The Pastor's Desk

Today, the evangelist Matthew continues to describe the Kingdom of God according to Jesus' teaching, as proclaimed during these summer Sundays in our Eucharistic assemblies.

At the heart of today's story is the vineyard, a prophetic image of the people of Israel in the Old Testament, and now of the new people of God born from the wounded side of the Lord on the cross. The matter at hand: belonging to this people, which is granted by a personal call made to each one: "It was not you who chose me, but I who chose you and appointed you" (Jn 15:16) —and by the will of the Father in heaven, who desires to extend this call to everyone, in accordance with His generous will for the salvation of all people.

What stands out in this parable is the protest of the early-hour workers[...] For them, faith is something that binds and enslaves, and they quietly envy those who "live life" to the fullest[...] They believe it's better to remain spiritually idle than to live in the light of God's word. They feel that salvation is their due and are jealous of it. Their petty spirit contrasts sharply with the generosity of the Father, "who wills everyone to be saved and to come to knowledge of the truth" (1 Tim. 2:4), and thus He calls to His vineyard: "The Lord is good to all, compassionate toward all your works" (Ps 145:9). From the Music Director:

Recalling that music expresses the affective dimension of prayer, Pope Leo cited when St. Augustine said, "Cantare amantis est," translated as "singing belongs to those who love." "This," the Pope reflected, "is very important because it helps us to open our hearts to God's action in grace and to allow ourselves to be moulded by it."

Inspired by the words of the Holy Father, The Regina Pacis Choir and the Regina Pacis Youth Bell Choir are seeking new members as we begin the new year to lend their talents and voices to contribute to the beauty and prayerfulness of our liturgies.

The choirs sing at Sunday Mass, Christmas, The Holy Triduum as well as special moments such as our annual Christmas concert where choirs from all cultures of our parish sing joyfully together!

Reading music is not required, only the passion to raise your voices to God in song.

Children must have received their First Communion to join the Bell Choir.

Please come sing with us! You may contact me after any mass, or sign up at the Faith Formation office or the rectory if interested.
