How's That Lent Coming Along?

So... how's Lent going?

Now be honest. Are you still giving up sweets, or have those Snickers bars mysteriously “fallen” into your mouth a few too many times? (It's okay — they do satisfy.) Are you, praying more... or just praying the Wi-Fi doesn't go out during March Madness? Have you been nicer to others... or just slightly less sarcastic before your first cup of coffee?

And Fridays... oh yes, those sacred Fridays. Are you eating fish like a faithful Catholic... or did you just convince yourself that shrimp tacos totally count, especially when ordered from a drive-thru?

Lent is a journey. It stretches from Ash Wednesday's solemn smudge to Easter morning's radiant light. We begin with good intentions and, let's be honest, a bit of spiritual ambition. "This year," we say, "I'm going all in!" And maybe you did... or maybe somewhere along the way, life got in the way. Schedules filled up. Temptations whispered. And those Snickers bars? They started calling your name louder than your alarm clock. But here's the good news: Lent isn't a contest. It's not a 40-day boot camp to see who's the holiest. It's about turning, returning, and beginning again — no matter how many times it takes. Which brings us right to the Gospel this weekend: Luke 15, the story of the Prodigal Son.

You know the one — younger brother takes the inheritance, blows it on bad decisions and worse parties, and ends up feeding pigs and wishing he could eat their food. Then suddenly, he remembers: "I could go home." And when he does? The father doesn't wait on the porch with arms crossed. He runs to him. Embraces him. Doesn't even let him finish his apology speech. He just welcomes him home.

That's God. That's Lent. That's love.

And if you're feeling more like the older brother these days — faithfully checking all the boxes, fasting, praying, doing everything right — don't miss the party. The Father's mercy is big enough for both sons. It's not about who deserves it. It's about who's willing to receive it.

This Tuesday is April 1st. Yep — April Fools' Day. But don't fool yourself... Lent will be over before you know it. The flowers are blooming. The birds are singing. Easter is peeking around the corner like a child searching for jellybeans. And now is the time to finish strong.

So here's your check-in. Have you wandered a bit? Come back. Have you stayed steady? Keep going. Have you eaten a Snickers or two? Don't worry — we've all been there.

There's still time. There's still grace. And there's a Father who's ready to run toward you the second you take that first step.

And spoiler alert: the celebration at the end? It's even better than Red Lobster. (But if you bring Snickers... I'm not turning them away.)

Respect Life Corner

“With great openness and courage, we need to question how widespread is the culture of life today among individual Christians, families, groups and communities in our Dioceses. With equal clarity and determination we must identify the steps we are called to take in order to serve life in all its truth” (The Gospel of Life 95).

Vocation Corners

Today's Gospel features one of the most memorable and quoted parables: The Prodigal Son. This display of Fatherly love is so reassuring to us as we travel through life. The premier forgiveness of the Father for both His sons provides us with comfort even in our transgressions. As we strive to live our vocation (priesthood, married, consecrated life, single), we can always treasure the knowledge that the Father will always celebrate our return to Him no matter what we have done or failed to do.

Quote for the week: Sometimes it takes the worst pain to bring out the best change.

Fourth Week of Lent

For the Fourth Sunday of Lent we read the powerful story of the Prodigal Son from Luke's Gospel. The younger son, who asks for his inheritance and spends it all, returns and asks to be a servant at his father's house. Instead he is welcomed home with open arms by his father who was filled with compassion, ran to his son and forgave him. The older son is jealous and will not share in the happiness but the father says to "celebrate and rejoice, because your brother was dead and has come to life again; he was lost and has been found." For Masses using Cycle A readings for the RCIA, John's Gospel will offer the story of the man born blind. (For more information, see Praying the Gospels of Weeks 3, 4 and 5.)

Our gospels this week are all from John's Gospel. After two days of healing stories, the opposition against Jesus builds. In Cana, in Galilee, Jesus heals the son of a royal official. Back down in Jerusalem, he heals a man who was sick for 38 years, incurring the wrath of his enemies because he did it on the Sabbath. Because of this, and because he called God his Father, they now plot a way to kill him. Jesus says his opponents do not want to come to him for life. He calls God his father and says, "I have testimony greater than John's." Unafraid of his opponents, Jesus goes to Jerusalem for a feast and openly tells people that he has come from God. They did not arrest him then, "for his hour had not yet come." Thinking they know where Jesus is from (in both senses: where he lived now and his origin in heaven), his enemies insist that Jesus can't be a prophet: "Look and see that no prophet arises from Galilee."

