Mary, our Mother, shelter us in your arms of mercy and guide us always into the heart of your Son, Jesus.

Lord Jesus, Divine Teacher, bless all who hand on the truths of our faith. Strengthen their words with your wisdom, their hearts with your love, and their lives with your joy. May they guide others ever closer to you, who live and reign forever and ever. Amen.

St. Mary Parish gives thanks for all who hand on the gift of faith. We are deeply grateful for your dedication, your witness, and your love for Christ. Your example strengthens our parish family and inspires the next generation of believers.

MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Reverend Steve Pautler

This Is My First Surgery...
...Said No One You Want Operating on You!

So you finally get up enough courage to have that surgery you've been putting off for years. Maybe it's a knee replacement, maybe a slipped disk in your back. Either way, it's no "do-it-yourself" YouTube project. This requires serious skill. You walk into the surgeon's office, friendly staff, nice facility, coffee in the waiting room, you feel at home. The surgeon enters, explains the procedure in detail, and then asks the dreaded question: "Any questions for me?"

Off the top of your head you blurt out: "How many times have you performed this procedure, Doctor?" Now, what response are you looking for? "Oh, this will be my first time, but don't worry, I've read the manual?" Or, "I've done this hundreds of times, half-asleep, and with great success?" Trust me, you want the surgeon with the track record, not the rookie still figuring out which end of the scalpel to hold.

That question, "Can I trust you?"—is exactly what Jesus is pointing to in today's Gospel. He says, "The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones." If you can't be trusted with a little, why would anyone hand you something big?

We get this in everyday life. If your teenager can't be trusted to put gas in the car, why would you hand them the keys for a cross-country road trip? If your coworker borrows your stapler and it disappears into a black hole, you're probably not lending them your truck next weekend. Little things matter, because they reveal the kind of people we are.

Jesus goes a step further. He connects earthly trustworthiness with eternal riches. He basically says, "If you can't handle money, stuff, and responsibilities here and now, why would God trust you with the real treasure, His Kingdom?" Ouch. That hits home!

The world tries to convince us that faith is about the big, dramatic moments, the lightning-bolt conversions, the heroic acts of sacrifice. But Jesus is saying it's really about the daily, ordinary choices: Am I honest in small conversations? Do I show up when I said I would? Do I treat people with respect, even when no one's watching?

In the end, life is like that surgery. When the time comes, you want to trust the one who's been faithful all along. And God wants to trust us too—not because we've pulled off one big act of holiness, but because we've shown day after day, in small things, that we are His. So let's start small, be faithful, and build a track record that says, "Lord, you can count on me."

This week's question:

I always try to dress up for Mass. But sometimes I'm traveling and show up in shorts and flip-flops. Is that okay?

Answer:

Mass first, fashion second. God's priority is your heart, not your footwear. Dressing respectfully honors the sacredness of the Eucharist, but if life has you casual, don't skip Jesus just because you're wearing sandals. (He wore them too, remember?) When possible, let your clothing reflect reverence, but never let clothes become a barrier to worship.

Grandparents Day Celebration Brings Joy and Togetherness at SMS

At SMS, we joyfully celebrated Grandparents Day with an event filled with love, laughter, and lasting memories. The day was packed with fun activities and games that brought generations together, creating smiles all around. Laughter echoed through the room as students and their grandparents enjoyed quality time together, sharing stories and making new memories. To top it all off, everyone enjoyed a delicious variety of snacks, adding a sweet touch to a heartwarming day. It was a special celebration that reminded us just how important and cherished our grandparents truly are.

Purrs from the Pew Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Sister Fluff and the Heat of September!
Friends, let me tell you, this week has been hotter than incense on Easter morning. My beloved window sill, usually my sacred perch, has turned into a scorching skillet. I leapt up for my daily bird-watching and nearly branded my paws. St. Lawrence, patron of those roasted, surely understands my suffering.

I'm still finding Autumnfest crumbs tucked here and there. A popcorn kernel, a sweet dusting of funnel cake, even a blessed sliver of bratwurst—small reminders that stewardship comes in many forms, even for cats.

But the real excitement was Father Steve's birthday. There was singing—lots of singing. Candy too, mostly Snickers, which I can't eat but certainly sniffed. The problem with birthdays is you never know when Father Steve might appear. He's quick, and I've had to practice holy stealth to avoid being scooped up without warning. Hiding is a spiritual exercise too, you know. Ask St. Joseph, the silent protector. Otherwise, it's been quiet.

Hot. Uneventful. My prayer this week is for cooler days, steady crumbs, and a safe corner when the birthday songs begin again. May God bless this parish family with joy in simple things, even if those things happen to roll under the table for me to find.

Purrs and prayers,
Sister Fluff, F.D.M.
