God in the Streets...

There is something unforgettable about a Corpus Christi procession, something ancient, yet alive. As a young altar server in a red cassock, I remember the weight of the moment: incense billowing, bells ringing, all of us moving with purpose through the streets of our small town. We weren't putting on a show. We were proclaiming something real. that Christ walks with us.

Every sacred object in the procession speaks. The monstrance, radi-ant and golden, doesn't just carry the Eucharist, it lifts high the Presence of Jesus Christ for all to see. The humeral veil reminds us that it is not the priest, but Christ who blesses. The cope, flowing like royal vesture, declares the majesty of the King. And when the priest covers his hands, it's not out of fear, but reverence, because no hand is worthy on its own to carry the King of Glory.

But perhaps the most powerful moment comes when we see hands reaching out, young and old, people of every walk and culture, reaching not to touch fabric, but like the woman in the Gospel, reaching in faith for Jesus Himself. In that moment, the Church walks as one body, clergy and laity, mystery and majesty, tradition and longing, all centered on Christ who walks with us, who is not far off, but near, in the monstrance, in our streets, and in our hearts.

One video I return to often is God in the Streets of New York City, filmed by Grassroots Films in 2009. It shows Jesus in the monstrance being processed through one of the busiest cities in the world, sirens wail, taxis honk, construction roars, and yet, right in the middle of it all, there is peace. Christ doesn't wait for silence or perfection. He walks straight into our chaos. The monstrance used in that video was one of six blessed by Pope John Paul II before his death for the Year of the Eucharist. That's no small footnote. It's a reminder that the Church sees this moment as a mission, to bring Christ out of the Church and into the world.

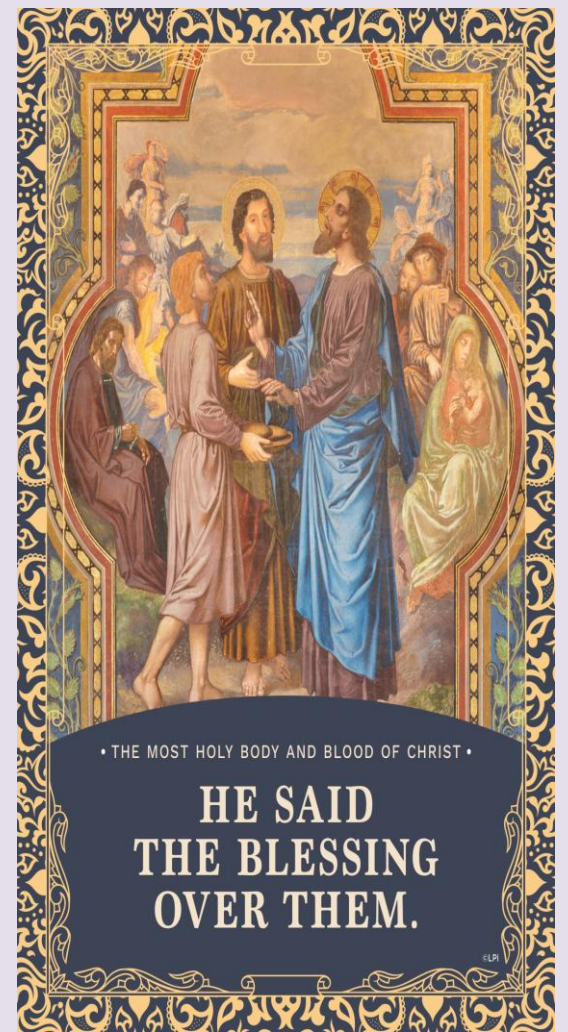

So I ask again: Where do you take Jesus?

Do you leave Him behind with the hymnals and holy water, tucked safely into a Sunday routine, or do you carry Him out into the noisy, messy, beautiful world that desperately needs to see Him?

Because here's the truth: Jesus is not content to stay hidden behind sanctuary walls. He didn't come to sit still. He came to walk, through our neighborhoods, into our homes, and across the thresholds of our ordi-nary lives. He wants to be carried into conversations where kindness is scarce. Into workplaces where integrity is tested. Into homes where patience runs thin. Into break rooms, hospital rooms, and classrooms. Into moments of joy and tears, hope and heartbreak.

And yes, even into traffic jams, grocery lines, and backyard barbe-cues. You, dear friend, are His living monstrance. If the gold and glass monstrance holds the Eucharist for the world to adore, then your life, your words, your compassion, your courage. holds Christ for the world to encounter. Not perfectly, not always gracefully, but faithfully. Let Him walk boldly.

Let Him be seen in you, not just in Church on Sunday, but in the street on Monday. Let Him be present in your hands when you serve, in your eyes when you look with mercy, and in your voice when you speak with love. The world doesn't just need to hear about Jesus. It needs to see Him, in you. Let the procession never end..

“Christ’s blood reveals to man that his greatness, and therefore his vocation, consists in the sincere gift of self. ...It is from the blood of Christ that all draw the strength to commit themselves to promoting life. It is precisely this blood that is the most powerful source of hope, indeed it is the foundation of the absolute certitude that in God’s plan life will be victorious.”

Vocation Corner The Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ June 22, 2025

Today we celebrate the gift of Eucharist. This gift is what truly defines us as Catholics. We rejoice that Jesus gave His Body and Blood for our redemption. This is the remembrance we commemorate during each Liturgy. This is only possible through the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass which is celebrated by a priest. We are challenged to pray for more priests; we are also challenged to encourage those who may have a calling to Holy Orders. Pose the question: "Have you ever considered being a priest?"

Quote for the week: The Kingdom of Heaven is open to all who are willing to sit down with all.