On the Fifth Sunday of Lent, Parishes that are doing the Third Scrutiny will use John's gospel of the raising of Lazarus.

For the rest of us using the Cycle C readings for this liturgical year, John's gospel brings us the story of the woman accused of adultery. Religious leaders bring a woman to Jesus challenging him: "Now in the law, Moses commanded us to stone such women. So what do you say?" Jesus responded only, "Let the one among you who is without sin be the first to throw a stone at her." The crowd quietly dispersed. Jesus seeing there is no one left to accuse the woman says gently, "Neither do I condemn you. Go, and from now on do not sin any more."

Daily Prayer This Week

The gospels this week make it very clear toward the end of the week that Jesus faced opposition that couldn't accept who he is. We see that Jesus comes to lay down his life that we might live. So, this week of Lent is an important time for us to ask ourselves if there are any parts of our hearts, any of our patterns, that oppose Jesus and his desire to give us life. This kind of honesty can transform our lives. It can allow the grace of God to bring reconciliation and healing we might not have imagined.

Even if it hasn't been easy to get really engaged with Lent so far, we can still make a beginning, even now. The key is openness and desire. If we can feel any attraction, any sign that the Lord is possibly drawing us, then the Lord can work with us - no matter what resistance or fear we might also be experiencing. All we have to do is act out of these desires and simply ask the Lord for the grace to help us be more honest and more open to what he is offering us. For example, we can ask for the grace to examine our consciences more thoroughly. We could try a different approach to facing any resistance we might have to the Lord's working in us. We might not commit the big sins, but we may not have examined what we fail to do. Who am I failing to love, to forgive, to be generous to? From whom am I withholding affection, care, reconciliation? Where can I live more honestly, with more integrity? How might I proactively change my own personal patterns of escape with patterns of care for others?

It is a time of grace when we can experience moments of "recognition," or self-understanding. But it is not a grace to beat up on ourselves or become self-absorbed in our own guilt. It is grace to feel grateful to the Lord for showing us obstacles to the life he is offering us. It is grace to feel our spirits lighten as we feel drawn to greater freedom and peace. It is incredible grace when we are drawn to celebrate the Sacrament of Reconciliation. This week, let us give thanks to the Lord who deeply desires our greater freedom and joy. As we go to bed each night, let us thank the Lord for what we saw that day and renew our desires for the next day of grace.

Cod's Work, Y'all! That Fish Fry Was Divine!

If your Friday night had a suspiciously holy aroma of crispy fish and golden fries wafting through the neighborhood... yep, that was us. And we weren't just frying—we were testifying with tongs in hand. A big, greasy (in the best sense of the word) thank you to everyone who made our Lenten Fish Fry a finger-lickin' success. From the volunteers who slung slaw and served smiles, to the kids who brought joy (and definitely snuck fries before dinner—we saw that), to the parents, friends, and parishioners who showed up hungry and left happy: you are what makes St. Mary's feel like home. Your support doesn't just fill plates—it fuels Catholic education and keeps our mission alive and thriving. Whether you came for the food or stayed for the fellowship, we're glad you were part of the fun. And yes—the fish really was that good. See you next Friday for another helping of faith, flavor, and fried perfection.

March Dadness: Where the Shorts Are Short, the Shots Are Wild, and the Trash Talk is Top Tier!

Our 2nd Annual March Dadness kicked off this week with a slam dunk of fun, fierce competition, and just the right amount of dad jokes. The gym was packed with energy as sons battled their dads in an epic showdown of layups, laughs, and a few questionable calls (mostly from the dads). The scoreboard may have shown 27-26, but the real win was seeing who could out-hustle, out-hoop, or just outlast the other—jury's still out on whether the kids or the dads are more competitive (spoiler: it's definitely the dads, but don't tell the kids). Can't wait for next year—might need to ice some knees first!!

Faith, Fun, and a Few Well - Earned Applause!

It was a great day at St. Mary School filled with celebration and gratitude. Students and staff gathered for a beautiful Mass, reflecting on faith and community as we near the end of the school year. Following the service, it was time to honor the hard work and achievements of our students with the 3rd quarter awards ceremony. From academic excellence to acts of kindness, we recognized a wide range of accomplishments that make our school so special. We're proud of all our students and can't wait to see what the final quarter brings!
