MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Reverend Steven Pautler

"Reserved Seating: Corner Booths & Collar Tales"
Luke 14:1, 7-14

Head tables have never been my thing. Give me a corner booth, a cup of coffee, and a view of the action, and I'm perfectly content. At weddings, anniversaries, and big events, when everyone's scrambling to get their spot near the cake or the microphone, I'm the guy checking out the escape route by the kitchen.

Now don't get me wrong, I'm not antisocial. I love people. But I also love watching people. And let me tell you, when Jesus starts talking about folks elbowing their way to the best seats at the banquet, I know exactly the type. Every parish has a few, bless their hearts.

One thing you learn quickly as clergy: you're always in the spotlight, whether you want to be or not. Wear a Roman collar and suddenly you're everyone's spiritual Google. People ask me to bless their food, their family, their football team (no promises), and once...a hamster. I didn't ask questions. I just blessed.

I had a priest friend who'd go shopping at Walmart and purposely mess up his hair so no one would recognize him. (He was young, with hair to spare. I, however, no longer have that luxury.) Some priests go "undercover" when flying, trying to avoid attention. Not me. I wear the collar when I fly, not to get bumped to first class (though that would be nice), but to let people know I'm available if they need to talk.

And talk they do. I've had 30,000-foot confessions, mid-flight tears, and more than a few people try to evangelize me. I've also made lifelong friends and heard stories that made me laugh, cry, and occasionally question my seat assignment.

Jesus isn't knocking the head table. He's reminding us it's not about where we sit, it's about why we're sitting there. Is it to be seen? Or to serve? Do we want the applause? Or the opportunity to lift someone else up?

Sure, the head table has its perks. It's usually closest to the rolls. But true honor isn't about proximity to the gravy boat, it's about being someone others can trust, talk to, and lean on.

So whether you're at the podium, in the pews, or hiding in the back hoping no one calls on you—God sees you. And better yet, He invites you to a banquet that doesn't require RSVPs, titles, or perfect seating charts. Just show up humbly. Be ready to laugh, listen, and maybe bless a hamster or two.

I'll save you a seat in the corner!

STRAIGHT FROM THE COLLAR PADRE STEVE, WHAT'S THE DEAL WITH...

Got burning questions, holy curiosities, or just want to stump your parish priest? Send them to spautler@stmarycentralia.org and I'll give it my best shot—collar, coffee, and a sense of humor included!

This week's question: Do I really have to fast for an hour before receiving Communion? What about things like cough drops—and what if I forget?

Answer: Yes, the Church asks us to fast for one hour before receiving Holy Communion, not before Mass itself. This means no food or drink (except water or medicine) for 60 minutes before receiving the Eucharist, not necessarily before the Mass begins. The purpose is to help us spiritually prepare and approach the Eucharist with reverence. Cough drops or small medicinal items don't break the fast, they're considered medicine, not food. So if you're using them for a sore throat or cough, you're fine.

If you accidentally forget and eat within the hour, it's not a sin if it was a genuine mistake. In that case, it's best to refrain from receiving Communion that day out of respect for the fast, but you're not in trouble. God sees your heart and your intention. Just try to be mindful next time, it's all part of preparing well to receive Jesus.

SMS Principal Maria Pryor accepts a $2,100 donation check from GK David Schulte of the Sandoval Knights of Columbus. The funds were raised during their recent tuition assistance breakfast. St. Mary School is truly grateful for their continued support! Their generosity makes a lasting impact on our students. With spatulas in hand and hearts full of generosity, our St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus turned breakfast into a blessing for St. Mary School. Your support lightens the load of tuition and fills our halls with faith, joy, and opportunity. From pancakes to purpose, you always deliver. Thank you, Knights, for feeding both body and soul. You truly are the right arm of the Church—and maybe the best cooks in Sandoval!

Congratulations to the St. Mary Centralia-Willow Grove Wildcards on taking 1st place in the OBC Tournament with a 5-1 victory over Selmaville! Devyn Dodillet was outstanding in the circle with 18 strikeouts and just two hits allowed, while she and her teammates backed it up with seven hits at the plate. Purrs from the Pew Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Nap Mats & Cat Chats

So the little humans have officially settled in. They march the halls like ducklings with Velcro shoes, while their teacher hisses “sssshhh!” like a snake in a skirt. Naturally, I respond by meowing louder. Respectfully, of course. (Mostly.)

My favorite part of the day? The sacred ritual of the PreK 3 & 4 nap time. After lunch and a wild stampede of juice boxes and giggles, they roll out those mats like tiny monks preparing for prayer. And me? I sneak into their classroom like the shadow of a saint, leaping up to the window sill to observe.

Ah, peace. Finally. No screaming, no running, no snack crumbs being tragically wasted. Just soft breathing, warm sunbeams, and the occasional snore from a 4-year-old who clearly partied too hard at recess.

This is my cathedral of calm. My daily retreat. Sometimes I join them, just a quick catnap, nothing formal. And if one of them sees me? I freeze. Statues have nothing on me. (they think I am Robo Fluff)

Once, a little girl whispered, “I saw an angel kitty.” Yes, child. Yes, you did. One day, I shall be discovered. Carried off like a queen in someone’s backpack. Until then, I watch. I purr. I plot.

Until next time, may your paws be quiet, your snacks abundant, and your naps uninterrupted.

*–Sister Fluff, F.D.M.
