Jubilees, retirees and transferees

The Rev. Michael Lyons celebrates the 25th anniversary of his ordination. His jubilee celebration included a high Latin Mass on June 6 at Sts. Peter and Paul in Frelsburg where he has served as pastor for the past five years. Also retiring this summer were the Rev. Monsignor Tim Kosler and the Rev. Clement Quainoo. Several new pastors have been installed this summer as well and many duties shifted after the Most Rev. Gary Janak became auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of San Antonio. 2021 IWBS jubilarians celebrate total of 610 years

VICTORIA — Ten Sisters of the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament celebrated the anniversaries of their religious professions this year, with their combined years of religious life adding up to 610.

A special Mass was celebrated at Our Lady of Victory Cathedral on July 10, with Bishop Brendan Cahill as the main celebrant. Also celebrating with him were Bishop Emeritus David Fellhauer, the Rev. Albert Yankey, IWC Chaplain; and other priests of the diocese as well as visiting priests. In addition to the local Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament Sisters, there were visiting Sisters from other congregations as well as many family members and guests coming from as far away as Arkansas.

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

On Aug. 15 I will be celebrating Mass at 10 a.m. at St. Mary’s in Praha. The Feast of the Assumption of Mary is a Holy Day of Obligation and the Parish Feast Day in Praha.

For years this Mass and picnic has represented a way to honor Mary, our Blessed Virgin Mother, who entered completely into heaven, body and soul. Because she did not sin and alone among all people was “full of grace,” Mary did not experience the decay of her body. We believe her body and soul were brought up, “assumed,” into heaven immediately after her time on earth.

The earliest disciples knew Mary personally. As the mother of Jesus, she knew most fully that He was the Son of God and that, in rising from the dead, He opened the way to eternal life. As the mother of Jesus, she knew most fully the pain of His rejection by the people, His torture and His death. Of all people, Mary understood and saw the effects of evil and the victory of God over sin and death.

Mary is a real historical person who witnessed to others what she heard, saw and experienced. From her place in heaven she continues to urge people towards the victory of life over death. And God continues to respect our human freedom as individuals to choose either life or death.

On the question of why God allows people the freedom to sin, St. Thomas Aquinas wrote in his Summa Theologiae III, 1, 3: “There is nothing to prevent human nature’s being raised up to something greater, even after sin; God permits evil in order to draw forth some greater good.” (cited in the Catechism of the Catholic Church #412)

We have the freedom to turn our hearts toward the greater good, and, if we do, we have the promise of eternal life.

Right after the Mass of the Feast of the Assumption, I’ll be going over to the parish hall for some of the best fried chicken around. The Feast in Praha also is a day to honor the community of faith who make up the Church.

The parish picnics this summer are reminding me of the importance of community for our spiritual, emotional and personal life.

For generations, men and women have come to the churches in our area and offered praise and worship, prayers and supplications to God. They also have celebrated all the sacraments and the special days when we want to especially ask God’s guidance. The culture, music, food and dancing at the parish picnics lift up thanksgiving to God and support for our churches.

May we be faithful children of our heavenly Mother, and may God bless you and your families this summer with peace, joy and rest. Let’s keep each other in prayer.

+Brendan

PORT LAVACA — At a special Mass on Saturday, June 26, the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus from the Diocese of Victoria presented a chalice and a sick call kit to the Rev. James Dvorak at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

According to Sir Knight Joe A. Martinez, district marshal, the chalice is in memory of Sir Knight John T. Burke Jr. From Bishop Vath Assembly in Birmingham, Ala., and the sick call kit is a gift from the Victoria Diocese Assemblies. The Bishop Vath Assembly has a special program to help provide military chaplains with items they need for their ministry.

Victoria Diocese Assembly members from Edna, Ganado, Hillje, El Campo, Palacios, Port Lavaca and Victoria attended the special Mass to thank Father Dvorak for his service.

Father Dvorak is currently serving as the parochial vicar of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church along with her three missions that are spread across Calhoun County. He was commissioned as an officer with the Navy on Oct. 7, 2016.

Since then he has participated in various trainings held by the Navy Chaplain Candidate Program. He will serve the Diocese of Victoria in Texas for two more years – three years altogether – before going on active duty as a Navy chaplain where he will serve the Navy and Marines of the U.S. Armed Forces.

There are no limits to prayer

Life is full of uncertainty. We attend a party one day and a funeral the next. We smile and then we cry. In the course of a lifetime, we must all go through many a storm.

