Reverend Steven Pautler

At our final school Mass before summer break, I tossed out two simple questions to our St. Mary students: “What did you like most about school this year?” and “What are you doing this summer?” Now, if you think the answers were full of theological depth and saintly aspirations, well... grab a snow cone and think again.

Let’s start with the first question—What did you like most about St. Mary School? The top responses? Recess, snacks, and friends—a holy trinity of childhood joy. But what warmed my priestly heart (and not just because someone again, turned the A/C thermostat to 80!) was this: student after student said, “My teachers.” Over and over again. What a beautiful testament to the vocation of teaching! Right here at St. Mary’s, faith isn’t just taught—it’s lived, modeled, and passed on. You could say we’re building saints with glue sticks and grammar books.

Now, question number two—What are you doing this summer? Oh boy. We had it all: visits to “the Mouse” in Florida (Mickey, not a parish rodent—I checked), swimming, camping, and even one proud soul who said, “I’m going to mow grass.” A true suburban missionary. But the overwhelming winner? “Sleeping in!” Apparently the only bells they want to hear this summer are not from the 8:00 AM class bell. And hey, even Jesus told the disciples to rest a while—so who am I to argue? Which brings us to this week’s Gospel from Luke 24:46–53—Jesus blesses His disciples and is taken up to heaven. But before He goes, He gives them a mission: “You are witnesses of these things.” That’s our call too. As we step into summer, it’s not just a vacation from math facts and spelling lists—it’s a new season to live our faith in flip-flops and sun-screen.

So I’ll ask you the same question I asked our students: What are you doing this summer? Sleeping in is fine. A little fishing? Perfect. Even a trip to the Magic Kingdom—enjoy! But here’s the real challenge: Does God get any extra time? Maybe it’s ten minutes in prayer, a good Catholic book, a family rosary, or helping a neighbor. Because the mission Jesus gave His disciples? It didn’t end at the Ascension—it started there.

And if you’re like me, you’ll be spending part of the summer answering emails that begin with “Father, quick question...” and end somewhere around the Book of Revelation, trying to figure out who keeps re-setting the church sign to say “Taco Tuesday,” and dodging invitations to “just stop by for a minute” that mysteriously last three hours and involve moving furniture. It’s the kind of pastoral cardio they never warned us about in seminary. Pray for your pastor—he’s fueled by grace, coffee, and whatever baked goods show up in the office unannounced.

In all seriousness, our students remind us what joyful, authentic faith looks like. They laugh loudly, sing off-key, ask big questions, and hug hard. May we carry that same spirit into the summer—less stress, more joy, and yes, maybe a nap or two. After all, even saints need siesta

"I was blessed to attend strong Catholic parishes and entered the Academy of Fine Arts to study painting, which was a dream come true. Still nothing in my life satisfied me completely. I wanted to grow closer to God and I felt the call to give my all to Christ. However, I was terrified with the idea of leaving my family and my dreams, painting, dancing and children. Then a moment came in prayer when deep in my heart I simply said to God, "OK, I will do it". Suddenly, a peace entered my life like I never experience before. I never knew such peace existed. I completed my school studies and soon went to the convent with my suitcase."

Quote for the week: Whenever life plants you, bloom with grace.

Seventh Week of Easter

On Sunday, most of the world will celebrate the Ascension of the Lord, and the dioceses who celebrated the feast earlier, will celebrate the Seventh Sunday of Easter. As if in preparation for Pentecost Sunday, we read in Acts of the stoning of Stephen, who is “filled with the Holy Spirit.” In John's Gospel the poetic words of Jesus are a love song to us as he prays to his Father, “Father, they are your gift to me. I wish that where I am they also may be with me, that they may see my glory that you gave me....”

During the upcoming week, the first reading continues from the Acts of the Apostles. We are following the preaching and ministry of Paul. We can feel his intensity as he urges the Ephesians to follow his example in living the faith “I served the Lord with all humility and with the tears and trials that came to me...” He returns to Jerusalem to face persecution but remains under house arrest, teaching and meeting with followers.

The gospels are from John's Gospel, chapter 16 and 17. Jesus warns his disciples that they will be scattered and says they will find trouble in the world but assures them he has conquered the world. Jesus' prayer reflects the passionate, inseparable nature between him and his Father. “I glorified you on earth by accomplishing the work that you gave me to do.” “I pray ... that they may all be one ... as you, Father, are in me and I in you, that they also may be in us.” Jesus challenges Peter three times to “feed my sheep” and the Easter season comes to a close as John's gospel concludes on Saturday. These wonderful readings end: “There are also many other things that Jesus did, but if these were to be described individually, I do not think the whole world would contain the books that would be written.”

Sunday is the great feast of Pentecost, the birthday of the Church. The readings and the whole Church celebrate the coming and ongoing presence of the Holy Spirit among us. The Apostles who had been so frightened are now on fire. Now they can speak clearly, so everyone can understand them. In John's Gospel, Jesus breathes on his jittery followers and tells them, “Peace be with you” and fills them with courage, giving them the mission to forgive and sending them to carry out his desire that we all be one.

Daily Prayer This Week

We can hardly believe the message from this week's gospel. It is one of complete invitation to us. Jesus tells us of his intimate bond with the Father and invites us into the same kind of close relationship with Jesus himself.

He does not promise us a trouble-free life, and is clear about the challenges we will face as his followers. He cautions us that the world will want to make us one of “its own” and Jesus lovingly protests that we are his, not the world's. He prays to the Father of us, “They are your gift to me. I wish that where I am they also may be with me...”

This kind of loving dialogue with the Father is what Jesus wants with us. It does not mean our lives will be trouble-free but we are offered the peace in our hearts that Jesus longs to give us.

Some days we may feel anything but peace in our hearts. That is the time to pause and open our hands and our hearts to the Lord. Just the simple physical act of opening our hands can send a signal to our hearts. We can stop thinking and start feeling the love that Jesus has for us.

We can begin each morning at the side of our beds, aware of the sacredness of the day ahead of us, and ask for peace, courage and guidance. On our way to work or while taking care of our family, cooking or running errands, we can stop for the briefest moment and ask again: “Lord, help me to feel how much you love me. Help me to accept that love and carry it to all those you send into my life today.”

And at the end of the day, we can pause again at the side of our bed, reflect for a moment on our day and offer thanks for the moments where we felt in our hearts the love of Jesus. And, we can ask that tomorrow we can feel the Lord's own love and compassion for us - and beg that we can pass that along.

Like Peter in Friday's gospel, we have denied Jesus many times in our lives but he looks at us again with love and simply says, “Follow me.”

A Little Tale from the Big Day: Kindergarten Graduation at St. Mary School

It was a sunny morning at St. Mary School, the kind of day that made you believe even the crayons were smiling. The gym was decked out in streamers and joy, and every folding chair seemed to lean forward in anticipation. Why? Because today wasn't just any day—it was kindergarten Graduation for Bailey, Audrey, Geneva, Beau, Charlie, Cruz, Maaevrie, Harrison, Natalie, and Spencer.

The little graduates marched in, some with proud grins, others with shy glances—but all ten wore their paper caps like tiny crowns of courage. We aren't just proud—we're overflowing with pride. These ten bright stars have lit up our classrooms, our hallways, and our hearts.

We are so proud of the determination and put forth by Carson and his fellow Stallions at Christ our Rock this 2025 track season. He has advanced to state in the 3200 meter race. Congratulations on another amazing season! Your parish is behind you 100%!
