Message from Father Steve...

How many of you remember the days, before car seats, seat belts, when you would fight with your brothers and sisters for that front seat in the car? Siblings had an exacting method for determining which child got to sit in front of the car next to the window on their way to school, church, or other destinations. Whenever any given family was about to go anywhere, especially with only one parent, the children would come running out the front door to the car, screaming at the top of their lungs, "Front seat, shotgun!" or just "Shotgun!" depending upon family custom. Usually, the one who said it first got the prize passenger seat in front. But siblings often developed elaborate rules for exactly when and where one could call "Shotgun" and how ties would be decided. The term "shotgun" came from the old American West when stagecoaches were manned by a driver and a guard, usually armed with a shotgun, sitting next to him and scouting the landscape for threat. The guard rode "shotgun," a glamorized position long after the West was settled; movies and television kept it alive.

As a newly ordained priest, Bishop would call those he ordained together four times a year for dinner, discussion and prayer. On many occasions, he would ask one of us to "sit at his right." It was quite an honor to be asked. In a somewhat version of this tale, James and John were calling shotgun, getting their request to Jesus before anyone else thought of it. We can almost hear the two of them having an earlier conversation about the need to talk to Jesus as soon as possible about who would be sitting in the places of honor when he came into his glory. We sometimes need to be reminded that the first will be last, and the last will be first." The Incarnate Love that we know in Christ Jesus keeps us near him, not the promise of glory or the hope of riches. And it is the weakness of servanthood and sacrifice that holds us close to him. As we go about the business of drinking the cup that Jesus drank and accepting the baptism that Jesus accepted, may that promise sustain us, nourish us, and keep us until, at last, we find our rightful place in the heart of God. I call "shotgun!"

Saint Mother Teresa of Kolkata was once summoned to court on a trumped charge that she was converting children in her care to the catholic faith. Standing before the judge, she was asked if that was true. Turning to one of her sisters, who was cradling a little baby in her arms, Mother Teresa asked for the infant. Then turning to the judge, she replied: "Your honor, I picked this little baby from the garbage bin. I don't know the religion of the family into which this innocent infant was born, nor do I know the language that its parents speak. All that I do is that I give this child my love, my time, my care, my food and the best thing that I have in my life - my faith in Christ Jesus. Can't I give this child the best that I have in life?"

The case was dismissed in favor of Saint Mother Teresa! People who look to the needs of their fellow humans and offer hope in the midst of anguish are entitled to the name "Christian." All such people are caught up in service and reflect their titles by concern for others. They believe that a title without service is no title.

PRAYER TO ST. JOSEPH

Hail, Guardian of the Redeemer, Spouse of the Blessed Virgin Mary. To you God entrusted his only Son; in you Mary placed her trust; with you Christ became man. Blessed Joseph, to us too, show yourself a father and guide us in the path of life. Obtain for us grace, mercy, and courage, and defend us from every evil.

Father Steve was gone last week so we spent the week at the Big Cats Office. There is lots to see and do at the office. Many buttons to push, big cats to crawl on, and windows to look out of. We were happy when he got home and took us to our comfy big house. The first thing we did was check out our crash pad. Everything was in place just were we left it.

One of these days we are going to sneak out into the back yard and do some serious hunting. There are squirrels, rabbits, and other critters to change and stalk. There is one that "stink," very bad that walks by now and then. It has a funny painted white stripe on it? Need to check it out! Snickers and Lillie

Forming Disciples In Catholic Schools

In my address to Catholic educators in the Diocese of Belleville on October 8, I offered some encouragement about faith formation in Catholic schools. I would like to share part of my remarks with you in my column today.

There are many reasons that I encourage people to support Catholic education. One key consideration is the formation of young people as disciples of Jesus in the Catholic faith. This formation begins in the family, the domestic church, and then is supported by parish life, parish schools of religion, Catholic schools, youth ministry, and more. Catholic schools should be schools of prayer. It is important that we invite students, parents, staff, teachers, coaches, clergy to grow together as people of prayer. We can grow together by listening to God, speaking to God, and reflecting on God's holy word in sacred scripture. One of the benefits of Catholic schools is that we can take time, several times during the day, to pray to God. My hope is that our schools will help form young people to continue to pray daily even beyond their years in one of our schools. Developing the habit of prayer is a key work of Catholic education.