Like Peter sinking in the waves, we can often say our best prayers in times of stress. But what a narrow attitude it would be if we were to limit ourselves to pray only when we are in trouble. We must learn to pray every day and in many ways.

A man once asked his pastor, “Father, is it all right to smoke while praying?” The priest said, “Certainly not,” and scolded the man for his irreverence.

So the man asked another priest, but this time he asked, “Father, is it all right to pray while smoking?” This time the answer was, “Certainly, we should pray always.”

As a boy, I sometimes wondered whether it was permissible to say my night prayers in bed.

When I was a seminary student, our dean, who was a priest, said that he sometimes said his daily prayers while soaking in the bathtub.

Prayer is a lifting up of our minds and hearts to God, and does not have to be done in unoccupied moments or on our knees or in dignified surroundings.

So how can we be sure to do it right?

One lady told me that she prays five rosaries every day and another woman showed me a stack of worn prayer cards from which she reads prayers every day. Can we pray too much? Actually, a better question would be, how many and what kind of prayers would we say well and without neglecting our duties?

A housewife and mother, for example, must not neglect the children for the sake of more time to pray.

One way to solve such a prayer problem is to offer our whole day to God in the morning by what is commonly called a “Morning Offering,” such as, “Lord, I offer you everything I do today for…” and then mention the things for which you especially want to pray.

Another way many devout persons find useful is to light a candle. On a birthday cake, the candles say, “Happy birthday. May you have many more.” In a religious setting, a burning candle says, “Lord, as I go my way, my candle stands in my place, as a symbol of my prayer.”

Or let’s take another example: Every now and then, when I come down to the chapel at night, I see an elderly man silently sitting in one of the pews. He does not seem to be saying or doing anything. There is a form of wordless prayer known as contemplative prayer, which consists of simply being in God’s presence – waiting and listening, enjoying God’s company.

Finally, we should put in a word for the novena, a nine-day prayer. Keeping up a prayer for some special favor for nine days is well in keeping with the teaching of the Scriptures to be persistent and not give up if the answer is delayed. Give it a try sometime. Make up a novena prayer in your own words if you like.

In conclusion, we need to bear in mind what Jesus told Peter when He caught him by the hand. He said, “How little faith you have! Why did you falter?”

Whenever you pray, believe that you are being heard; expect an answer.

St. Augustine’s mother prayed for 20 years for his conversion. If receiving an answer to your prayer takes a while, keep trying.

Lord Jesus, thank you for rescuing Peter and showing us the need to believe. Help us to pray day in and day out in good times and in bad. Grant that by praying well and not giving up, we may be granted everything we need. Amen.

Father Charles Kram died on Aug. 13, 2000, at the age of 70, having spent 47 of those years as a quadriplegic and totally dependent, but whose greatest joy was being able to help everyone he could as his way to give glory to God. Please continue to pray for his beatification to sainthood:

Heavenly Father,
I praise you, I adore you, I glorify you and I thank you for all the gifts you have given to me. Your priest, Father Charles Kram, left me a wonderful example of pastoral charity and patient suffering. He is for me a perfect model of your Divine Mercy.

May I accept your divine will in the adversities I now encounter, offering them up in union with the silent suffering of Jesus on the cross and Mary at the foot of the cross.

If it be your will and by your divine mercy, grant the petition I present to you this day and may Father Kram be raised to the altar as a saint in Heaven.

I pray for this in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord and Savior, in union with the Holy Spirit, one God, forever and ever.

Amen.

The story of Father Charles W. Kram, Jr., is one of tremendous love of God and neighbor as lived by him and all the people who cared for him during the many years he was paralyzed form his neck to his toes. Finding Beauty in Mystery

By Sister Rosario Resendez, IWBS

The year was 2004 and I had watched “The Passion of the Christ” for the fourth time, finally able to see most of it before it became a tear-filled blur. Even though I had thought about the possibility of becoming a religious sister since I was a little girl, I give credit to this movie for actually moving me into action. The scene after the crucifixion where Mary holds Jesus and looks out to us made me think she was asking me, “See what He has done for you? What will you do for Him?”

This was the event that set into motion my coming to meet Sister Mildred Truchard. As I searched online and became overwhelmed by the different women religious communities that were available in the United States, I came across a gentle “hello” in the form of an email requesting an in-person meeting. She requested that we meet in a public area and even recommended a Dairy Queen. (Later I would come to find out the love the Sisters have for Dairy Queen and Dairy Treat!)

