MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Father Steve Pautler

John the Baptist; the first cheerleader of the Gospel.

John the Baptist really started something. He formed the first cheering section in the Gospel of John. No pompoms. No marching band. No smoke machines. Still, the effect stayed powerful. John stands by the river, sees Jesus walking toward him, and blurts out the line which changes everything. Behold the Lamb of God who takes away the sin of the world. He does not whisper it. He does not ease into it. He points, he announces, and he steps aside.

Every big moment brings a hype crew. Stadiums hire people whose only job involves getting fans on their feet. Concerts warm the crowd before the main act. DJs shout into microphones and demand noise. Energy matters. Anticipation matters. John understood this long before microphones existed. He looked strange. He dressed strange. People noticed. Some showed up out of curiosity. Others came for repentance. All ended up hearing an announcement they never expected.

John knew his role. He never tried to steal the spotlight. He never acted as the star of the show. He stood there to direct attention elsewhere. When Jesus arrived, John pointed and stepped back. No jealousy. No hesitation. No need for applause. A true cheerleader wants the crowd focused on the one who matters. John lived this with clarity and joy.

The words he speaks carry weight. Lamb of God sounds gentle, yet serious. This lamb deals with sin, not small mistakes or bad habits, but the deep mess people carry around. John does not offer self improvement tips. He announces a person. He tells the crowd salvation stands right in front of them, breathing the same air, walking the same ground. Then John adds something personal. He admits recognition came through the Spirit. He watched the Spirit descend and remain. Remain matters. The Spirit does not visit and leave. The Spirit stays. John bears witness so others trust the truth. His voice gives way so another voice rises. This Gospel invites a question. Who receives our pointing finger. Many voices shout for attention. Screens glow. Opinions fly. Everyone promotes something. John shows another way. He points toward Jesus and resists the urge to point toward himself. He cheers without demanding credit. Faith still needs cheerleaders. Families need them. Parishes need them. Kids need them. People grow tired. Joy fades. Doubt creeps in. Someone who points and says look there helps more than endless advice. A life which quietly directs attention toward Christ speaks volumes. John fades from center stage, and he smiles doing so. He understood success. The mission involved preparing hearts, then stepping aside. The joy came from watching others meet Jesus. So take the role with confidence. Point toward Christ with your words and actions. Cheer loudly with your life. Then step aside and let the lamb of God do the work.

This week's question:

I made a New Year's resolution to pray more. I set the time aside. The Bible is open. The bookmark is ready. Then my mind starts planning supper, reminding me to call my sister, and replaying yesterday's conversation. How do I stay focused?

Answer:

First, relax. Distraction is not a sign you are bad at prayer. It is a sign you are human. Prayer time often turns into mental housekeeping. That is normal. Do not wrestle every thought to the ground. Notice it, smile, and gently return to prayer. Start small. Five faithful minutes beats twenty restless ones. If your mind wanders, bring it back again. And again. That return is part of the prayer. Over time, focus grows. God is not timing you. He is glad you showed up.

Respect Life Corner January 18, 2026

Each year on January 22, all dioceses in the United States are called to observe a Day of Prayer for the Legal Protection of Unborn Children. January 22 is the anniversary of the 1973 Supreme Court decisions that legalized abortion throughout our nation. Since then, over 60 million lives have been lost. That's more than the size of Italy's population. On June 24, 2022, the Dobbs v. Jackson Women's Health Organization decision overturned Roe v. Wade. While God, in His mercy, ended the nearly fifty-year nationwide regime of abortion on demand, state and federal laws, in many instances, are still hostile to preborn children. So, great prayer and advocacy is very needed. This coming Thursday, we set aside a day of prayer for the full restoration of the legal guarantee of the right to life. It is also a day of penance for violations to the dignity of the human person committed through acts of abortion. We are each called to observe this day through the penitential practices of prayer, fasting, and/or giving alms.

VOCATION CORNER JANUARY 18, 2026

"When I was 6 years old, I told my mom I could never be a nun-I'd get too hot in a habit, I said, and faint. Thank God he never stops drawing our hearts to himself! The Lord led me to religious life through experiences of serving the poor with my family. My dad, an optometrist, organized annual eye care missions in underserved countries; we accompanied him several times. In middle school, I read a book about Mother Teresa of Calcutta. Her deep spirituality and witness of love and truth struck a chord in me. She became for me a model of a life wholly given to God through service to the poor. When the Lord made my call to religious life clear to me, it was to this life of love and service."

