Respect Life Ministry:

"Who possesses the right to life? The natural law teaches, and the Declaration proclaims, that every human being possesses the dignity that forms the foundation of these unalienable rights. Proponents of abortion raise a chorus of theoretical questions about 'what constitutes life? When does it begin?' The answer from science is clear: a new, genetically-distinct human life begins at conception defined as fertilization:...'a sperm fertilizes and oocyte and together they form zygote.' "

Before I Formed You in the Womb I Knew You, By the Most Reverend Salvatore Cordileone, Archbishop of San Francisco

Ministerio de Respeto a la Vida:

"¿Quién posee el derecho a la vida? La ley natural enseña, y la Declaración proclama, que todo ser humano posee la dignidad que forma el fundamento de estos derechos inalienables. Los defensores del aborto plantean un coro de preguntas teóricas sobre "¿qué constituye la vida? ¿Cuándo comienza? La respuesta de la ciencia es clara: una nueva vida humana genéticamente distinta comienza en la concepción definida como fertilización: "un espermatozoide fertiliza y el ovocito y juntos forman cigoto". "

Antes de formarte en el vientre te conocí, por el Reverendísimo Salvatore Cordileone, Arzobispo de San Francisco

Faith Formation Corner:

Living Faith – What does living faith mean? Sounds simple doesn't it? You know, follow the 10 Commandments, be kind, nice, etc. I believe much of this is true, but I believe it goes far deeper than that. I have been pondering "living faith" since the last writing, where I wrote about "knowing Christ." So, how do we "live faith?"

I think we cannot, absolutely cannot "live" until we actually "know" Christ. In the scriptures, to "know" another, as in a marriage, is to have engaged in physical consummation in order that the husband and wife actually "become one." Then, in the power of the love that comes through that union, we look forward to the creation of a new life. I don't think our Lord is suggesting an alien commune with Him, but I do believe He wants us to truly "know" Him.

It makes sense, right? He created us, he knows every hair on our heads, he knit us in our mothers' wombs before we were born. We are also made in His image. Imagine that. We ALL have attributes and characteristics of this God, who lovingly, painstakingly, joyously creates us. And our God is crazy creative!!!! Just look at yourself, or your family members, or people from other communities, and other countries, and other cultures, the list goes on!!

Look at the mountains, and the oceans, and the skies, and what has been left of life's history throughout the ages!! Look at the incomprehensible amount of living creatures that abide with us humans!!! So this God, this Father, Son, and Holy Spirit? This God is huge!!! Magnificent!! All this and He loves you, me, us, individually, and in totality. In God's creating of us, he knows every little thing about us . . . completely, even if we are only part of the way to the completion of our purpose on Earth, God still knows us . . . intimately. So what is our problem? What is it that we don't "know" God intimately?

I have heard it said that to "Know Jesus is to Love Jesus," Well, if Jesus is "the way, the truth, and the life," then why are we not flocking in droves to this Christ, who is God, who has died, and continues to die, every time we sin, to himself, in order that we might know him more, love him more? John tells us that God never leaves us, nor forsakes us. Read this scripture carefully because if the Lord never leaves us, nor forsakes us, then what is happening when we feel alone? Scripture maintains it is never Jesus who leaves us; no, it is us who do some type of avoidance dance before him. Some of us can't or won't respond to the sound of him knocking on the doors of our hearts. No wonder we are floundering, no wonder our relationships, our families, our churches, our jobs, our everything may be falling apart!! It's because not enough of us are actually answering the call to follow Christ!

If we do not follow, how can we know where He will lead us? If we do not follow the path He plans for us, then how can we possibly understand him, or know him? It is precisely this path that allows us to grow in his knowledge, his strength, his wisdom, his love. It is this love that frees us to be completely who we are meant, in the eyes of God to be. And it is only in being completely free in this beautiful Christ of ours that we can "live faith." In knowing Christ, we learn the nuances of his daily stirrings, we meet his mother and father, and all the saints; we learn of his personality, his likes and dislikes, his kindness, his mercy, his joy, his humor, all the attributes that come with journeying with someone. Ultimately, this journey leads us to the end goal: to learn, to grow, to die to self, to give of self . . . every step of the journey . . . for Him, with Him, and through Him . . . to Love Him. May we always be ready to answer his knock on the doors of our hearts.