We ended up meeting at the Diamond S in Bay City because, at that time, I preferred Diamond S. (That has since changed.) From there, our journey together began. She was the vocation director, and I was interested in religious life.

I got to know and visit her while she was at a convent in Ganado. I found out that she had an immense love for animals and nature. At that time, and even now sometimes, I would get anxiety traveling to places I had never been before. Not knowing the city or town made me nervous, and GPS was not readily available on every cell phone as it is now, so Sister Mildred was the driver for many of our excursions while visiting the convent in Victoria. During these trips with Sister Mildred as the driver, I learned that she could have easily been on “The Fast and the Furious” and given Vin Diesel a run (drive?) for his money.

Sister Mildred was one of the many hands that led me to my formation with the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament Sisters. On Aug. 6, I renew my temporary vows for the last time, because, next year, if God is willing, I will be celebrating my final profession.

I think back of the intertwining roads that led me here. The Sisters of the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament were in Bay City, but I never encountered them. I have a vague memory of being very young and pecking around the aisles of the Eckerd’s store we had there, watching a Sister shop for a greeting card and telling her that I wanted to be like her one day. However, that was the first and last time I saw a Sister in Bay City. It is a mystery to know now that God had a certain plan for me with a certain community of religious sisters, which would not have been put into motion had Sister Mildred not sent that gentle email asking for an in-person meeting.

It is also bittersweet to know that Sister Mildred, who has been writing “Sisterly Thoughts” in the Catholic Lighthouse since I was a freshman in high school, will now be passing that baton to someone else. Who would have known that after our meeting at Diamond S, she would one day be passing that baton to me? I know her column has been a beloved staple in the Lighthouse. I only hope to be able to continue what she started, and that is bringing to you and showing you in writing, our love for the Incarnate Word.

Sister Mildred Truchard, who wrote “Sisterly Thoughts” for The Catholic Lighthouse for 26 years, has passed the baton to Sister Rosario Resendez. She is pictured here with Regina Janak who has worked on the Diocese of Victoria’s monthly paper since it began.

St. Michael’s puts new focus on the traditional is often associated with St. Michael, and includes a symbol of the Eucharist, the Alpha and Omega, a sword (also for St. Michael) and a mustang, the school mascot.

Jennifer Saenz, St. Michael’s principal, said even though the school is an older one, it is uptodate on everything. “Our curriculum standards are high. Teachers are expected to excel and there is support for all levels of kids.”

Saenz said it is a pleasure to work in Catholic school because of the Christian principal embedded in everything they do, and because they tend to produce “strong, very self-confident kids” who are well prepared for higher education. The children all are given chances to read at weekly Mass or at the morning assemblies, where prayer and the pledges to the flags continue. The parents are also invited to stay for the morning assembly and tend to be very involved, so the school as a whole is like a large family.

Father Mendoza said he plans to have school Masses every Wednesday and have first Friday adoration of the presence of Christ in the Eucharist.

The change to Wednesday Mass will allow for students to have Thursdays and Fridays to discuss the Gospel message from their weekly Mass, Saenz said.

Masses using the high altar that was restored in 2017, are also one of Father Mendoza’s plans, he said, so the young people can experience “old traditions in a new way,” he said. “Every part of the church is there for a reason. A church is not a museum. It’s meant to be used.”

One of Father Mendoza’s early challenges was finding a new principal after Jennifer Saenz announced her intention to retire after the 2020-21 school year. The position had not been filled by mid-summer, which left little time to bring in someone new.

Saenz agreed to play a support role through the year to help out, but just recently announced she would stay one more year full time, she said. “I just love the school too much.”

Saenz agreed to play a support role through the year to help out, but just recently announced she would stay one more year full time, she said. “I just love the school too much.”

She also wants to be supportive to Father Mendoza in his first year as pastor and school administrator.

The search for a new principal will continue in hopes of having the right person in the office for 2022-23.

Enrollment is another challenge, but that is nothing unique to St. Michael’s. The DOV schools’ enrollment as a whole was down about 6 percent last year overall and much of that was due to the pandemic. And, because Cuero has been a boom or bust town with the oil business, the school enrollment can fluctuate significantly. The school also has students who come from surrounding communities like Yorktown, Meyersville, Mission Valley and Nursery.

