

The VINE & BRANCHES

28TH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME
OCTOBER 15, 2023

When couples marry, the joy of the day includes what is commonly referred to as the “wedding reception”: a joyous celebration of music, food and dancing. Growing up in a Polish family, I have many great memories of such celebrations with my family. In the past several years, I have taken to referring to these celebrations not as receptions, but as banquets, because of the centrality of the image of banquets in the gospels, where banquets are joyous promises of the reign of God which we long for.

In the first reading today, Isaiah describes a celebration that promises the enjoyment of the goods of creation (“rich food and choice wines”), healing, and consolation (“the Lord God will wipe away the tears from every face”). This reading is sometimes proclaimed at Funerals, in addition to the 28th Sunday in Ordinary Time [A] we are celebrating today. The banquet feast evokes a community gathered in grateful response to an entirely unmerited invitation.

The wedding banquet offered in the Gospel is also tinged with foreboding. The excessive violence enacted on those who reject or disrespect the invitation reminds me of the sudden violence which plunged the Middle East into another war last week. It may also be a reflection of the fact that Jerusalem had fallen in a Jewish uprising against the Roman occupiers which occurred after the Resurrection of Christ, when this gospel was written down. When we read of such violence in the Scripture, it is often a reflection of our human response rather than the will of a vengeful God. God is mercy.

Wedding feasts appear frequently in Jesus’ teaching. In Matthew’s version of this parable we are invited to hold together two realities. First, the promise of the coming reign of God, a coming already begun in Jesus, is directed to us all—it is an invitation that we have not earned by our social status or good behavior. Second, though we cannot earn an invitation, we must respond to it with grateful hearts, willing to give ourselves over to the peculiar etiquette of the banquet feast. We must come wearing the appropriate “wedding garment,” a heart open to conversion. This is the white garment we received in baptism. ... Continued on p. 2

Continued... It reminds us that we strive to be faithful to the life of grace and mercy we have received through water and the Holy Spirit. The waters of baptism flow toward the Eucharistic banquet feast every Sunday. Full participation in this banquet is more than just showing up! We are fed so that we can open our eyes to a new world filled with grace all around us. We are invited to respond to this world with grateful hearts. Our life is a pattern gift and celebration, not scarcity and competition. Does our “Amen” as we receive the body and blood of the Risen Lord translate into a life lived with the generous freedom of those who share in the banquet feast of the Kingdom?

This banquet feast is populated by the communion of Saints. We invite you to continue to bring photos of the faithful departed and place them around the altar during the months of October and November. We recall their example of faith and love while we look forward to joining them around the table of the Lord in Heaven.

I'll be on retreat until late afternoon on Friday of this week. Please keep me in your prayers. I will be praying for all of you.

Fr. Marc

World Mission Sunday

Sunday | October 22, 2023

World Mission Sunday is an annual global celebration within the Catholic Church, observed on the second to last Sunday of October. This special day is dedicated to the support of the missionary work of the Church through prayer and sacrifices.

Established by Pope Pius XI in 1926, World Mission Sunday is an opportunity for every Church community worldwide to express solidarity with our brothers and sisters living in mission territories. The collection supports mission dioceses in Asia, Africa, the Pacific Islands, and parts of Latin America and Europe.

Your financial support helps fund missionary activities around the world, such as: Training future priests and religious, Supporting religious Sisters, Empowering catechists teaching the faith, Funding clinics for the sick and dying, and Providing homes for orphaned children.

Go Make of All Disciples

“Many are invited, but few are chosen” ...or respond?

The concluding words of this weekend's Gospel (Matthew 22:1-14) say, “Many are invited, but few are chosen.”

What came to my mind as I was reading this passage, is that there are many ministries and functions in our parish. Many are invited, but few respond. There are a couple reasons in my mind that are why people do not respond: I'm not worthy... Someone else will do it better...

Each of us have gifts and charisms that God has given particularly to be used by us. If we do not use them, the Body of Christ does not receive the benefit of gifts being shared with one another. Our first reading this weekend (Isaiah 25:6-10a) reminds us that the Lord of hosts will provide for all peoples. I have no doubt that we will be able to live with abundance, as St. Paul reminds us in our second reading (Philippians 4:12-14, 19-20). As we are invited or if we are encouraged or inspired to offer our gifts, let us lean on Christ and say, “I can do all things in him who strengthens me.”

The life of a disciple is one which is obedient to what God is calling that disciple to do. To grow daily as a disciple is to pray daily, receive the Sacraments, engage in Christian service, and just be joyful. Let people around you know there's something different about you...you must be a follower of Jesus!

God bless, Sean Calvin / Director of Discipleship Formation

When You Pray

A CLEAR PATH TO A DEEPER RELATIONSHIP WITH GOD

You know prayer is important but still find it challenging. Perhaps it's hard to find time, or you're unsure what to do when you pray. Or maybe you feel discouraged by your weaknesses and your inability to overcome them.

What God did in the lives of countless saints, he wants to do in the lives of ordinary people like us. And that's what this study is about: the journey of prayer God wants to take us on.

St. Joseph 4th Graders

We have been learning so many things in Fourth Grade this school year! We just finished a chapter on Praise and Thanksgiving in Religion, and we are now learning about the Ten Commandments. We hosted our first school Liturgy where Fourth Grade students were altar servers for the first time, lectors, and gift presenters.

In Reading we have been learning about lots of different types of genres. This week we were reading a "tall tale" about a seafaring captain from New England that wrestled a giant octopus and whale to save his crew and ship. We have also been reading the novel, Because of Winn-Dixie as a class.

We are learning how to correctly write a complete sentence in Grammar. We are understanding how to use subjects and predicates, proper nouns, and pronouns, and learning about the four different types of sentences. The class is enjoying many writing activities about the many topics discussed weekly. These new Grammar skills learned will greatly improve our narrative writing.

The Fourth Graders have been working with numbers and place value in the millions and just started a chapter on multiplication concepts in Math.

In Social Studies we have been learning all about the United States and how diverse the different landforms and regions are. We also learned about John Muir – The Father of Our National Park System. We will soon be choosing a National Park that sparks our interest to research and share with the rest of the class.

Science is so much fun and learning new information about animal and plant cells is always a huge hit.

We hope you have gotten an idea about what it's like to be in Fourth Grade at St. Joe's and have enjoyed reading this as much as we have enjoyed learning!

Volunteer as a Catechist

Is God calling you to share our faith with families of young children in our community? Help is needed especially for weekly Monday faith formation on Mondays at 6:15pm at St. Joseph! This is such a rewarding ministry to help our children and their families learn about Jesus and our church. All the materials and training are provided!
