MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Reverend Steven Pautler

Labor Day will be here before we know it, and you know what that means: one last hurrah with the grill before we start trading hot dogs for hoodies. I love a good BBQ. There's something holy about it: the smoke, the sizzle, the smell of burgers and brats wafting through the neighborhood like incense at High Mass. But let me be honest, I dislike lighting the fire!

I either douse the coals with too much lighter fluid, POOF! Instant Pentecost!—or I play it too safe, and the charcoal just sits there, looking bored. I've even brought out a portable fan to try to coax a little flame into something respectable. It's a dance with fire. When it finally catches, though? Glory! A grill full of flame and a heart full of joy. There's nothing like it.

Now, let me switch gears, but not really. Because this Sunday, Jesus says something that should stop us in our tracks:

"I have come to set the earth on fire, and how I wish it were already blazing!" (Luke 12:49)

That's not the sweet, gentle, lamb-cuddling Jesus we hang on Christmas cards. That's Jesus with the holy fire of the Gospel, ready to ignite the world, not with destruction, but with transformation. Jesus doesn't bring a cozy campfire to toast marshmallows. He brings the kind of fire that purifies, that clarifies, that sets hearts ablaze with love and truth.

And the thing about fire? It demands a response. You either tend it, feed it, and let it shape you, or you back away because it's just too intense. That's why Jesus goes on to say that this fire might even divide households. When you live for the Gospel, not everyone's going to cheer you on. Some might want you to put the flame out, or at least tone it down.

Just ask any altar server who's ever tried to light charcoal for the thurible, sometimes you have to take it outside and let the wind help. Same with our faith. Sometimes we need a little Holy Spirit breeze to get things going. But once it's lit? Stand back! That incense rises like our prayers, and something beautiful happens.

Has your fire gone out? Are your coals cold? Maybe you've been playing it safe, no lighter fluid, no breeze, no spark. Maybe the Gospel's been reduced to something comfortable and neat, not something risky and powerful. This week, ask the Lord to stir the embers. Ask Him to set your heart ablaze again with the fire of love, truth, mercy, and mission. What's cooking, and leaves them wondering, "Where's that glorious smell coming from?"

Spoiler alert: it's the Kingdom. And Jesus is the flame.

STRAIGHT FROM THE COLLAR PADRE STEVE, WHAT'S THE DEAL WITH...

Got burning questions, holy curiosities, or just want to stump your parish priest? Send them to spautler@stmarycentralia.org and I'll give it my best shot—collar, coffee, and a sense of humor included!

This week's question: If I miss Mass on Sunday because I'm sick, don't have a way to get there, or I'm traveling and can't find a Catholic church—did I commit a mortal sin?

Answer: Missing Sunday Mass can be a mortal sin, but not always. For it to be mortal, three things must be true: it's a serious matter, you know it's serious, and you freely choose to skip Mass anyway. Sunday Mass is definitely a serious matter, but if you're genuinely sick, lack transportation, or are in a situation where attending isn't reasonably possible (like traveling somewhere with no nearby church), then you're not freely choosing to skip, it's just life happening. That means it's not a mortal sin.

God knows your heart, your circumstances, and your effort. If you're unsure whether your reason was valid or you simply didn't try hard enough, bring it to prayer, or even better, talk it over in confession. God's mercy is always ready and waiting!

Fr. Dominic Garramone will present Basic Bread & Beyond on Saturday, August 23, 2025, at 10 a.m. at Mater Dei Catholic High School in Breese, IL. Tickets are $20, and pre-registration is requested. Reserve your seat by mailing your info and payment to Diane Sinclair or signing up through the University of Illinois Extension Office in Breese. More details are available in the News and Events section in this bulletin.

Pancakes, Prayers, and a Perfect Start to the School Year

Sunday began with the St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus Tuition Benefit Breakfast, where fluffy pancakes, sizzling sausage, and hot coffee fueled fellowship and support for Catholic education.

Then we gathered in St. Mary for the Blessing of the Backpacks, praying for students, parents, and teachers as they begin a year filled with wisdom, kindness, courage, and joy. Each backpack carried not just supplies but the hopes for the year ahead. A faith-filled start to the school year!

Purrs from the Pew Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

The little humans have returned!

One hundred and forty-one small, loud, fast-moving creatures now roam my once-tranquil kingdom. They spill out of classrooms, stomp down the hallways, and chatter like caffeinated sparrows. My nap spots? Occupied. My sunbeams? Blocked by backpacks. Even my private hallway perch now hosts third-grade shoes. Bless their tiny, smelly soles.

I tried to hold my ground in the library, but a group of students was doing "reading time," which apparently involves loud whispering and giggling. I fled to the STEM room—big mistake. Glitter. Everywhere. I now sparkle against my will.

But I must confess... there's a certain joy in the chaos. Laughter bounces off the walls. Someone dropped a cheese stick under the bench (don't worry, I handled it). I overheard a kindergartener call me "Sister Fluffy," which I shall now accept as my formal title.

Change is hard, especially when it interrupts one's ten-hour nap cycle. But maybe that's what holiness looks like this week: a little noise, a little mess, and a whole lot of love filling the building.

So, I've stationed myself in the main hallway—mid-level shelf, just under the crucifix. Prime real estate. Excellent vantage point. No one suspects the cat is watching. Until next week, stay furry, stay faithful...

and don't eat the crayons.

-Sister Fluff, F.D.M. (Feline of Divine Mischief)