Saenz said it is looking pretty good for the coming year with numbers back to the pre-pandemic level, around 80 children. Mendoza said he would like to see enrollment increase to at least 100 students.

OLG celebrating jubilee year Aug. 15

PORT LAVACA — The youngest school in the diocese, Our Lady of the Gulf, will kick off its new year by celebrating its 25th anniversary on Aug. 15, according to the Rev. Tommy Chen, pastor of the parish. The school was officially established Aug. 14, 1996, when the late Rev. Dan Morales was pastor at OLG parish.

Bishop Brendan Cahill will celebrate Mass at 3 p.m., and the Rev. Robert Knippenberg, who helped get the school up and running before he was a priest, will be a special guest homilist, Father Chen said.

The school is also expecting to have some of the School Sisters of St. Francis, who helped run the school in its infancy, attend. The sisters eventually were called back to their home in Amarillo. “This is really exciting because they haven’t been here since,” said Theresa Dent, OLG principal.

Dent said the anniversary of the school is a really big deal because it was founded when other schools were shutting down. She said Father Morales wanted to make sure all children had the chance to get a Catholic education.

When some people told Father Morales he was wasting time and money, it just made him more determined, Dent said. “Tell that man ‘no’ and he was going to get it done.”

Although the pandemic year took a toll on OLG’s enrollment like other schools, Dent said families tend to come back and stay. “They want those high academic standards,” she said.

There are mixed emotions as students, teachers and administrators gear up for the 2021-22 school year.

“I say it every day: ‘Thank God that year is over’,” said Jennifer Saenz, principal of St. Michael’s in Cuero, referring to 2020, when the pandemic forced the closer of campuses everywhere and students had to learn from home.

On the other hand, this year could be hard to navigate with two schools of thought on masking and social distancing, according to Theresa Dent, principal of Our Lady of the Gulf in Port Lavaca. “People don’t want to be told what to do, or they’re scared,” she said.

OLG and St. Michael’s will both be some of the same things as last year, like hand sanitizing, extra cleaning and doing temperature checks.

Both principals said masks would be optional.

According to Dr. John Quary, superintendent of the Office of Catholic Schools for the Diocese of Victoria, all campuses will be deciding how to handle mask-wearing, but most will make them optional.

Dent said there won’t be the same option for children to choose virtual learning if school is open, because this year days away from campus will be considered absences.

Quary said some of the new protocols should become standard. “The flu was virtually non-existent (last year),” he said.

And Dent said they didn’t catch any COVID-19 cases with regular temperature checks, but they did manage to get ahead of a few other common illnesses like strep throat in one case.

Saenz, Dent and Quary all agreed that it is good to have the campuses open and they hope, using careful steps to continue prevention, the doors will stay open.

“I am relieved to be looking at what we hope will be a normal school year,” Quary said. “We need to re-center and reset ourselves, and we can’t be fearful.”

He plans to have an in-person school conference on Aug. 6 and is excited to get the educators back together in person. “We are the Body of Christ.”

There has been a lot of movement among the clergy this year in the Diocese of Victoria. The retirement of three long-time priests, not to mention the much-celebrated elevation of one of its own to bishop, has meant a lot of priests have moved to new parishes and taken on new roles.

RETIRING THIS YEAR

The Rev. Michael Lyons celebrated a 25-year jubilee with a Latin Mass at Sts. Peter and Paul in Frelsburg. He served that parish as well as St. Roch in Mentz for five years before retiring.

The Rev. Clement Quainoo, celebrated his 39th anniversary as a priest in July and just before that announced his plan to retire as pastor of St. Andrew in Hillje and St. Procopius in Louise. The Rev. Michael Rother, pastor of St. Philip in El Campo is the temporary administrator of the parishes in Hillje and Louise.

