Message from our Pastor

Father Steven Pautler: "Two Saints and a Cadillac"

Two sisters in my hometown became a story worth telling. Martha and Clara were in their nineties and went to daily Mass like clockwork. Everyone in town knew that old black Cadillac. Every morning, it would ease down the road toward St. Boniface Church, small town Evans-ville on the Kaskaskia River, at a steady crawl. It was slow enough you could wave, finish your coffee, and still catch them at the next corner. Martha was losing her eyesight. Clara never learned to drive. And to be honest, I don't even know if Martha had a valid driver's license at that point. These were the good old days. Nobody made a fuss about it. They were going to church. That was reason enough.

I remember seeing them with my own eyes. That Cadillac would roll past, turn signal blinking long before the corner, brake lights fluttering as Martha squinted at the road. Nobody honked. Nobody complained. Folks in town re-spected those two women. They had lived a long life of faith, and everybody knew it. Later, Janet, Martha's daughter, told me what went on inside that car. Martha gripping the wheel. Clara riding shotgun, giving instructions like an old country road map come to life. "Little left. Little right. Stop sign coming up. Stop." Every morning's drive toward St. Boniface was its own little pilgrimage.

When I hear the Gospel of Luke 18:9-14, I think of those sisters. Jesus tells the parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector. The Pharisee stands in the temple, proud as a peacock, bragging to God about all his good deeds. The tax collector stands at a distance, head down, beating his chest, whispering for mercy. The Pharisee's prayer is loud and full of himself. The tax collector's prayer is quiet and true. Jesus says the humble one goes home justified.

Martha and Clara didn't make that drive to St. Boniface for applause. Their trip wasn't polished or perfect. It was slow, unsteady, and completely sincere. They didn't care what anyone thought. They didn't have much, but what they had they gave to God. Every turn, every whispered direction, every creaky step up to the church doors was its own act of faith.

Their journey was a prayer. Not the kind you frame and put on a wall. The kind you live. While the Pharisee in the Gospel was busy telling God how good he was, Martha and Clara were just showing up. No speeches. No spotlight. Just two women determined to be in the Lord's house at the start of each day.

I can still picture that Cadillac pulling into the parking lot at St. Boniface like a tugboat finding its way home. The two of them would step out, straighten their coats, and make their way inside with quiet dignity. They didn't need to be seen. They simply wanted to be near God.

When Jesus said the humble will be exalted, I think heaven must have smiled on that Cadillac every single morning. I watched them make that drive, not even realizing I would remember this beautiful story 40 years later. Martha and Clara preached the Gospel without ever giving a sermon. They preached it through slow turns, old faith, and steady love.

This week's question:

I sometimes miss the Latin Mass.

Why don't we use Latin anymore?

Answer:

The Church treasures the Latin Mass; it's still allowed today. But after Vatican II, most Masses switched to local languages so people could fully understand and join in. Latin remains the official language of the Church, and you'll still hear it here and there (think: Gloria, Agnus Dei). Your fondness for Latin is a gift, it ties us to tradition, reminding us, the Church is both ancient and alive right now.

"The witness of our Blessed Mother [in the Gospel account of her visit to her pregnant cousin, Elizabeth,] invites us to become more aware of the needs of pregnant and parenting moms in our own parishes and communities. ...Mary's witness is an invitation to step out in love and compassion. The 2025 Catholic Service and Ministry Appeal Hope in the Lord

With confidence in the Lord, today we are asking for your support of this year's Catholic Service and Ministry Appeal. Your generous response will help our diocesan ministries grow and the compassion of Jesus will be experienced more profoundly in our communities by those who are in need.

Please consider making your gift today!

Vocation Corners October 26, 2025

Next Sunday, November 2nd, starts National Vocation Awareness Week (declared by the U.S. Bishops) - an annual week-long celebration of the Catholic Church in the United States dedicated to promoting vocations to the priesthood, diaconate, and consecrated life through prayer and education, and to renew our prayers and support for those who are considering one of these vocations. Suggest to our youth to consider a call from the Lord to serve the Church and pray every day this week for an increase in vocations.

Quote for the week: Fear is useless, doubt paralyzes, hope renews.

Thirtieth Sunday of Ordinary Time

On the Thirtieth Sunday of Ordinary Time we have Jesus' dramatic story of the Pharisee and the tax collector standing in the temple, the Pharisee relieved that "I am not like the rest of humanity" and the tax collector with eyes down, begging for mercy. "Whoever exalts himself will be humbled, and the one who humbles himself will be exalted."

Tuesday is the Feast of Saints Simon and Jude, Apostles. Monday is the great Solemnity of All Saints, followed on Saturday by the Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed (All Souls).

The first reading all week continues with the third week of Paul's longest letter, the Letter to the Romans, with his teaching of the Holy Spirit in our lives.

