Breakfast with St. Michael's Prayer Warriors

On June 19, a nice warm, not to hot morning, I had the pleasure of breaking bread (and other goodies) with the Prayer Warriors of St. Michaels.

Msgr. Gus invited these wonderful prayer warriors to have a nice breakfast in his newly built back yard as a thank you for just being who they are to St. Michaels. I was told that even during the pandemic these faithful people met every morning to pray for not only us here at St. Michaels, but the whole world.

I think their prayers were heard. As we sat outside without masks and just enjoyed the beautiful day God bestowed on us, I thought we are so fortunate to have these earth angels among us at our church!

God Bless you one and all
Rosie

Faith Formation Corner:

CARING FOR OUR HOME:

This past Sunday, at 7:30 am Mass, Martin Garcia, from A-1 Construction, presented the progress (or new findings) of the current church roof project. Martin presented photos along with details about what we parishioners were looking at on the provided projector screen. The findings were disturbing as Martin pointed out exactly how much damage the interior beams had been sustaining throughout the last few years. He explained and showed how un-level (and unsafe) the roof actually is. Then Martin delivered the “good news.” The additional damage would cost approximately $250K over the current estimate of $250K. I have to share with you, I immediately thought, oh my goodness, that’s a lot of bake sales and dinners!!! But then Martin truly delivered some good news. He had discussed the current increase with Msgr. Gus to determine how many registered parishioners are supported by St. Michael’s. The number totaled approximately 650 families. Martin “calculated the numbers” and discovered that if every family donated $65 per month for one year, St. Michael’s would not have to take out a loan, and we would have the roof paid for by ourselves. Martin noted that we, brothers and sisters in Christ, needed to take care of “our home.” But this wasn’t the most interesting remark Martin made. Martin recognized our dear patron, St. Michael as having held our roof up over our heads because the damage done to the roof should have already fallen upon us. He stated that “it is a miracle that the roof never fell down on us.”

That struck me. For all of the times the church was opened during Covid-19, the roof could have collapsed anytime. All the times morning Mass was said, during the Stations of the Cross, during the rosaries, etc. It is a miracle; I believe we should be running to the church office to give financial support to the roof replacement project merely on the fact that God has spared us possibly serious injury.

Honestly, I have a slight beef with people who complain about how “the Church is always asking for money.” I have to ask, who is the Church supposed to ask? Our priests and sisters take vows of poverty, so they’re not exactly “rolling in the dough.” Most of our Catechetical Ministers and Heads of Ministries are volunteers who pray for, donate to, AND step up to work the necessary events at our parish. In addition, most of the fundraising is to meet the needs, not wants of our parish, so who are we supposed to ask? I appreciate how Martin spoke of our church as “our house.” St. Michael’s is OUR house. We are responsible for it; we are chosen to take care of “this house” at this time in history, and EVERYONE needs to join in. If EVERYONE chipped in on a regular basis, I wonder if we would need to fundraise; maybe we could actually “FUN RAISE!” In the Acts of the Apostles, after Jesus ascends, the believers all gave of what they had and no one, no one went without.

My challenge to you my Brothers and Sisters, is, if you are one of the ones that we haven’t seen or believes that someone else can do it, then let me be the first to tell you, YOU ARE NECESSARY to the well-being of your family, your church, and your community. Plus, what do you think makes most of those who donate their time, talent, & treasures give so consistently? One of the reasons is Faith; Faith in God who we know will provide us with everything we need and the realization that He does not have to do that. The second reason is because until you’ve done it, you do not realize how much fun working, laughing, and sharing time together truly is. And third, because we know that when we get involved, Church truly begins to feel like HOME. So, if I don’t know you, I would like to meet you, and get to know you. If you are skeptical, give your church a try. And if you have love to give, then spread some love to your church like Martin said, and “Let’s take care of OUR HOME.” See you all at the collection baskets. (LOL). Blessings, Roz

Today’s reading from St. Paul explains the “divine economy” of stewardship—“The relief of others ought not to impoverish you; there should be a certain equality. Your plenty at the present time should supply their need so that their surplus may in turn one day supply your need.”

La lectura de hoy de San Pablo explica “la economía divina” de la administración de los bienes de Dios—“Ustedes darán de su abundancia lo que ellos les falta, y ellos, a su vez, darán de lo que tienen para que ustedes no les falte. Así reinara la igualdad”.