The Rev. Tim Kosler, who celebrated the 50th anniversary of his ordination in April, also entered retirement this year. He has been pastor of St. Rose of Lima in Schulenburg, for 29 of those years. Also this summer, he and Father Dan Kalich, who retired last year, learned of their elevation to Monsignor. The two priests received their certificates June 23. Bishop Brendan Cahill and Monsignor John Peters, vicar general, were there to present the certificates from the Vatican and congratulate the two. An investiture ceremony is being planned for Sept 30 at St. Rose in Schulenburg. (Contributed photo)

Queridos hermanos y hermanas,

El 15 de agosto celebraré misa a las 10 a.m. en St. Mary’s en Praha. La Fiesta de la Asunción de María es un Día Santo de Obligación y la Fiesta de la Parroquia en Praha. Durante muchos años esta Misa y picnic ha representado una forma de honrar a María, nuestra Santísima Virgen Madre que entró de lleno en el cielo, en cuerpo y alma. Porque ella no pecó y sola entre todas las personas estaba “llena de gracia” María no experimentó la descomposición de su cuerpo. Creemos que su cuerpo y alma fueron criados, “ascendidos” al cielo inmediatamente después de su tiempo en la tierra. Los discípulos conocieron a María personalmente. Como madre de Jesús, sabía perfectamente que Él era el Hijo de Dios y que, al resucitar de entre los muertos, abrió el camino a la vida eterna. Como madre de Jesús, conocía más plenamente el dolor de Su rechazo por parte de la gente, Su tortura y Su muerte. De todas las personas, María comprendió y vio los efectos del mal y la victoria de Dios sobre el pecado y la muerte.

María es una persona histórica real que fue testigo de lo que escuchó, vio y experimentó. Desde su lugar en el cielo, continúa impulsando a la gente hacia la victoria de la vida sobre la muerte. Y Dios sigue respetando nuestra libertad humana como individuos para elegir entre la vida o la muerte.

Sobre la cuestión de por qué Dios permite a las personas la libertad de pecar, Santo Tomás de Aquino escribió en su Summa Theologiae III, 1, 3: “No hay nada que impida que la naturaleza humana sea elevada a algo más grande, incluso después del pecado; Dios permite el mal para extraer un bien mayor”. (citado en el Catecismo de la Iglesia Católica # 412)

Tenemos la libertad de volver nuestro corazón hacia el bien mayor y, si lo hacemos, tenemos la promesa de la vida eterna. Inmediatamente después de la Misa de la Fiesta de la Asunción, iré al salón parroquial a por el mejor pollo frito de la zona. La fiesta de Praha también es un día para honrar a la comunidad de fe que forma la Iglesia.

POR LUKE PRIHODA
Seminarista de la Diócesis de Victoria

El Cuerpo Místico de Cristo es una característica verdaderamente única y bendecida de nuestra fe católica. Todos los bautizados en la Iglesia forman el Cuerpo místico de Cristo, el cual es llamado a dar testimonio de la realidad celestial.

Mientras iba creciendo en Weimar, mi visión de la Iglesia consistía típicamente en que era conformada por muchos descendientes de alemanes y checos. Sin embargo, mis años de formación en el seminario para el sacerdocio ministerial me han abierto los ojos a la universalidad de la Iglesia que profesamos todos los dominios en el Credo de Nicaea, en el cual oramos por la Iglesia una, santa, católica y apostólica.

Cada persona está hecha a imagen y semejanza de nuestro Dios Trino y, como un buen equipo de béisbol, los miembros deben esforzarse por lograr el éxito para ellos y sus compañeros de equipo.

Como cristianos, nuestro éxito se medirá por la fidelidad con que edifiquemos Su Cuerpo y guíe a otros a la salvación mientras buscamos alcanzar nuestra propia salvación.

Durante mis cinco años de formación, he llegado a comprender la necesidad de abrir mi mente a la diversidad del Pueblo de Dios. Tuve la bendición de viajar a España, Francia, Italia y Guatemala en el verano de 2018. Esta experiencia, combinada con mi experiencia de vivir en Puebla, México, en el verano del 2019 para aprender español, me brindó una bendición en la que nunca podré expresar la deuda al Señor.

En cada uno de estos lugares, sentí como el Señor se hacía presente en sus vi-das, aunque yo era incapaz de comprender lingüísticamente todos los matices del idioma y la cultura. Estas experiencias abrieron más mi corazón a la universalidad de la Iglesia, y cómo estoy llamado a servir a todos en nuestra diócesis.

El año pasado, fui asignado a la Comunidad Católica de Cuero para mi año pastoral y tuve la bendición de servir a cuatro comunidades parroquiales. Serví en Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe y tuve la suerte de cultivar muchas amistades en la comunidad hispana.

Debido a la pandemia, muchos de los ministerios hispanos fueron suspendidos, esta situación me dio la oportunidad de ser lector en las misas dominicales en español.