Blessings, Roz

Forming the Faith by Kennedy:

Why is our religion called Roman Catholic if the Romans are the ones who killed Jesus?

The Church is called "Roman Catholic" because The Pope is the head of the Catholic Church and Bishop of Rome. This term is used more here in the State to separate them from other Christian churches that consider their own Churches to also be authentically catholic. –Blessings, Sister Angela

Twenty-Fifth Sunday in Ordinary Time/ Vigesimo Quinto Domingo en el Tiempo Ordinario

Today's second reading warns that a heart consumed with avarice and envy leads to jealousy, strife, conflicts, and disputes. A giving heart, in contrast, can sing instead with the psalmist, "Freely will I offer you sacrifice; I will praise your name, O Lord, for its goodness."

La segunda lectura de hoy advierte que un corazón consumido con la avaricia y la envidia conduce a los celos, a la contienda, los conflictos y las disputas. Un corazón generoso, en con traste, puede cantar en lugar con el Salmista, "Libremente te ofreceré sacrificio; alabaré Tu nombre, O Señor, por su bondad."

Gospel Reflection:

Mark 9:30-37
Jesus teaches his disciples that the greatest are those who serve all.

Background on the Gospel Reading

In today's Gospel, we hear Jesus again predict his passion, death, and Resurrection to his disciples. The setting here is important. Jesus and his disciples are preparing to journey through Galilee, a Jewish territory in which Jesus has already encountered problems with the Pharisees. Perhaps this is why Mark indicates that Jesus was trying to journey in secret. In predicting his passion, Jesus is acknowledging the danger they will face and is trying to preparing his disciples for it. Yet Mark tells us that the disciples did not understand what Jesus was saying and were afraid to ask what he meant. Such hesitation on the part of the disciples is not characteristic behavior. Peter had no fear about rebuking Jesus in last week's Gospel. Perhaps this is an indication that the disciples were aware that a new situation was emerging.

Mark paints a vivid picture in today's Gospel. Having arrived at Capernaum, Jesus and his disciples enter a house. In this private place, Jesus asks his disciples about the argument they had while they were journeying. Again, the disciples are uncharacteristically silent and afraid to answer. They have been found out. Jesus then summons the Twelve, whom Mark identified earlier in his Gospel as those chosen by Jesus to preach and to drive out demons. To this select group of disciples, Jesus teaches that those who would be first in God's kingdom must be servants of all.

Jesus then calls forward a child and teaches the Twelve that to receive a child in Jesus' name is to receive both Jesus and the One who sent him. We might easily fail to understand the significance of this action. In first-century Palestine, children were without status or power, possessing no legal rights. In this action, Jesus is teaching his disciples and us that when we serve the least ones among us, we serve Jesus himself. Who are the people without power or status in our society that Jesus is calling us to serve? Do we do so willingly? Jesus teaches that God's judgment of us will be based on this criterion alone.

Family Connection

Conversations such as the one described in today's Gospel are common in family life. Perhaps these examples are familiar: "I should get the first piece of cake because I am the youngest;" "I did the dishes yesterday; someone else should do them today." How might we respond if Jesus asked about our family arguments? What would Jesus say to us in reply? All of us need the reminder found in today's Gospel: To be great in God's Kingdom is to be the servant of all.

As you gather as a family, recall a recent family argument about household chores or an example of bickering among family members. Talk about what was at issue in the argument. Together imagine that Jesus entered the room just as the argument ended. What would you tell Jesus your argument was about? What might Jesus say in reply? Read together today's Gospel, Mark 9:30-37. How was your family argument like the argument among Jesus' disciples? What might your family do to remember that those who are great in God's kingdom are those who willingly serve others? Pray together that your family life will reflect your commitment to serve one another with love. Pray Saint Ignatius of Loyola's Prayer for Generosity.

Let them be filled with patience and joy in your presence as they wait for your healing touch. Please restore your servants to full health, dear Father. Remove all fear and doubt from their hearts by the power of your Holy Spirit, and may you, Lord, be glorified through their life, Amen." Deja que se llenen de paciencia y alegría en tu presencia mientras esperan tu toque sanador. Por favor, restaura a nuestros siervos a la plena salud, querido Padre. Quita todo temor y duda de sus corazones por el poder de nuestro Espíritu Santo, y que tú, Señor, seas glorificado a través de su vida, Amén."