Twelfth Week in Ordinary Time

Sunday in the U.S. is the Solemnity of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ. For the rest of the world it is the Twelfth Week of Ordinary Time. We have Luke's Gospel with powerful words of sacrifice and focus for our lives: "If anyone wishes to come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his life will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake will save it."

Tuesday is the Solemnity of the Nativity of Saint John the Baptist with its own special readings. Friday is the Solemnity of the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus.

The first reading all week is a three-week journey through the Book of Genesis and begins with the call of Abram and his wife Sarai. Abraham and Lot leave each other, splitting land and herds. God makes a covenant with Abraham, who has no heir, and promises him not only a son, but that he would be the father of as many people as the stars of the sky.

This week we continue reading from Matthew's Gospel. Jesus continues his challenge to follow him more completely. "Stop judging, that you may not be judged." "Do to others whatever you would have them do to you." "Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing." "Not everyone who says to me, 'Lord, Lord,' will enter the Kingdom of heaven, but only the one who does the will of my Father in heaven." "Who do you say that I am?" When a leper asks if Jesus will cure him, Jesus replies, "I will do it. Be made clean." On Saturday, Matthew quotes the prophet Isaiah, "He took away our infirmities and bore our diseases."

Next Sunday is the Solemnity of Saints Peter and Paul, Apostles. In Matthew's Gospel, we hear Jesus ask his disciples "Who do people say that the Son of Man is?" and follows with "But who do you say that I am," to which Simon Peter affirms "You are the Christ, the Son of the Living God."

Daily Prayer This Week

This is a week of great celebrations. We much to reflect upon in the birth of John the Baptist. The Sacred Heart of Jesus is a devotion dear to the Society of Jesus. And the Solemnity of Ss. Peter and Paul help us reflect on these great early witnesses to Jesus' Spirit among us.

This is a great week to reflect on several wonderful elements of the Word and to let them interact with genuine desires in our hearts. We can reflect upon our call - the vocation we find ourselves in, the ways we live it and are faithful to it. We can be comforted by Jesus telling us that fear is what gets in the way of our freedom to be a witness of the Good News for others.

Fear comes in so many forms. Sometimes, when we are angry a lot, or finding ourselves to be more and more defensive, we can trace the anxiety or insecurity back to a particular fear or a general fear. How liberating it can be for us to pray for the grace to be fear-less, especially in the concrete ways that will come to us in our everyday life this week.

And it is good to recognize the traps that sabotage us in our everyday relationships and daily choices. Judging others is an easy trap for people trying to be good. It is so easy for me to notice when you aren't as good as I'm trying to be. The end result is I'm trapped, and fail to recognize my own ways of failing to love. If only we could love others, at least in the same way we crave to be loved! The culture we live in, the way Jesus describes it to us is clearly entering through the "narrow" gate. And, when I don't sort through my various and sometimes conflicting desires, it feels like my life is built upon sand. When the going gets tough, I have nothing to fall back upon. The week ends with a picture of Jesus, the healer.

Perhaps by the end of the week, the brief conversations we have with Jesus, in the midst of our daily life, will reveal desires for healing. Jesus always wants to show us how he can make us whole. He always wants us to be able to receive gifts, which we in turn can share with others. All of us can find grace in some part of the Abraham and Sarah story. Who among us doesn't feel that we are unable, too old, not religious enough, not strong enough, not ready, held back in some way from bringing forth life or fulfilling our vocation? This week is a good reminder that "nothing is impossible with God." Each night this week, we can recall what we've talked about, asked for and received, and we can give thanks.

Community Comes Together for a Hearty Cause at St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus Breakfast!

A heartfelt thank you to everyone who came out to support the St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus Breakfast on June 8, 2025. We were thrilled to see such a wonderful turnout from our community. Your presence, generosity, and enthusiasm truly made the event special. We are especially grateful to the dedicated volunteers who gave their time and energy to help make the breakfast a success. Thank you as well to those who made donations and to everyone who supported the sale. Your contributions, in every form, helped create a warm and welcoming atmosphere, and we are sincerely thankful for your support. Events like these remind us of the strength and kindness of our community. We look forward to seeing you again at future gatherings!

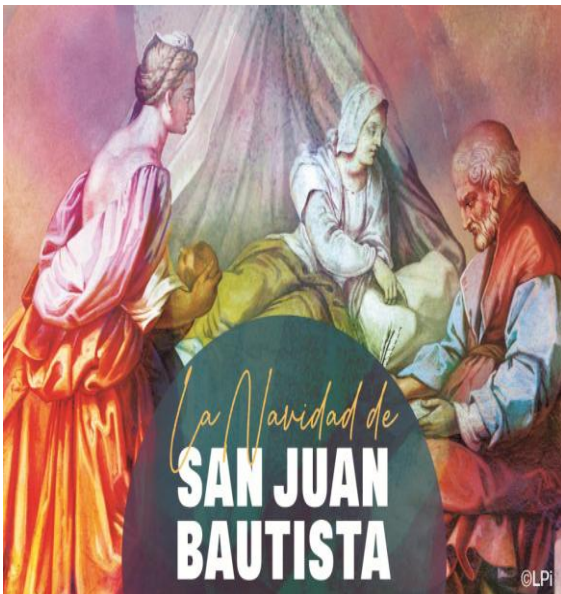

Father Levi Celebrates His First Mass Surrounded by Fellow Clergy

Father Levi James, who grew up at St. Mary Parish in Mt. Carmel, Illinois, was ordained to the Holy Priesthood of Jesus Christ on June 7th. The following day, June 8th, he celebrated his first Mass, surrounded by brother diocesan priests, along with his deacon and Priest classmates. It was a joyful and reverent occasion, marking the beginning of his priestly ministry and a proud moment for the entire parish community that helped nurture his vocation.
