PRAYER FOR EVERYDAY

My Good Shepherd,

There are so many things I don't understand about the paths where you lead and the pastures where you release me. But I believe that you are a Good Shepherd. I have known your protection and provision in so many ways. Please keep me under your care. Amen. ©LPi

Mission Cooperative Plan Appeal This Weekend

Fr. Dennis Chriszt, C.P.P.S., a Missionary of the Precious Blood, will be with us this weekend.

The Missionaries of the Precious Blood are part of a worldwide religious congregation that ministers in 20 countries. We are taking up a special collection at all the Masses. Please use the pink envelopes in the pews.

The Missionaries of the Precious Blood believe that the redeeming power of the Blood of Christ brings healing to the world. Because Christ shed his Blood for all, the Missionaries preach of Christ's all-inclusive love, especially for those are most in need of God's mercy. They are ministers of the Word who have seen the Lord work miracles among the lives of the people to whom they minister - and in themselves.

Thank you for your patience as we work to improve this beautiful and sacred space. While the exterior door to the Adoration Chapel is still accessible, please use caution in the area and do not go beyond the temporary gate. The cost for this project is self-funded from SLM's Columbarium Account. Funds raised for the 2023 Capital Campaign are not being used.

As members of the St. Lawrence Martyr Catholic Community, we are called to participate fully and actively with one another in Prayer and Liturgy, going forth to witness to its spirit in our daily lives.

SUNDAY’S READINGS

Psalm: The Lord is my shepherd; there is nothing I shall want. (Psalm 23)

Gospel: When he disembarked and saw the vast crowd, his heart was moved with pity for them, for they were like sheep without a shepherd; and he began to teach them many things. (Mark 10:34)

GOSPEL MEDITATION

Burnout. Recent studies suggest that roughly two-thirds of doctors and nurses have signs of it. You probably know what burnout is: long-term stress leading to emotional exhaustion and a lack of a sense of personal accomplishment. Burnout can threaten anyone who tries to seriously serve and love others. How does our faith inform this challenging experience, and how do we find refreshment?

The apostles face something like burnout this week in Mark 6. They are run down from their missionary work, and Jesus says, “Come away by yourselves to a lonely place, and rest a while.” For them, and for us, it takes humility to intentionally rest. It means the world can go on without us. It stings our pride to admit God is necessary and we are not. Choosing to leave our good work to be with him — whatever the cost — is an act of humble faith. And that trust in God begins to revive us.

But there’s more to it. Hilariously, Mark tells us that throngs of needy people find out where the apostles are going and arrive ahead of them. Imagine the exasperation of the burnt-out apostles. “Can we please get a minute to ourselves? This is not healthy!” And Jesus seems to encourage the boundary violation by telling his frayed followers to feed the crowd. Look: once we move into humble rest, he calls us to more work, because we are made for love, not for rest. But Jesus does the vast bulk of the labor. He himself is the one who multiplies the small offering until everyone is satisfied.

What finally gives our heart rest isn’t more vacation time. It’s experiencing the super abundant generosity of God for us and those whom we serve. — Father John Muir ©LPi

(PRACTICING) CATHOLIC RECOGNIZE GOD IN YOUR ORDINARY MOMENTS A DESERTED PLACE

In one of my favorite shows, “Parks and Recreation,” there is a scene where one of the characters, Jerry, is tasked with stuffing hundreds of envelopes with flyers as part of his volunteer work for a local city council campaign.

Jerry’s efficient, almost mechanical completion of the job amazes his coworkers, who gather to watch in awe while he folds, inserts, seals, and stamps — over and over again. After several hours, the huge pile of envelopes is finally ready for mailing ... and Jerry realizes that he has stuffed them all with the wrong piece of paper.

“I always say, it ain’t government work unless you do it twice,” he quips as he restarts the task.

In any work, no matter how worthy or fulfilling it is, there is a point where the task transforms into mere routine. It can happen with anything: ministry, marriage, parenthood, even prayer. There is no shame in this. It doesn’t mean that we don’t enjoy these pursuits or feel passion for the mission inherent in them.

