MESSAGE FROM OUR DEACON

Deacon Dan Laquet

Commentary for the 19th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Jesus' instructions on how to be ready for the coming judgment continue in the stories and sayings found in today's Gospel. We are not to be like the greedy rich man in last Sunday's Gospel who planned to store his great harvest in barns rather than share it. We are, rather, to share our wealth with those in need. The antidote for the anxiety brought on by the coming judgment is to relinquish our possessions and provide for the needs of others. Our treasure will be in heaven where it will not wear out or be destroyed.

The other major way to be ready for the coming judgment is to be watchful. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus tells a parable about watchfulness to begin making this point. We must be like servants waiting for the master's return from a wedding banquet, which, even now, can last for a few days in Middle Eastern cultures. We must be watchful so that even if the master comes after midnight, we will be ready for him. This is what the coming of the Son of Man will be like.

Peter asks if this parable is meant for the apostles or for the large crowd that has gathered to listen to Jesus. Without answering Peter's question, Jesus responds with another parable about servants awaiting the return of their master. It begins with a question: "Who, then, is the faithful and prudent steward whom the master will put in charge of his servants to distribute the food allowance at the proper time?" This parable adds to the theme of watchfulness; it explains how to wait and reminds us of the reward for the faithful follower at the heaven-ly banquet after the judgment. If it is addressed to the apostles, then it could also be addressed to leadership in the early Church, and to all of us. Either way, the parables remind us that we should be found doing our jobs when the master arrives. If we are doing our jobs, our reward will be great. But if we relax, neglect our duties, and begin to act like the greedy rich man—eating, drinking, making merry, and only concerned with the temporal things of this world—we will not have a place in the kingdom. Watchfulness means living our lives in such a consistently moral and obedient way that we are always ready to give an account to God of how we have lived.

This week's question: If I receive Communion at a Catholic Wedding Mass or Funeral Mass on a Saturday, can I receive Communion again that evening at the Saturday Vigil Mass?"

Answer: Yes, you can! The Catholic Church allows the faithful to receive Holy Communion twice in one day, provided that the second time is during a full Mass that you attend. So, if you participate in a Wedding or Funeral Mass on Saturday and receive Communion, you may also receive again that evening at the Saturday Vigil Mass—which fulfills your Sunday obligation. The Church's Code of Canon Law (Canon 917) makes this clear, stating that a second reception of Communion is permitted as long as the second reception is within a Eucharistic celebration.

What's not allowed is receiving Communion a second time at something that's not a Mass, like a Communion service, adoration, or outside of a liturgy. The intent behind this guideline is to keep our reception of the Eucharist rooted in the full celebration of the Mass, which includes the Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist.

Vocation Corners

August 10, 2025

"I grew up loving two things: our family farm and sports. There was a basketball hoop in the haymow of our barn, and during breaks from working with the cattle, I would play pickup games with my brothers and cousins. I grew to love football, too, and was even blessed to play quarterback at the collegiate level for a year. But over time, another love quietly grew in my heart: a love for Christ and his Church. My parents instilled in me a strong work ethic and an unswerving trust in the Lord. My parish priest provided an example of real eucharistic amazement, an intense prayer life and filial devotion to our Blessed Mother. Through their influence, I discovered that the greatest joy of my life was when I could draw others closer to our Savior. To all those discerning their vocations: Let His love conquer!"

Respect Life Corner Sunday, August 10th and Friday, August 15th, Solemnity of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary

We can see how, throughout her life, the Blessed Mother continually chose to go deeper into her relationship with God. She modeled how to value and respect His precious gift of human life, from the moment of conception to its natural end. In the Annunciation, through her "yes," Mary witnessed to the undeniable humanity of pre-born children as she conceived and carried the Christ child in her womb. After the Annunciation, having learned that her cousin Elizabeth was with child, she went in haste to her aid. Our Blessed Mother shows us how the way we live today can prepare us, in hope, to also enter into heavenly glory at the end of our lives. Are we open to God's precious gift of new life? How do we support pregnant mothers and parents? Do we prioritize showing our love to those who are ill or aging? Do we care for them in a way that respects God's gift of life? Quote for the week: Compassion is difficult to give away because it keeps coming back.

Nineteenth Week of Ordinary Time

Sunday is the Nineteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus cautions us to be ready for the coming of the Lord. "Be sure of this: if the master of the house had known the hour when the thief was coming, he would not have let his house be broken into."

Monday is the Morial of Saint Clare, and Thursday is the Memorial of Saint Maximilian Kolbe, Priest and Martyr. Friday is the Solemnity of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary, with its own special readings.

In the first readings this week from Deuteronomy, we hear about the entry into the Promised Land. Moses says farewell to the people. Then we have readings from the Book of Joshua, who was the successor of Moses. The people cross the Jordan, with the Ark of the Covenant clearing a path through the river. Joshua speaks to the people as a prophet and recounts all God has done for them. The people renew their covenant at Shechem.

