25th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Scripture: Am 8:4-7/Ps 113:1-2, 4-6, 7-8/ 1 Tm 2:1-8/Lk 16:1-13 or 16:10-13

Theme: This Is My First Surgery... Said No One You Want Operating on You!

So you finally get up enough courage to have that surgery you've been putting off for years. Maybe it's a knee replacement, maybe a slipped disk in your back. Either way, it's no "do-it-yourself" YouTube project. This requires serious skill. You walk into the surgeon's office, friendly staff, nice facility, coffee in the waiting room, you feel at home. The surgeon enters, explains the procedure in detail, and then asks the dreaded question: "Any questions for me?"

Off the top of your head you blurt out: "How many times have you performed this procedure, Doctor?" Now, what response are you looking for? "Oh, this will be my first time, but don't worry, I've read the manual?" Or, "I've done this hundreds of times, half-asleep, and with great success?" Trust me, you want the surgeon with the track record, not the rookie still figuring out which end of the scalpel to hold.

That question, "Can I trust you?"—is exactly what Jesus is pointing to in today's Gospel. He says, "The person who is trustworthy in very small matters is also trustworthy in great ones." If you can't be trusted with a little, why would anyone hand you something big?

We get this in everyday life. If your teenager can't be trusted to put gas in the car, why would you hand them the keys for a cross-country road trip? If your coworker borrows your stapler and it disappears into a black hole, you're probably not lending them your truck next weekend. Little things matter, because they reveal the kind of people we are.

Jesus goes a step further. He connects earthly trustworthiness with eternal riches. He basically says, "If you can't handle money, stuff, and responsibilities here and now, why would God trust you with the real treasure, His Kingdom?" Ouch. That hits home!

The world tries to convince us that faith is about the big, dramatic moments, the lightning-bolt conversions, the heroic acts of sacrifice. But Jesus is saying it's really about the daily, ordinary choices: Am I honest in small conversations? Do I show up when I said I would? Do I treat people with respect, even when no one's watching? In the end, life is like that surgery. When the time comes, you want to trust the one who's been faithful all along. And God wants to trust us too—not because we've pulled off one big act of holiness, but because we've shown day after day, in small things, that we are His. So let's start small, be faithful, and build a track record that says, "Lord, you can count on me."

This week's question:

I always try to dress up for Mass. But sometimes I'm traveling and show up in shorts and flip-flops. Is that okay?

Answer:

Mass first, fashion second. God's priority is your heart, not your footwear. Dressing respectfully honors the sacredness of the Eucharist, but if life has you casual, don't skip Jesus just because you're wearing sandals. (He wore them too, remember?) When possible, let your clothing reflect reverence, but never let clothes become a barrier to worship.

"Throughout salvation history, God has welcomed repentant sinners with special joy. Jesus concludes the parable of the lost sheep with these words: 'there will be more joy in heaven over one sinner who repents than over ninety-nine righteous people who have no need of repentance' (Lk 15:7)*."

Pray for Priests

Vocation Corners September 21, 2025

"There can be no promotion of vocations or Christian mission apart from constant contemplative prayer. The Christian life needs to be nourished by attentive listening to God's word and, above all, by the cultivation of a personal relationship with the Lord in Eucharistic adoration, the privileged "place" for our encounter with God...Mary Most Holy, the Mother of our Savior, had the courage to embrace this ideal, placing her youth and her enthusiasm in God's hands. Through her intercession, may we be granted that same openness of heart, that same readiness to respond, "Here I am", to the Lord's call, and that same joy in setting out (cf. Lk 1:39), like her, to proclaim Him to the whole world."

– Pope Francis, November 26, 2016

Quote for the week: Nothing can dim the light shines from within

TWENTY-FIFTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

On the Twenty-Fifth Sunday of Ordinary Time Jesus tells the parable of the unjust steward who finds out he's been caught squandering his master's property, and goes out and makes deals to make friends for the future. Jesus acknowledges the steward's prudence and calls us to have, at the very least, prudence about our future. "If, therefore, you are not trustworthy with dishonest wealth, who will trust you with true wealth?"

Tuesday is the Memorial of Saint Pius of Pietrelcina, Priest.
Saturday is the Memorial of Saint Vincent de Paul, Priest.

The first reading this week comes from the Book of Ezra, one of the first chroniclers of the post-exile period of Judaism. He is responsible for helping hold the restored people together. We finish the week with brief selections from the prophets Haggai and Zechariah, who were prophets during this period. "Consider your ways!" "My spirit continues in your midst; do not fear!"