Gospel Reflection:

Mark 5:21-43 (shorter form, Mark 5:21-24,35b-43)

Jesus heals a woman afflicted with a hemorrhage and raises Jairus’s daughter from death.

Background on the Gospel Reading

For today’s Gospel, we continue to read from the Gospel of Mark. Last Sunday we heard about Jesus calming the storm, the first of four miracles that Jesus performs in the vicinity of the Sea of Galilee. Each of these four miracle stories offers us a glimpse at Jesus’ power. This week we hear about the third and fourth miracles, skipping the second miracle, the healing of a man from Gerasene who was possessed by a demon.

Today’s Gospel reports two stories of healing. One story tells us about a father’s great love for his dying daughter. The other story tells us about a desperate woman who risks much as she seeks healing from Jesus. In each story, the request for healing is itself a courageous act of faith, and yet very different circumstances are represented by the lives of each suffering person.

Jairus is described as a synagogue official, a man of considerable standing in the Jewish community. Distraught over his daughter’s poor health, he approaches Jesus and asks him to heal her. Although Mark doesn’t provide many details, we can imagine that his daughter has been ill for some time and that her condition is deteriorating.

As Jesus leaves with Jairus, Mark describes a second person who seeks healing from Jesus, a woman with a hemorrhage. This woman secretly touches Jesus from behind and is immediately cured. In response, Jesus turns and asks who touched him. Jesus’ disciples, always a little clueless in Mark’s Gospel, help us envision the scene. The crowds are pushing in on Jesus, and yet he, knowing that power has gone out of him, asks who touched him. The woman could have remained anonymous, yet at Jesus’ question she steps forward and acknowledges what she has done. Jesus responds by acknowledging her as a model of faith and sends her away in peace.

At this point, we can imagine Jairus’s impatience with Jesus; his daughter is dying and Jesus hasn’t helped him yet. As if to build a sense of urgency, messengers suddenly arrive and confirm Jairus’s worst fear: his daughter has died. Jesus curiously ignores their message and reassures Jairus. When they arrive at Jairus’s home, they find family and friends mourning the girl’s death. Jesus enters the room of the dead girl, takes her by the hand, and instructs her to arise. Jairus’s faith in Jesus has not been in vain; his daughter is restored to life.

The contrasts between Jairus and the woman with the hemorrhage are stark and revealing. One is a man, the other is a woman. One is a public official, an important person in the community. The other is a woman who has lost everything to find a cure to a condition that separated her from the community. One approaches Jesus publicly. The other approaches Jesus secretly. Yet in each case, faith leads them to seek out Jesus in their time of need.

The Gospel concludes with Jesus’ instructions to remain silent about this miracle. This is typical of Mark’s Gospel and is sometimes referred to as the messianic secret. Repeatedly, those who witness Jesus’ power and authority are instructed to not speak of what they have witnessed. These instructions appear impossible to obey, and it is difficult to understand the purpose of these instructions. But in each case, they seem to emphasize the fact that each individual, including the reader of Mark’s Gospel, must, in the end, make his or her own judgment about Jesus’ identity. Each individual must make his or her own act of faith in affirming Jesus as God’s Son.

Family Connection

There are many ways in which we can compare the request for healing made by Jairus and the request of the woman with the hemorrhage. One comparison helps us think about prayer. Jairus asked Jesus for healing on his daughter’s behalf; the woman with the hemorrhage had no one to speak for her and bravely approached Jesus on her own initiative. In our prayers, we do both. We intercede for others’ needs, and we also courageously express our own needs to God. We find hope in Jesus’ response to both of these people, who sought him out in their hour of need. As you gather as a family, talk about some of the things you have prayed for this week. Notice that some of your prayers may have been for other people, and some of your prayers may have been for your own needs. In today’s Gospel we find encouragement for both kinds of prayer. Read together today’s Gospel, Mark 5:21-43. Talk about the similarities and differences between the two people who presented their needs to Jesus in this Gospel. Notice that both people received the healing they sought from Jesus. We want to pray for the needs of others and for our own needs with as much faith and hope as Jairus and the woman with the hemorrhage did. Pray together in thanks and praise to God, who hears our needs and answers them, by praying today’s psalm, Psalm 30.
