MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Father Steve Pautler

A Pinch of Grace and a Whole Lot of Light.

Jesus speaks plain today and I need plain some days!

You are salt. You are light. No riddles. No fine print. He names a job and hands it to people like me who still manage to burn toast and overcook pasta. Salt has one task. Give food a reason to show up at the table. Skip it and even a good meal falls flat. Add too much and dinner turns into a rescue mission for the water pitcher. I have learned the pause in the kitchen. Taste. Adjust. Taste again. Life runs on the same rule. When every hour fills with noise, worry, screens, and running from one thing to the next, faith gets crowded out. The flavor fades. Not because God left. Because my attention wandered.

Jesus also calls us light. Light does one thing. It lets people see where they stand and where they head next. Nobody lights a lamp and shoves it in a drawer. Nobody flips a switch and says, let us keep this a secret. Light shows the room as it is. Mess and all. Blessings and all. It points to the door when people need a way out. I do not need a spotlight. I need steady habits that let Christ show through. Here is the part I need to hear again and again. Jesus does not say, be impressive. He says, be seen doing good. Hold doors. Speak kind words. Show up on time. Pray for people who test patience. Bring soup. Write a note. Forgive first. These acts stay small and steady. No parade. No trophy. Still, people notice. They feel less alone. They start to trust God again.

A quick kitchen confession. Hot sauce fixes many problems. It also hides many mistakes. Dump it on every dish and every meal tastes the same. Faith works in a similar way. When faith turns into noise or a show, people stop tasting grace. They taste heat. Jesus asks me for steady goodness, not fireworks.

Balance keeps me honest. Work matters. Family matters. Rest matters. Prayer matters. Miss any one and life wobbles. Keep them in play and days hold together. Salt stays strong. Light stays bright. Not flashy. Faithful. Jesus ends with a clear aim. Let people see good works and give praise to the Father. Credit goes up the ladder. I stay on the rung where hands meet real needs. God handles the glory. I handle the kindness.

So today I season the day with prayer in the morning and patience in traffic. I turn on the light with honesty at work and mercy at home. I keep faith in the middle of the plate, not pushed to the edge. Jesus asked for salt and light. He already picked the person. Now I live the part.

This week's question:

I watch Mass at home because getting out is hard. Does that count, and does it count for my daughter too?

Answer:

If health or serious difficulty keeps you home, the Sunday obligation does not bind, and watching Mass is a good and holy way to stay connected. For someone who is able to go, the livestream does not replace being there in person. So you are doing exactly what the Church hopes you will do, and your daughter still belongs in the pew, not in the recliner with the remote.

It's a wrap, Catholic Schools Week!

Catholic Schools Week at SMS ran short thanks to two snow days, yet it packed in a whole lot of joy. From the Talent Show to Vocation Awareness and every moment of fun in between, the week stayed strong and spirited. Thank you to our students, families, faculty, staff, and volunteers who showed up with energy and heart. Snow tried to slow us down and failed. The memories stuck. Photos from Catholic Schools Week are waiting at smmarycentralia.org or through the link: <https://stmarycentralia.org/designstudio?path=catholic-schools-week>

Bright Start for the SMS Cardinals 1st and 2nd Grade Team!

Our SMS Cardinals 1st and 2nd grade team picked up a great win this morning against Woodlawn, and it showed in every smile and every hustle up the court. These kids played hard, shared the ball, and stayed focused from start to finish, which says a lot at this age. This group already shows strong instincts and teamwork, and their future looks bright if they keep playing with this kind of joy and effort. A big thank you to Coach RJ and Coach Zane for guiding them with patience and enthusiasm. Special moments made the day even better, with McKinley stepping onto the court for her very first game and Audrey finding the basket while locking in on defense. This is how a love for the game begins. .

St. Mary Willow Grove. One Team. One Season. One Proud Finish!

The 2025 to 2026 basketball and cheer season came to a close on Friday January 30 at the regional championship, and the St. Mary Willow Grove boys basketball team left everything on the court with effort heart and pride. This season told a strong story shaped by long practices early mornings homework finished before tip off teammates lifting one another up and cheerleaders bringing steady energy and joy every single game. These students showed who they are when standards matter. We are proud of them as students who put academics first as athletes who played hard and played right and as young people of faith who carried themselves with class in every moment. The scoreboard ends seasons. It does not measure growth character or unity. This group leaves the year stronger disciplined and united. Well done Wildcats. You honored your schools your families and your faith.

Purrs from the Pew, Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Oh hello. Sister Fluff here. Catholic Schools Week arrived late because snow claimed Monday and Tuesday, which I fully supported since cold floors offend my paws. When school finally reopened everything happened at once on our single level, including one very long snack table which I inspected from floor height with great seriousness. Crackers, cookies, fruit snacks, and sticky mysteries appeared everywhere. The tiniest humans buzzed with sugar and focus while making cakes for other schools, and crumbs followed them like faithful disciples. Food showed up in places food never belongs, and even the adults joined in until someone whispered diet time by midweek. Then came the Talent Show, and I was not prepared. The gym shook with dancing and singing, and magic happened right in front of my whiskers. Something disappeared and did not return, even after my careful search under chairs and behind curtains. I saw my quiet, studious tiny humans turn bold and funny and confident. They remain smart and strong, and now they also sparkle. When the week ended I returned to my proper duties. I guarded the door. I napped with intention. I watched for crumbs. Catholic Schools Week fed joy, noise, talent, and several unauthorized snacks.!