Ordinary Time Week 2

The Second Sunday of Ordinary Time offers us beautiful readings. From the Prophet Isaiah: “I will make you a light to the nations...” In John’s Gospel John the Baptist and his followers see Jesus as he walks toward them. John says, “Behold, the Lamb of God, who takes away the sin of the world. He is the one of whom I said, ‘A man is coming after me who ranks ahead of me because he existed before me.’”

Wednesday is the Memorial of Saint Agnes, virgin and martyr. Saturday is the Memorial of Saint Francis de Sales, bishop and doctor of the Church.

As we begin Mark’s Gospel Jesus is asked why his disciples don’t fast. He challenges the religious leaders to have a completely open mind and heart to his teaching because “new wine is poured into fresh wineskins.” Jesus is the Lord of the sabbath, bringing a new freedom. It is only chapter three in the gospel, but because Jesus heals a withered hand on the sabbath, the Pharisees already seek to kill him. Jesus withdraws and people from the surrounding regions come to him, and even the demons know who he is. Jesus names twelve Apostles to be with him, to preach and to drive out demons.

The Third Sunday of Ordinary Time brings us to a cycle of Matthew’s gospels during every Sunday of Ordinary Time this year. This week we see the call of the first disciples as Jesus stops Andrew and his brother, Peter on the beach. “Come after me, and I will make you fishers of men’. At once they left their nets and followed him.”

Daily Prayer This Week

Ordinary Time is the longest Season of the Church year. This year we have only a few weeks of Ordinary Time until Lent begins. These weeks between the Christmas season and Lent are an important time to continue to work on our habits of focusing our desires early in the day and talking with the Lord throughout the day, in the background of our busy lives. This is how we become “Contemplatives in action” and find intimacy with God without leaving the context of our real lives.

How do we do that with the hectic pace of our lives? We hear people say “I don’t have time to pray.” It isn’t about finding more time but more focus in our day with God. With this type of focusing and active consciousness, we find ourselves surprised at the time we really do have. There are dozens of times in all of our days during which our minds are occupied with something: a song, re-playing the last event, practicing a conversation with someone, having an imaginary argument with someone, thinking through the “to do” list of the day. We can learn to fill these times with whatever we choose. If we choose to let it be about our relationship with our Lord, it transforms our lives.

It all begins with our mornings. This week, when we first get up and perhaps for a few moments in the shower or getting dressed, let’s tell the Lord that what we desire today is to be more conscious of how what we do this day is responding to his call to me to be his disciple. Then, during the day, in those moments while driving or shopping or walking down the hall to a meeting, we can talk about how we are living our call in this or that activity we are engaged in. That conversation may get more detailed and specific in this or that set of events.

Each evening, for even a few moments, we can review our day’s momentary conversations, recognizing the moments of real connection and grace and giving thanks for them, and resolving to take even greater advantage of these opportunities the next day.

Third Quarter Starts Strong at St. Mary School!

Our SMS students are back for the third quarter, and they wasted no time getting moving. At our All School Mass on January 9, we proudly recognized students who stood out in academics, lived their faith, helped others, and showed real improvement. Those moments matter. They tell our kids we see the effort, not only the grades. We also celebrated our eighth graders Callen, Griffin, and Bennett during Eighth Grade Basketball Recognition Night at a recent game. Big smiles, loud applause, and well earned pride filled the gym. As we step into the third quarter, there is a lot ahead of us and even more to be proud of. These students keep showing up, growing, and doing great things, and we could not be happier cheering them on.

Purrs from the Pew, Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief

All Clear at School. Sister Fluff Confirms Crumbs Secured and Order Restored!

Sister Fluff here reporting live from the floor level where truth lives and dust bunnies fear me. I am pleased to announce all is well at my school with no critters detected no suspicious noises and all crumbs located and consumed by me. Order remains intact. My daily patrols continue with focus and grace as I inspect desks from underneath check backpacks for snacks and secrets and nap strategically so it looks like prayer. Father Steve walks by and nods with respect because he knows who runs this place. It was sad watching the art come down from the hallway and I studied every piece carefully while they removed it with bright colors bold lines and many suns with faces. Strong work. The little humans felt it too with sighs shrugs and then immediate action as new paper appeared fresh crayons arrived and hope returned. I think I might pose for a portrait sitting tall tail wrapped neatly eyes wise beyond my months so it could hang next to Father Steve and Pope Leo as a balanced collection of leadership. The classrooms hum with life again as chairs scrape laughter erupts without warning and someone always drops a cracker which I handle swiftly. Teachers speak kindly but firmly and the little humans listen some of the time which counts as progress. No critters to report this week. The school stands strong faith grows snacks appear daily and I remain vigilant. This concludes the report. Sister Fluff stays watchful playful reverent and very much in charge! Sister Fluff, F.D.M. Feline of Divine Mischief
