MESSAGE FROM OUR PASTOR

Reverend Steven Pautler

Title: Reserved Seating: Corner Booths & Collar Tales

Weekly Reflection – Father Steven Pautler

Luke 10:1, 7-14 – 22nd Sunday in Ordinary Time, August 31, 2025

Head tables have never been my thing. Give me a corner booth, a cup of coffee, and a view of the action, and I'm perfectly content. At weddings, anniversaries, and big events, when everyone's scrambling to get their spot near the cake or the microphone, I'm the guy checking out the escape route by the kitchen.

Now don't get me wrong, I'm not antisocial. I love people. But I also love watching people. And let me tell you, when Jesus starts talking about folks elbowing their way to the best seats at the banquet, I know exactly the type. Every parish has a few, bless their hearts.

One thing you learn quickly as clergy: you're always in the spotlight, whether you want to be or not. Wear a Roman collar and suddenly you're everyone's spiritual Google. People ask me to bless their food, their family, their football team (no promises), and once...a hamster. I didn't ask questions. I just blessed.

I had a priest friend who'd go shopping at Walmart and purposely mess up his hair so no one would recognize him. (He was young, with hair to spare. I, however, no longer have that luxury.) Some priests go "undercover" when flying, trying to avoid attention. Not me. I wear the collar when I fly, not to get bumped to first class (though that would be nice), but to let people know I'm available if they need to talk.

And talk they do. I've had 30,000-foot confessions, mid-flight tears, and more than a few people try to evangelize me. I've also made lifelong friends and heard stories that made me laugh, cry, and occasionally question my seat assignment. Jesus isn't knocking the head table. He's reminding us it's not about where we sit, it's about why we're sitting there. Is it to be seen? Or to serve? Do we want the applause? Or the opportunity to lift someone else up?

Sure, the head table has its perks. It's usually closest to the rolls. But true honor isn't about proximity to the gravy boat, it's about being someone others can trust, talk to, and lean on.

So whether you're at the podium, in the pews, or hiding in the back hoping no one calls on you—God sees you. And better yet, He invites you to a banquet that doesn't require RSVPs, titles, or perfect seating charts. Just show up humbly. Be ready to laugh, listen, and maybe bless a hamster or two.

I'll save you a seat in the corner!

This week's question Do I really have to fast for an hour before receiving Communion? What about things like cough drops-and what if I forget?

Answer: Yes, the Church asks us to fast for one hour before receiving Holy Communion, not before Mass itself. This means no food or drink (except water or medicine) for 60 minutes before receiving the Eucharist, not necessarily before the Mass begins. The purpose is to help us spiritually prepare and approach the Eucharist with reverence. Cough drops or small medicinal items don't break the fast, they're considered medicine, not food. So if you're using them for a sore throat or cough, you're fine.

If you accidentally forget and eat within the hour, it's not a sin if it was a genuine mistake. In that case, it's best to refrain from receiving Communion that day out of respect for the fast, but you're not in trouble. God sees your heart and your intention. Just try to be mindful next time, it's all part of preparing well to receive Jesus.

Vocation Corners August 31, 2025

Both the Book of Sirach and the Gospel of Luke today stress that we should live our lives in humble fashion. WOW! What a challenge. Yet, we are called each day to use our talents to glorify the Lord and spread His word. Are we humble enough to recognize the talents that we truly have? Are we also humble enough to set aside our egos and hear what God is truly calling us to do? Can we clean up after our kids without grumbling? Can we rise for work with a willing spirit? Can we set down our phone and pray for a moment that a young person might pursue a religious vocation?

PURRS FROM THE PEW -
Sister Fluff of Divine Mischief
Nap Mats & Cat Chats
So the little humans have officially settled in. They march the halls like ducklings with Velcro shoes, while their teacher hisses "ssssshh!" like a snake in a skirt. Naturally, I respond by meowing louder. Respectfully, of course. (Mostly.)
My favorite part of the day? The sacred ritual of the PreK 3 & 4 nap time. After lunch and a wild stampede of juice boxes and giggles, they roll out those mats like tiny monks preparing for prayer. And me? I sneak into their classroom like the shadow of a saint, leaping up to the window sill to ob-serve.
Ah, peace. Finally. No screaming, no running, no snack crumbs being tragically wasted. Just soft breathing, warm sunbeams, and the occasional snore from a 4-year-old who clearly partied too hard at recess.
This is my cathedral of calm. My daily retreat. Sometimes I join them, just a quick catnap, nothing formal. And if one of them sees me? I freeze. Statues have nothing on me. (they think I am Robo Fluff)
Once, a little girl whispered, "I saw an angel kitty."
Yes, child. Yes, you did.
One day, I shall be discovered. Carried off like a queen in someone's backpack. Until then, I watch. I purr. I plot.
Until next time, may your paws be quiet, your snacks abundant, and your naps uninterrupted. – Sister Fluff,

Quote for the week: None of us sits high enough to look down on anybody.

Twenty-Second Week of Ordinary Time

Sunday is the Twenty-Second Sunday in Ordinary Time. We are encouraged to embrace humility. The first reading from the Book of Sirach says it simply: "Humble yourself the more, the greater you are, and you will find favor with God." In Luke's gospel is a beloved story of Jesus saying, "do not recline at table in the place of honor" at a banquet. "For every one who exalts himself will be humbled, but the one who humbles himself will be exalted."