Los buenos comentarios que recibí de los feligreses me ayudaron a tener más confianza en mi español y poner en práctica lo que aprendí en veranos anteriores. Mientras progresaba en esta área, también me di cuenta de lo limitado que es mi español en la conversación. Aprecio lo agradecida y paciente que fue la comunidad hispana cuando intenté dialogar en su lengua materna. Ellos me ayudaron y querían que aprendiera para que pudiera captar la belleza de comunicar el amor de Dios no solo con la presencia y el deseo, sino también enseñando y ofreciendo consejos en su lengua materna.

Durante mi tiempo allí, comprendí muchos aspectos únicos de la cultura hispana que ofrecen aliento y vida a nuestra Iglesia en la Diócesis de Victoria. Los feligreses entienden la soberanía de Dios como todopoderosa. No hay un respeto por el Señor y confián en su poder para sostenerlos en las pruebas de la vida. Ellos tienen también una gran devoción a nuestra Santísima Madre bajo el título de Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe. Confían muchas de sus preocupaciones al poder de su intercesión. Estoy agradecido por su testimonio de unidad y el apoyo a sus hermanos y hermanas necesitados en la comunidad parroquial, especialmente a través de la oración. El testimonio de los fieles que oraron durante nuestras Horas Santos en Nuestra Señora de Guadalupe por sus familias y por los más necesitados fue verdaderamente edificante.

El tiempo que pasé con la comunidad Hispana ha reforzado mi deseo de continuar aprendiendo español para ser verdaderamente un Padre espiritual para todos después de la ordenación. Quiero poder enseñar y ofrecer consejo a los que se me han confiado. Les pido que oren por mi capacidad de comprender el español para poder servir a nuestro Señor más plenamente en su Cuerpo Místico aquí en la Diócesis de Victoria. Están todos en mis oraciones.

Writer creates a more Catholic prayer journal

JANET JONES
The Catholic Lighthouse

But she wanted to focus on her Catholic identity when journaling, and that inspired her to create her first prayer journal, The Bread of Life, with New Testament verses focusing on the Eucharist.

Brewer, former editor of The Catholic Lighthouse, and a member of the Catholic Writer’s Guild, approached a publisher about the idea and they liked it. But the wheels of the publishing world turn slowly. They wanted her to add a reflection, then a prayer, then a writing prompt. But, she said, that was not what she had in mind when she began the project.

Following the advice of a friend, she decided to self-publish her simpler journal project. She said that decision was partly inspired by the words of Father Dalton Ervin during a Women’s Day of Reflection at The Cathedral of Our Lady of Victory. He told the women not to be surprised if God changes their plans, based on a reflection about the Woman at the Well, who came to draw water, met Jesus and wound up discovering “living water” instead, as chronicled in the Gospel of John.

That project is complete and printed in six different cover designs. It includes 34 carefully chosen Bible verses and is 214 pages of lined, undated space for writing reflections.

She is now working on a new one that focuses on Mary the Blessed Mother.

The Bread of Life journals are available locally at Texian Books, an indie bookstore on Main Street in Victoria, and at the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament Gift Shop in the convent on Water Street.

People can also buy them online at Amazon for $14.99 in a regular bound paperback, or, as Brewer prefers, a coil-bound version printed by Lulu.com for $16.99. She said the coil-bound journal was important for her to have because it’s much easier to hold in one hand while writing with the other.

Brewer wants to make the journal available at more places soon as well.

A book signing at the Texian is set for Aug. 19 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

As for the more detailed journal sent to the publisher, Brewer added the things they suggested and it’s now out of her hands, she said. She still awaits their final decision.

Besides her journaling and journal-making, Brewer is a contributor to CatholicMom.com and The Victoria Advocate’s “Gardener’s Dirt” column. To learn more about the author, visit www.cynthialovebrewer.com.

Cindy Brewer is shown with her recently self-published prayer journal, The Bread of Life, available at the Texian bookstore in downtown Victoria and the IWBS Gift Shop. A book signing at the Texian is scheduled for Aug. 19 from 11:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

The calendars have flipped to August and back-to-school displays and commercials have popped back up. Parents, teachers, and students are all preparing. It can be a stressful, yet exciting time. Preparations can range from buying new books and school supplies to finally getting a haircut and some new shoes.

I think that there should be some prayerful and mental preparation, too. The Church teaches us that our intellects and wisdom are gifts of the Holy Spirit. In a sense, pertaining to students and those who help them, a return to school means a return to an exercise of these gifts in an academic setting. It is important to understand these capacities that we have as being from God, so that we can make sure that we use them for the glory of God.