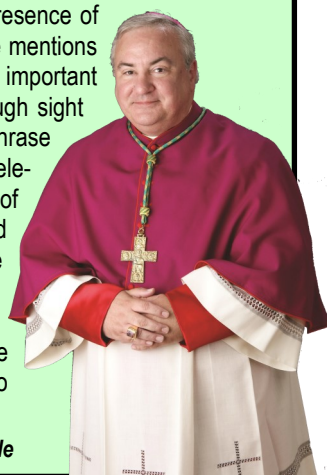

Catholic schools are places where we develop relationships. First and foremost, we develop our relationship with God, a Trinity of love. This relationship is rooted in our baptism as Christians, and through our lives as disciples of Jesus we are called to grow closer to God, the Father, Son and Holy Spirit. We also develop as Catholic people in our relationship with Jesus Christ, especially in the Holy Eucharist and the sacraments. The frequent celebration of the Eucharist and the Sacrament of Reconciliation in our school communities helps young people grow in their relationship with Jesus. As the young people grown in relationship with God, this can enrich the bond they experience with family.

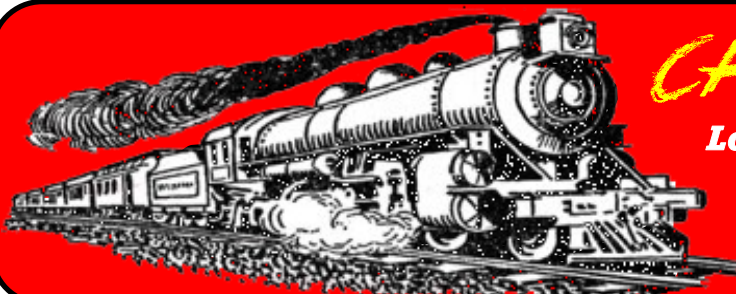

Catholic schools are also places where we develop relationships with the Blessed Virgin Mary and with the Saints. When we take time to reflect on Mary's life, her motherhood, her discipleship, we can become more aware of the truth that God can do infinitely more with us when we say "yes" to God, rather than saying "no". Reflecting on Mary's life can help us develop a pattern of living that will help us to grow closer to Jesus.

While there are many other things I could say about faith formation in a Catholic school, one of my hopes is that we help young people develop spiritually even developing a way of looking at life in the spirit of the mystics. Recently, I was driving from Wendelin to Belleville in the early evening on a Saturday night in September. Driving westbound, the early evening sky was a magnificent sight. As I was driving, I noticed a car had pulled to the side of the road and a young man was standing, leaning back against his car, facing the evening sky, simply taking in the wonder of God's creation at dusk. That young man reminded me of the importance of slowing down, pausing, and taking in the vision of the beauty of God's creation and allowing that vision to move us to gratitude and praise of God. That's the kind of vision I hope we can develop in young people, a way of seeing and looking at our world.

A mystic is someone who beholds the presence of God or God's action in the world. The Bible mentions the word "behold" 1,527 times, so it's an important word. To "behold" means to perceive through sight or apprehension. We often use the phrase "behold" in the liturgy as when the priest elevates the host and says, "Behold the Lamb of God." My hope is that young people formed in our Catholic schools will develop the good habit of opening their eyes, hearts and souls to the wonder of God and his works and, through what they "behold", see and reflect upon, be drawn more deeply into the mystery of God.

Diocese of Belleville—PRAYER FOR VOCATIONS

Gracious God, You have called us through Baptism to discipleship, believing in your Son, Jesus Christ, who has sent us to bring the Good News of salvation to the world. We pray to you, asking that you grant us more priests and religious who will help us build up your Church in the Diocese of Belleville and the world. Stir up the grace of a religious vocation in the hearts of many of our youth. Grant to them the willingness and generosity to give of themselves in service to our Lord Jesus and his people. May a new generation of priests, deacons, sisters and brothers be a sign of your presence among us. We ask this in the name of Jesus the Lord. Amen
