MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Reverend Steven Pautler

The Sofa and the Narrow Door

Have you ever bought that perfect new sofa? I'm talking about the one that practically calls your name in the furniture store. It's the exact color, the exact style, the exact "sit down and forget the world exists" kind of comfort you've always wanted. You call up your buddy, borrow his truck, load it up with the kind of grunts and groans that make you question how old you've gotten, and finally haul it home.

You pull up to the house, full of hope and coffee, ready for that glorious moment when it takes its rightful throne in your living room. But then—oh no—you meet the front door. And suddenly, you realize the door and the sofa are not on speaking terms. You try everything. Remove the legs. Tilt it sideways. Stand it on end. Give it a good shove (and a few unholy words you instantly regret). The door remains unmoved, smug even. No matter how much you push, pull, or plead, that sofa isn't getting in.

In Luke 13:22-30, Jesus paints a picture not too different from our sofa saga, except the stakes are much, much higher. "Strive to enter through the narrow door," He says, "for many will try to enter and will not be strong enough." It's a sobering image. We tend to think, "Well, I'm basically a good person, I should fit just fine." But then the Lord reminds us, this door isn't about squeezing our big, cushy life in with all its baggage. It's about being transformed so we can pass through.

If my sofa could repent of its wide, overstuffed arms and bulky frame, maybe it would fit through my door. But it can't. And if I want to pass through God's door, I need to let Him reshape me, maybe by stripping away pride, selfishness, grudges, and the "extras" I've piled on that have nothing to do with the Kingdom.

Jesus warns that it's not about name-dropping, "Lord, we ate and drank in your company!"—but about living in a way that truly knows Him and reflects Him. It's not about looking the part or hauling around a faith that's comfortable but oversized with distractions. It's about letting Him trim, refine, and slim down my soul to what's essential: love, mercy, humility, and obedience.

So, maybe next time you're stuck in a doorway with something that won't fit, you'll think of the narrow door Jesus talks about. He's not trying to make it hard, He's trying to make it holy. And the truth is, the narrower the door, the less junk you can drag in.

Better to get rid of what won't fit now, because eternity is worth more than any sofa.

STRAIGHT FROM THE COLLAR PADRE STEVE, WHAT'S THE DEAL WITH...

Got burning questions, holy curiosities, or just want to stump your parish priest? Send them to spautler@stmarycentralia.org and I'll give it my best shot—collar, coffee, and a sense of humor included!

This week's question: What happens if we're all gathered for Sunday Mass, waiting for it to begin, and the priest doesn't show up?

Answer: If a priest is unexpectedly unable to celebrate Sunday Mass, due to illness, emergency, or another serious reason, the Diocesan Administrator advises that canceling Mass should be avoided if at all possible. If there's a way for the faithful to attend Mass at a nearby parish, that is the preferred solution, even if it means leaving one parish to go to another.

While it may feel unusual or inconvenient, this follows the Church's guidance and ensures the faithful still have access to the Eucharist. According to the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB), when Mass is missed due to circumstances beyond your control, such as a priest not arriving, no sin is committed, and the Sunday obligation is not required. In these moments, the Church encourages prayer, unity, and trust in God's grace, even in the unexpected.

From First Steps to Final Strides: Kicking Off a New School Year at SMS!

The halls of SMS are buzzing with excitement as our littlest learners in PreK3 begin their very first school adventure, while our eighth graders kick off their final year as the leaders of the pack! From tiny backpacks to big dreams, it's a full-circle moment under the colorful "Welcome Back" balloon arch. Here's to a year full of learning, laughter, and making memories—from first steps to final strides!

A Joyful Feast of Faith and Family

Friday we celebrated the Solemnity of the Assumption—our parish feast day—and what a beautiful way to begin the school year! For the first time, all 100 plus students from kindergarten through 8th grade gathered for Holy Mass. Afterward, the children processed with roses, placing them lovingly at the feet of Mary's statue, honoring her Assumption. Their voices joined in the Memorare, full of trust and joy. Father Steve blessed the statue and all present with holy water, reminding us that through Mary's prayers, we are led to her Son. A grace-filled start, wrapped in love and devotion.

Purrs from the Pew Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Holy Whiskers! The Kids Are Back

The hallways are alive again. Backpacks thump, sneakers squeak, and lunchboxes clatter like a marching band with no conductor. My once-quiet kingdom is officially a zoo, and I, the resident lion, am on patrol.

Of course, I remain unseen. Stealth is my art. The children may whisper, "Where's Sister Fluff?" but I slip past them like a holy breeze under the crucifix. They'll never know how close I am.

Now, let's talk about the cafeteria, my sacred hunting ground. Corn dogs abandoned under benches, half a peanut butter sandwich left behind, and once...a perfectly untouched jelly packet. Divine providence! Some people find grace in prayer; I find it in snack time.

This week Aunt Sister Gracie phoned from her Florida retirement. She reminded me that I inherited her post as the school's official "critter patrol." I told her the mission is secure: no mouse, moth, or rogue cricket dares trespass. As for the children? That's another battle entirely.

Still, their laughter makes the walls hum. Even I, master of shadows, have to admit the noise is a kind of blessing.

Until next week, may your snacks be plentiful, your naps undisturbed... and remember—corn dog sticks are not toys.

*—Sister Fluff, F.D.M.