The Gospel of Luke offers a glimpse of Jesus healing and teaching the people, even as he continues to clash with religious leaders. He cures the "bent woman" on a Sabbath and tells of the tiny mustard seed which develops to become a full-grown bush. He repeats that it will not be easy to enter the Kingdom: "For behold, some are last who will be first, and some are first who will be last." He defies those who bring word of threats on his life and defies the silent Pharisees who watch as he cures a man on the Sabbath. Jesus encourages us to be humble: "For everyone who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted."

Next Sunday is the Commemoration of All the Faithful Departed. We hear from Jesus in the Gospel of John assuring the crowds that "Everything that the Father gives me will come to me, and I will not reject anyone who comes to me, because I came down from heaven not to do my own will but the will of the one who sent me. And this is the will of the one who sent me, that I should not lose anything of what he gave me, but that I should raise it on the last day."

Daily Prayer This Week

Please, Lord, anything but humility! Our instinctive reaction to humility might be the result of a culture that exalts riches, honors and pride. Yet all this week Jesus teaches that the way to salvation is through humility.

The first step might be simply asking for the desire to be humble. As we move through the simplest of moments in our everyday lives, we can stop and ask God to help us want to be humble. As we sit on the edge of the bed in the morning, as we head to work, sort laundry or do our errands, we can keep a running prayer in the background of our consciousness: "Lord, help me to desire the humility that will make me more aware of your saving grace."

These same background moments offer ways for us to recognize opportunities to practice humility as we go through our days. Perhaps I can stop myself from correcting my spouse. In a disagreement, I might make an extra effort to listen to the other person's side rather than planning my rebuttal as they speak. I can let a person in line in front of me, hold the door for someone or make an extra effort to recognize and thank those who serve me. Even these tiny gestures, when done in the spirit of Jesus' teachings this week, offer us a special grace.

All week we can continue to speak to the Lord as we would to a loving friend who listens to us. And always, we can end our day in gratitude, for the merciful God who loves us so compassionately and longs to be in our hearts.

At SMS, prayer and faith are not just part of our curriculum — they are the heart of who we are. Our students grow in an environment where faith, devotion, study, and hard work are nurtured daily, and always balanced with joy, friendship, and play. In a powerful moment of unity and belief, our students raised their hands in prayer for MadaLynn, Callen, and Griffin as they prepared to compete in the SIJHSAA State Cross Country meet. Surrounded by teachers and friends, these athletes were lifted in prayer — a true testament to the strength of our faith-filled community. We believe in the power of prayer and in standing together as a family in all things.

This spirit of togetherness continues in our Junior High "Big Buddy" program, where older students take younger ones under their wings with care and grace. Keagan gently guides little Amelia through the Mass, helping her find her place in the hymnal, while Krueger patiently shows Addison how to follow along. These moments, filled with kindness, reverence, and love, leave a lasting impression. Our older students embrace the responsibility of mentorship with pride, knowing they are shaping the faith lives of those who look up to them. These bonds go far beyond the classroom or pew — they are seeds of faith and friendship that will flourish for years to come. This is the SMS difference: where hearts are formed, spirits are lifted, and God's love is made known every day.

We welcomed our new Altar Servers and held a refresher course for current Servers. Father Steve was assisted by the 8th-grade servers, who led most of the training and did a great job guiding the younger students through their responsibilities. The session included hands-on practice at the altar and a review of the parts of the Mass. Everyone participated and showed great respect for their important role.

Congratulations to Bill Broda, who received the Belleville Diocesan Knights of Columbus Outstanding Knight Award at the Southern Friendship Dinner on October 11, 2025, in Marion. A devoted member of the St. Lawrence Council, Bill is recognized for his faithful service and dedication to the Church and community.

PURRS FROM THE PEW - Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Operation Fluff Patrol: Aunt Gracie's Grand Arrival!

The day is fast approaching, and the whiskers of destiny are tingling. Aunt Sister Gracie, my mentor in the sacred art of feline holiness, is on her way. She's arriving in one of those shiny parent chariots that line up each morning. She calls it her holy ride. I call it the Treat Taxi! I have spent the entire week on a holy patrol of the school. I checked every hallway, every classroom, every sunny patch of floor. Not a single squirrel, bird, or fuzzy intruder escaped my watch. Aunt Gracie expects order. She is a cat of great dignity, with a nose for nonsense. If I miss even one dust bunny, she will know. I even fluffed my catnap bed until it looked worthy of a queen.

While on my patrol, I stumbled upon a top-secret mission. The 7th and 8th graders were hiding Father Steve's Halloween candy. It was an act of mercy! Everyone knows Father Steve has the self-control of a goldfish when it comes to chocolate. I'm proud of them. But for the sake of security, I must sneak a few Snickers.

Aunt Gracie always reminds me that God smiles when we serve with joy. So when she steps out of her royal chariot, I'll be ready, my fur will shine. My heart will be full of mischief and faith. Paws, prayers, and holy whiskers, Sister Fluff, F.D.M. Feline of Divine Mischief