In the daily readings from Matthew's Gospel, Jesus again warns his disciples about his upcoming passion, death and resurrection, but they are "overwhelmed with grief." Jesus resolves the temple tax question, as if to say, "it will be given you." When the disciples are wondering about "who is the greatest," Jesus points to a child and says the greatest is the one who is humble, like the defenseless child. He tells them to care for each other "If your brother sins against you, go and tell him his fault between you and him alone," and to pray together for anything they need. When Peter asks Jesus how many times we must forgive, Jesus tells the powerful parable of the servant who is forgiven his debt but doesn't forgive his debtors. Jesus urges us to forgive from our hearts. Jesus tells his disciples about the sacredness of marriage. The disciples tried to prevent people from bringing children to Jesus and he said, "Let the children come to me, and do not prevent them; for the Kingdom of heaven belongs to such as these."

Sunday is the Twentieth Sunday in Ordinary Time. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus says, "I have come to set the earth on fire." He warns us that the divisions we see, even in our own families, are too often caused by the choices people make about his mission.

Daily Prayer This Week

It is marvelous how each week's readings offer us new ways to open our hearts to God's grace. Sometimes, we feel the real presence of God as we "Glorify the Lord." Like Israel, it is good for us to look back from time to time and gratefully remember all God has done for us and to renew our "Amen" to the new covenant God makes with us in Jesus.

Throughout this week, each of us can find the connection between some part of the readings and a desire, a need, a longing in our unique situation. If we begin each day - at the side of our beds, in the shower, while getting dressed, over a cup of coffee - simply talking with our Lord about our upcoming day, we will have a wonderfully reflective week. It doesn't have to be long. It just needs to be focused and focusing. That is, we need to keep uncovering something inside of us that we can talk with our Lord about, at various "in between" times during the day. Like a song that keeps playing in the back of our head all day, a desire we express in the morning will focus our day and our relationship with Jesus throughout the day. At night we can pause to give thanks for times of connection with Jesus during the day, and the gifts God gives us.

This week, it might be Jesus' prediction of his passion, death and resurrection that unsettles us, as we realize he's calling us to follow him. It might be the battle for being the greatest that the disciples are caught up in, and that I might myself be caught up in, as I compete with and judge others. So, Jesus' words about our emulating the little, humble child can open our hearts. His call to embrace the child, the defenseless one, might allow us to pray this week about an openness to a particularly defenseless person or to hearing the cry of the poor in our city or in the world. And, who can't be opened up by the parable of the servant who doesn't forgive as he's been forgiven? Each day we might name people we struggle to forgive. We could make a focused effort to thank God for the mercy, compassion and unconditional love we've experienced, as ask for the grace to share that with others. For some of us, it will be important to spend a day or more asking for the grace to be faithful in our marriage - in all the ways that will call us to die to ourselves and think of the needs of our spouse before my own.

PURRS FROM THE PEW Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

God gave me fur, not patience."

Well, friends, something is definitely going on around here. Sister Fluff reporting live from what used to be my peaceful nap headquarters, the school hallways! But this week, the humans have returned in full force, and they've brought... bulletin boards. And coffee cups. And that weird teacher energy that smells like dry erase markers and ambition! I stopped by the 7th and 8th grade room to investigate. Let me just say, I almost had to shield my delicate feline eyes, tidy desks... if last year's room was a mild hairball, this year's setup is a full-blown catwalk! Color me impressed. Then I padded down to the cafeteria, normally a reliable source of stray snacks—but I had to do a double-take. The floor! It was so clean, I saw my reflection. I winked at myself. It was deserved.

But here's the odd thing... my summer crew, the kids who read stories to me and gave me contraband treats—gave me hugs and said goodbye. One even got teary-eyed. What do they know that I don't? Is some-thing big about to happen? Is this... an omen?

Anyway, I'm on high alert. I've officially moved operations to the windowsill near the front office for better surveillance. If the Holy Spirit's up to something, I'm watching, and if it involves snacks, count me in! Until next week, stay furry and faithful. —Sister Fluff

In planning for Saturday, November 1, and Sunday, November 2, please note the following:

On Friday evening, October 31, Evening Prayer I is prayed, but any evening Mass is that of the ferial day because All Saints is not a day of precept this year.

Wedding Masses on November 1 use the presidential prayers and readings of All Saints' Day, not those from the Ritual Mass for Marriage.

On Saturday, after Evening Prayer II of All Saints, Evening Prayer for the Office of the Dead may be added.

Saturday evening regularly scheduled anticipated Masses are to be those of All Souls.

On Sunday, the Liturgy of the Hours follows the 31st Sunday in Ordinary Time, but morning and evening prayer from the Office of the Dead may be prayed when celebrated with the people.