In Luke's Gospel, Jesus urges us to use our gifts: "No one lights a lamp and hides it under a bushel basket." When his family comes looking for him, Jesus uses the occasion to tell us that we are family to him, if we hear his Word and act on it. Herod is wondering who Jesus really is. He encourages his Apostles to freedom, sending them out to teach and heal, taking nothing with them. Jesus asks his disciples who they think he is. Peter replies for them all, "The Christ of God." Jesus doesn't want them to announce he's the type of Messiah they were looking for. Instead, he tells them of his upcoming passion and death.

The story of the rich man and Lazarus is the focus of the Luke's Gospel on the Twenty-Sixth Sunday of Ordinary Time. This is a classic story of how the tables are turned in the afterlife. The rich man has it good in this life and ignores the plight of poor Lazarus. In the afterlife, it is the rich man who is in torment and Lazarus is the one who is enjoying heaven. The double irony comes when the rich man asks that Lazarus be sent to warn his brothers. Jesus responds: "If they will not listen to Moses and the prophets, neither will they be persuaded if someone should rise from the dead." Will we listen to the one who has risen from the dead?

Daily Prayer This Week

When we place Jesus at the center of our lives, as Paul calls the Colossians to do, two marvelous graces are given us. We experience God's love for us in the mercy and forgiveness of Jesus. As grateful sinners, we then are able to forgive others.

As we begin each day this week, we can let these two graces be part of our reflection. We can ask our Lord to show us his love. We can fearlessly ask to understand who we are as sinners, in the concrete ways each of us falls short, gets distracted, becomes uncentered and makes very unfree choices. We can ask to be forgiven and healed. We can beg for the grace to forgive others. This journey each day might take us into specific patterns, habits, ruts we're in. We may even want to prepare to receive the Sacrament of Reconciliation this week, in preparation for celebrating the upcoming Sunday's readings.

We can choose to focus carefully this week on those people we ask for the grace to forgive. Whose faults do I pay most attention to? Whom do I judge harshly? From whom do I withhold forgiveness? If we begin each day, asking our Lord to reveal the answers to these questions, throughout our day, our days this week will show us deeper places where the Lord can forgive us and where we can share that mercy.

From the beginning of the week, we might ask Mary to gently guide us to trust her Son's love and to be more tender in loving those people her Son invites us to forgive and be a source of healing.

Throughout this week, we can also give thanks for the ways we are called to be Jesus' followers - not because we are extremely talented or because we are perfect, but because he saw in us something that he could heal and then send us to heal others. We can be especially attentive to the ways we are blessed in our poverty and in the ways we sometimes experience rejection as his disciples.

Grandparents Day Celebration Brings Joy and Togetherness at SMS

At SMS, we joyfully celebrated Grandparents Day with an event filled with love, laughter, and lasting memories. The day was packed with fun activities and games that brought generations together, creating smiles all around. Laughter echoed through the room as students and their grandparents enjoyed quality time together, sharing stories and making new memories. To top it all off, everyone enjoyed a delicious variety of snacks, adding a sweet touch to a heartwarming day. It was a special celebration that reminded us just how important and cherished our grandparents truly are.

PURRS FROM THE PEW - Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

Sister Fluff and the Heat of September!

Friends, let me tell you, this week has been hotter than incense on Easter morning. My beloved window sill, usually my sacred perch, has turned into a scorching skillet. I leapt up for my daily bird-watching and nearly branded my paws. St. Lawrence, patron of those roasted, surely understands my suffering.

I'm still finding Autumnfest crumbs tucked here and there. A popcorn kernel, a sweet dusting of funnel cake, even a blessed sliver of bratwurst—small reminders that stewardship comes in many forms, even for cats.

But the real excitement was Father Steve's birth-day. There was singing—lots of singing. Candy too, mostly Snickers, which I can't eat but certainly sniffed. The problem with birthdays is you never know when Father Steve might appear. He's quick, and I've had to practice holy stealth to avoid being scooped up without warning. Hiding is a spiritual exercise too, you know. Ask St. Joseph, the silent protector. Otherwise, it's been quiet. Hot. Uneventful. My prayer this week is for cooler days, steady crumbs, and a safe corner when the birthday songs begin again. May God bless this parish family with joy in simple things, even if those things happen to roll under the table for me to find.

Purrs and prayers, Sister Fluff, F.D.M. (Feline of Divine Mischief)

Lord Jesus, Divine Teacher, bless all who hand on the truths of our faith. Strengthen their words with your wisdom, their hearts with your love, and their lives with your joy. May they guide others ever closer to you, who live and reign forever and ever. Amen.

St. Mary Parish gives thanks for all who hand on the gift of faith. We are deeply grateful for your dedication, your witness, and your love for Christ. Your example strengthens our parish family and inspires the next generation of believers.