Academic curriculums are increasingly focused on highlighting the S.T.E.M. subjects – science, technology, engineering and mathematics. The Church is also supportive of these fields. There even exists the Pontifical Academy of Science whose mission is to “honor pure science wherever it may be found, ensure its freedom and encourage research for the progress of science.”

The academy can be a model for the proper approach to the empirical sciences, those that rely only on sensory experience and data.

On the other hand, we must not forget that wisdom and our intellects can explore in realms outside of what is immediately sensible. Truth can also be found outside of the data reports in a scientific journal. It may seem obvious, but some deny this. Strict empiricists will argue that questions on the existence of God or on the dignity of human life are only conceptual theological/philosophical questions that could never be tested and proven through the scientific method, and, as a result, not worthy of our time.

Where scientific research may be limited to what it can test, all people, from a scientist at Texas A&M to a second-grader at Nazareth Academy in Victoria, have been gifted with intellects capable of truly knowing God and His will. It is not only something we are capable of doing, but also something we are meant to do. God speaks through His scriptures saying, “Happy the man who meditates on wisdom and reasons intelligently, who reflects in his heart on her ways and ponders her secrets. He pursues her like a hunter and lies in wait on her paths.” (Sirach 14:20-22)

Why is it good to meditate on these things? Because God himself is the truth and it is to meditate on Him. “I am the way and the truth and the life,” our Lord says. (John. 14:6) Catholics believe God created us, and we are made to return to Him. We are made by Him and made to desire him. This is why we naturally desire truth and knowledge. It is an action towards God, the ultimate good.

Pope Saint John Paul II writes, “The desire for knowledge is so great and it works in such a way that the human heart, despite its experience of insurmountable limitation, yearns for the infinite riches which lie beyond, knowing that there is to be found the satisfying answer to every question as yet unanswered.” (Fides et Ratio, 17)

Families who desire to receive greater of knowledge of God can first pray to grow in the gift of wisdom. They can also prayerfully meditate on the Book of Wisdom in the Bible. Parents and other adults can read “church documents” like “Faith and Reason,” or “Dei Verbum” for themselves and to catechize their loved ones.

Finally, as we enter into this upcoming school year, may we be ready and willing to enter into conversations on these topics in a pursuit of truth that will lead into a deeper communion with God. To Him be all glory and honor, now and forever. Amen.

Camp David 2021:
After a missed year the youth were ready for it

JANET JONES
The Catholic Lighthouse

Camp David returned this summer with great success, according to Wendy Eggert and Shannon Thomas, directors of the Office of Youth and Young Adult Ministry for the Diocese of Victoria.

“It was nice to have a sense of normalcy return,” said Thomas.

In the thick of the pandemic, their office canceled all of last year’s in-person activities and found “virtual” ways to interact with the youth.

This year, the two Camp David sessions for junior high students were offered at the Spiritual Renewal Center (at half capacity for social distancing) and much of it took place outdoors, apropos for the theme “Caring for God’s Creation.”

Both sessions filled up and had waiting lists.

The camp is designed for team-building, recreation, teaching Catholic social justice themes and “spending quality time with Jesus,” Thomas said. The three-day camps included prayer services, a nature walk for teams to find things to make rosaries, a water day, a movie night and more.

Eggert said all the work put into the camp, with the help of a leadership team, is worth the smiling faces of the youth who often say, “See you next year” as they head home. “That’s the best reward – to see their smiling faces when they get in the car with their parents,” she said.

The directors were also happy to report two weeks after the camp ended that the coronavirus didn’t touch the gatherings.

Others who helped make the camps possible were the Revs. Dalton Ervin and Michael Rother, as well as Bishop Brendan Cahill, who spent time with the young people, and team members Taylor Janak, Allison Klimitchek, Tracey Trevino, Kayla Janysek, Joey Sablatura and seminarian Philippe Dubourdieu.

Keeping up with the clergy

Bishop Brendan Cahill installed the Rev. Felix Twumasi, left, as pastor of Queen of the Holy Rosary in Hostyn and Sts. Peter and Paul in Plum on July 24. He celebrated an installation Mass for the Rev. Robert Knippenburg, above, on July 10 as the new pastor of Sts. Peter and Paul in New Ulm (Freilburg) at St. Roch in Mentz. monsignor. An investiture ceremony for the two monsignors is being planned for Sept. 30 at St. Rose, Kalich’s home parish where Kosler served so many years.

