is the Holy Spirit, who we also rightly call the Lord and the giver of life. God breathed life into the first man, after all. This holy breath of God is the Spirit, which gives life and sustains life. He is glorified and loved as God, along with the Father and the Son. We believe that the Holy Spirit, preceding the Incarnation as well as after, inspired the prophets. The Trinity is the mystery of God, as He is. It is difficult to wrap our minds around this mystery in any meaningful way. Our metaphors are usually material, like a three-leaf clover or the states of water as ice, liquid, or vapor, and because they are material, they always fall short. God is spiritual, not material. The best explanation I have heard of the Blessed Trinity is from St. Augustine's Analogy of the Mind. I will try my best to offer a simplified version. Though, it is far from simple. In our own minds, we have intellect and will. We know things and act freely. When we learn or know things, we have a procession of the intellect. When we act freely upon ourselves or the world, we have a procession of the will. If we analogously apply this understanding to the "mind of God," we see a procession of the intellect and a procession of the will. God is perfect, and so these processions must be infinite and perfect. The procession of the intellect, within the mind of God, is God the Father's perfect knowledge of Himself. This perfect image of Himself is the Son. The Son, in return, perfectly loves the Father. God is love. Therefore, the procession of His will is perfect love, which proceeds as the love shared between the Father and the Son. This is the Holy Spirit. However, we must understand that He does not proceed in time, as He is as eternal as the Father and the Son.

If you have a loved one called to active military service whom you would like included on our military prayer list, please call your Parish Office; inform us of his/her name and branch of military service. Likewise, when any of our listed military personnel returns home, please share that good news with us as well.
