MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Father Steve Pautler

Ashes on My Forehead and Answers on My Tongue .

Ash Wednesday arrives without fireworks. No choir of angels. No spotlight. The Gospel from Matthew speaks plainly. Pray without a show. Give without applause. Fast without a sad face. God sees in secret. God rewards in secret.

Every age produces loud versions of faith. Our age excels at it. Join us and grab a coffee and a donut on the way in. Step forward and receive instant healing. Start over again and again with a fresh baptism. These offers appeal to the senses. They promise comfort. They promise certainty. They promise control. Distractions thrive close to home. None of this began yesterday.

Ash Wednesday interrupts the noise. The Church offers ashes. Not a perk. Not a prize. A sign of repentance rooted in Scripture. Israel wore sackcloth. They sat in ashes. They turned their hearts back to God. The Church carries forward the same language. No glamour. No shine. Only truth.

Still, the Gospel presses a question. Are we slipping into the very righteousness Jesus warns against. We rise early. We stand in line. We wear ashes on our foreheads. A quiet voice inside whispers. Look at me. I showed up. Jesus cuts through the whisper. When you pray, go to your room. When you fast, wash your face. When you give, do not announce it. Faith performs best away from an audience.

Ashes rest on our foreheads for a reason. They sit where pride likes to live. They mark mortality. They speak repentance. They announce nothing about spiritual rank. They say something about the soul. I need mercy. I need grace. I need God. Then comes the moment every Ash Wednesday delivers. Someone notices. Excuse me. You have dirt on your forehead.

Responses matter.

When someone notices the ashes, a short and honest reply keeps the moment humble and points the heart back to God.

- It is Ash Wednesday! A day of repentance!
- It is a reminder I need God more than I admit!
- It is a sign from my church!
- Lent started strong today!

None of these seek applause. None preach a sermon. None point to the self. They point inward. They point upward. Ash Wednesday carries weight because it refuses flash. It does not offer a glamorous Jesus. It offers an honest one. A Lord who asks for the heart. A Savior who sees in secret. A God who values repentance more than performance.

Lent begins here. With ashes. With truth. With a call to return. The journey ahead will include prayer, fasting, and generosity. The goal remains clear. Not display. Not noise. Not praise. A renewed soul. God sees. God knows. God waits.

The Made by Kids Craft Fair will take place at the St. Mary School Gym on Saturday, March 21, 2026, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. The event welcomes all children from the surrounding area, not only students of St. Mary School. Young creators will have the chance to share their handmade crafts in a fun, lively setting designed especially for them. Mark the calendar and plan to stop by for a great afternoon of creativity and community. Children ages 3 to 18 are invited to participate as vendors at no cost. The crafts should be primarily created by the kids themselves. Registration is required and is available through the Google form. For questions, please contact Caitlin Harting at charting@stmarycentralia.org. The registration form is also available by scanning the QR code.

This week's question:

I am a graduate of SLU, and on Ash Wednesday there was always someone on the street corner or on campus handing out ashes. I loved that public witness and I still wear ashes as an outward sign of faith. Now I am in a parish where ashes are only offered at the evening Mass. Do I really have to wait all day?

Answer:

You are remembering a good ministry, and it still serves a real purpose. Ashes to Go meets people where they are, in the middle of work and daily life, and fits the spirit of the day. Ash Wednesday is not a holy day of obligation, and there is no rule requiring ashes to be received during Mass. They can be given at prayer services or other approved settings, which is why many places offer them throughout the day. Ashes matter, but the Church cares more about the call behind them. Remember you are dust. Repent and believe in the Gospel. Both speak to the heart, not the forehead. If you can make the evening Mass, go and pray with your parish community. If your schedule truly blocks it, you are not failing Lent on day one. You can still fast, pray, give alms, and begin the season well, even without the smudge.

Purrs from the Pew, Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Love, Bells, Treats, and a Slightly Guilty Conscience

Oh hello. Sister Fluff reporting with Valentine's Day on the horizon and a clean conscience under review. I wear my heart chain and bell, and every ring announces my presence and my need for affirmation. The little humans buzz with cards, parties, and pink paper everywhere, while I supervise from my warm chair, because leadership involves watching and napping at the same time. Backpacks pass by, and I stare long enough for guilt to form, since snacks hide there and I know it. I already know I am loved, and this truth brings weight, because love brings responsibility and expectations. Valentine's Day promises bonus treats, and I feel thankful while wondering if I deserve them after pushing a pencil off a desk on purpose. The school feels busy with music, decorations, and moving desks, so I knock one decoration down to test it, then sit quietly, feeling watched by the saints.

Father Steve walks by and reminds everyone to be kind, and I nod internally, since kindness looks like chin scratches and a reasonable number of treats. I examine my soul to see if I asked for too many. When Valentine's Day arrives, I will allow photos, ring my bell proudly, guard the parties and the people, accept love with gratitude, and carry a small amount of Catholic guilt, as do all who know they are blessed and still hope for one more treat. I hope Father Steve blames the little humans for the missing candy. Forgive me, Father. The critters needed it more. Also please buy more Snickers! Sister Fluff, F.D.M. Feline of Divine Mischief