Of course, retiring doesn’t mean they stop being priests, and several retired priests, even the recently retired, are continuing to fill in to celebrate Masses at parishes when the pastors are on vacation or away for other reasons.

Father Lyons said he will continue to “cherish the opportunities for priestly ministry” without having the day-to-day responsibilities of parish administration. “Now that I do not have a parish assignment, I will still think that way -- of getting people to Heaven. Even though I have been freed from the burdens of parish administration, as a pastor of souls, and first and always a priest, the care of the flock unto salvation remains primary.”

Father Kosler, who has relocated to the Shiner area, is working on a house that he is living in. There is also a family farm that he helps run.

“It doesn’t seem like 50 years has gone by that fast,” he said. He said he thanks Jesus for his calling and is grateful for all the support he received from his parents in becoming a priest and the support from parishioners in his ministry. Though more than half of his priesthood has been spent at St. Rose, he also served St. Matthew’s in San Antonio, Notre Dame in Kerrville, St. Philip in El Campo, St. John in Moravia, and had a dual assignment once as parochial vicar of St. Rose and pastor of St. Anthony in Columbus. After he became full-time pastor at St. Rose, he eventually took on the administration of the churches in Ammannsville, Holman and High Hill.

NEW PASTORS

Bishop Brendan Cahill has been to all corners of the Diocese of Victoria this summer to install new pastors in the wake of retirements and other changes.

On Aug. 21 he will celebrate the installation of the Rev. Scott Hill, former pastor of St. Rose of Lima in Schulenburg after Father Kosler’s retirement. Father Hill was previously assigned as parochial vicar at Sacred Heart in Hallettsville.

The Rev. Patrick Knippenberg, formerly parochial vicar at Holy Family in Victoria, became the pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes in Victoria in May. Bishop Cahill installed him during an afternoon Mass on May 12.

The Very Rev. Greg Korenek, who served last year as the pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes, is now pastor of Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary parish in Ganado. His installation was June 23. Father Korenek also has assumed the duties of Director of Pro-Life Activities for the Diocese of Victoria.

In May, The Very Rev. Kirby Hlavaty moved from ABVM in Ganado to become the new rector/pastor at the Cathedral of Our Lady of Victory following Bishop Gary Janak’s move to the Archdiocese of San Antonio. Father Hlavaty also has taken on the role of Executive Director of the Emmaus Center, another title Bishop Janak held while in the Diocese of Victoria.

Following the retirement of Father Lyons, the Rev. Robert Knippenberg assumed the duties of pastor of Sts. Peter and Paul in Freiburg and St. Roch in Mentz. Father Knippenberg was most recently at Queen of the Holy Rosary in Hostyn after Father Kalich’s retirement last year. Because he is one of a few priests in the diocese who can celebrate the traditional Latin Mass, Knippenberg will be able to carry on the schedule of Latin Masses that Father Lyons did in that area.

The Rev. Jacob Mendoza was named pastor of St. Michael in Cuero and installed during a Mass on July 31. St. Michael Catholic Church was in need of a new pastor after the Rev. Jasper Liggio was called to be spiritual director for St. Mary’s Seminary in Houston. Father Liggio joined the faculty at St. Mary’s in July. Father Liggio also previously served as the Director of Pro-Life Activities.

On July 24, Bishop Cahill celebrated the installation Mass for the Rev. Felix Twumasi, the new pastor of Queen of the Holy Rosary in Hostyn and Sts. Peter and Paul in Plum. Twumasi was most recently the parochial vicar at St. Rose in Schulenberg. Last year, Twumasi spent months working full-time as hospital chaplain for COVID-19 patients in the Diocese of Victoria area.

NEW FACES

Two new faces in the Diocese of Victoria are the Rev. Richard Bediako and the Rev. Isaac Maunger. Both men came from Ghana this summer and began their appointments July 1.

Father Bediako is the new parochial vicar for St. Michael’s in Cuero, Our Lady of Guadalupe in Cuero, Sts. Peter and Paul in Meyersville and St. Aloysius in Westhoff.

Father Maunger is the new parochial vicar for St. Rose of Lima in Schulenburg, St. Mary in High Hill, St. John the Baptist in Ammannsville, and St. Wenceslaus in Holman.