Wednesday is the Memorial of Saint Gregory the Great, Pope and Doctor of the Church.

Paul's First Letter to the Thessalonians concludes on Tuesday. Wednesday, we begin a week of readings from the Letter to the Colossians, with its gracious salutation and encouragement. The readers are exhorted to see Christ as the "head of the body" noting that all is created "in and through him."

We now move from Matthew to Luke's Gospel, which we will read on weekdays from now until Advent begins. We will feel the special way the evangelist will highlight healing, mercy, the poor, women, prayer, the Spirit and a gospel for a new, all inclusive, Israel.

Jesus teaches in the synagogue and reads from Isaiah: "Today this Scripture passage is fulfilled in your hearing." Jesus heals a man with demons. He heals Simon's mother-in-law, and all the sick they brought him. "I must proclaim the good news of the Kingdom of God, because for this purpose I have been sent." He calls out to three discouraged fishermen to lower their nets, to show them his power. Peter is overwhelmed and protests he is unworthy. "Do not be afraid; from now on you will be catching men." At Jesus' persistence, Peter, James and John leave their nets to follow Jesus. The week ends with Jesus' tangling with the Pharisees who challenge the fasting of his disciples. "Can you make the wedding guests fast while the bridegroom is with them?" He deflects the criticism by telling them "no one pours new wine into old wineskins." When his critics note that his disciples were "unlawful" by picking heads of grains to eat, he tells them, "The Son of Man is lord of the sabbath."

On the Twenty-Third Sunday in Ordinary Time we hear Wisdom marvel at God's ways. Paul writes to his friend, Philemon, about Philemon's slave, Onesimus, who is now a convert and in prison with Paul. Paul asks that he be taken back as a son or a brother. In Luke's Gospel, Jesus tells the crowd that following him will involve radical conversion and require that each person discern if they can prepare for the self-denial required.

Daily Prayer This Week

As we get into this pattern of letting the readings interact with the desires of our hearts, one week flows into the next. So, we begin this week continuing to reflect on the purpose of our lives. We can measure our resistance to self-denial for the sake of loving others more and ask for the Lord's healing and grace.

Our pattern of finding intimacy with our Lord in the unique context of our busy, complicated days begins with a morning moment of focus, the earlier the better. Soon after we wake up, we can pause briefly to give a faith filled shape to our day. While making coffee, starting a load of wash, taking a shower, getting dressed, we can begin our day with the Lord, begin our day in a relationship. At first, it may take practice to replace what usually goes on in our heads and hearts, with this kind of prayerful desiring. It can quickly become a very natural way to anticipate, plan and prepare for our day.

Reading this guide over the weekend or early in the week helps, as does reading the Daily Reflection for the day. But these resources work best when they provide a support for our inner conversation with the Lord as we go through the real experiences, relationships, conflicts and challenges of our day. Then the scriptures, the unique details of our lives, and the desires of our hearts simply come together in an ongoing dialogue with the Lord that takes place in the background of our days and shapes our choices and reveals deeper desires.

This week, we might ask Jesus to confront the demons that seem to dominate the upcoming week. We may have many mothers-in-law or friends that need healing that we can entrust to the Lord's care. We might experience discouragement in our work, with our spouses or parents or in our jobs or ministries. We can take those discouragements and use them as an opportunity to ask the Lord to show us his power there. And, when we are tempted to feel unworthy or to be humbled by the task ahead, we can let Jesus call us again to follow him. Perhaps this week we will feel the call to a real renewal, to not just keep trying to pour new wine into our old wineskins but to ask the Lord to make us new, and ready for the new calls, new graces he is offering us. With the smallest of efforts, we can find a few moments every evening to look back on these days of connecting with our Lord, and to express our gratitude for his presence and the new freedom and graces we are receiving.

SMS Principal Maria Pryor accepts a $2,100 donation check from GK David Schulte of the Sandoval Knights of Columbus. The funds were raised during their recent tuition assistance breakfast. St. Mary School is truly grateful for their continued support! Their generosity makes a lasting impact on our students. With spatulas in hand and hearts full of generosity, our St. Lawrence Knights of Columbus turned breakfast into a blessing for St. Mary School. Your support lightens the load of tuition and fills our halls with faith, joy, and opportunity. From pancakes to purpose, you always deliver. Thank you, Knights, for feeding both body and soul. You truly are the right arm of the Church—and maybe the best cooks in Sandoval!

Congratulations to the St. Mary Centralia-Willow Grove Wildcards on taking 1st place in the OBC Tournament with a 5-1 victory over Selmaville! Devyn Dodillet was outstanding in the circle with 18 strikeouts and just two hits allowed, while she and her teammates backed it up with seven hits at the plate. A fantastic team effort—well done, girls and coaches!

The St. Mary Parent Teacher Organization (PTO) held its first meeting of the school year on August 20, 2025, filling the cafeteria with enthusiastic parents eager to kick off another year of involvement. While children enjoyed activities in the gym, parents gathered to review PTO finances, sign up for volunteer opportunities, and begin planning a variety of events, aimed at enriching the school community.