It only means that we are human, and we get tired.

When the Apostles return from their travels, Jesus recognizes their exhaustion. He encourages them to “come away to a deserted place.” He inhabits a human body, so he knows the weariness to which it is subject. He knows what it is to be tired, to be hungry. He knows that it’s hard to do the work when your body is failing you.

It’s important for us to recognize those times when Jesus is calling us to a deserted place — and it’s important for us to follow him there, even if we are pursued by feelings of doubt and guilt, just as the Apostles were followed by crowds hungry for their ministry.

Solitude is not selfishness. Contemplation is not idleness. To withdraw does not mean to run away.

The work we do — whatever it is — deserves our whole strength. If we have lost that, there is only one place we are sure to find it again.

“He said to them, ‘Come away by yourselves to a deserted place and rest a while.’” — Mark 6:31

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

AN INVITATION TO REFLECT AND RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

First Reading: We hear Jeremiah prophesy that the Lord will bring justice and security to Judah and Israel from the unjust shepherds (false rules) who led them astray. How do you help family or friends who need to make better choices?

Second Reading: Paul taught the Ephesians that in his death and resurrection, Jesus established peace and reconciliation between all believers, Jews, and Gentiles alike. How do you know you are at peace with a friend or loved one? What are some things in your life you are waiting for?

Gospel: Although Jesus wanted the Twelve to rest after their successful mission of preaching and healing, the crowds of people made it challenging to do so. Who could you encourage this week to rest well from their hard work? ©LPi

LIVE THE LITURGY

The crowds continue to follow Jesus, and when he sees them, he cannot help but be filled with love for them. Let us take our cue from these devoted disciples of Mark's Gospel, and never, ever stop seeking our Lord. ©LPi

FAITH @ HOME

HEAR: Use your bible to look up Mark 6: 30-34.

PRAY: A shepherd ensures his sheep are cared for, fed, and kept safe. In today's Gospel, Jesus saw that the people were in need and "his heart was moved with pity for them, for they were like sheep without a shepherd" (Mk 6:34).

During your prayer, take some time to sit quietly and rest with Jesus. After some time of simply resting with Him, ask Jesus what need he sees in your life that he wants to fill. What does He want to do for you? Listen for what Jesus says to you. (Jesus might be speaking to you through an internal awareness of something or through a thought or insight that comes to your mind.)

When you are ready, talk with Jesus about what He tells you or shows you. Conclude your prayer by thanking Jesus for this time together.

TALK: Share with your family, in a group setting or with a close friend:

In the Gospel of Mark, Jesus realizes that his disciples needed rest – spiritual rest. They needed time for prayer, worship and reflection to continue this journey of discipleship. Jesus was tending to his flock. In the first reading of Jeremiah, the passage issues harsh judgment to those shepherds who have not upheld their duties to their flock and are self-serving. Jeremiah promises that good leadership is coming, and wise leadership must prevail! In your discussion, name the things that take you away from being close to Christ. Is it too much time on your cell phone or other technology? Stress or anxiety over daily activities? Problems in relationships with others? Naming the distractions is the first step

Women in Transition

Maybe you've wondered about our group and thought, "I'm not in transition. Nothing is changing in my life." Our lives are changing from day to day, from moment to moment, feeling full one day and empty the next, happy one day and sad the next. Sometimes we feel as though we are in the midst of chaos; our lives are spinning out of control, and we are the only ones who experience these emotions. We can find comfort in learning that we are not alone; that others are likely spinning in similar orbits. Together, in this group, let's share our lives.

Safeguard the Children: Designate 'Water Watchers' to Care For People Around Water

Drowning behavior is typically fast and silent. Unless rescued, a drowning person will last only 20 to 60 seconds before submerging. To prevent drowning, it is best to swim in a lifeguarded area. Always designate a "water watcher" whose sole responsibility is to keep a close eye and constant attention on everyone in and around the water until the next water watcher takes over. In the event of an emergency, reach or throw an object to the person in trouble. Don't go in or you could become a victim yourself. For more information, visit redcross.org.
