Sunday After The Most Holy Trinity

The Most Holy Body & Blood of Christ

(Corpus Christi)

Solemnity

A New Food

That Makes Us Hunger For God

In today's Gospel, Jesus by comparing the gift of himself to the desert manna, reiterated the most basic fact of his life. He had been sent by the Father for the life of the world. He also claimed that there was no comparison between the manna and what he offered. Those who ate the desert manna survived for a time and then died. Those who find their substance in Christ, the Living Bread will share his victory over death and the life he has from the Father. Ultimately, the real scandal of Jesus' claim to be the Bread of Life was his claim that God was revealed in his mortal flesh.

Today's Bulletin is printed in memory of Annie Mae & Alfred P. Dierschke, Sr. sponsored by their family.

LITURGICAL ORIENTATION

We Celebrate the Body of Christ

Centuries ago, St. John Chrysostom asked, "What is the bread actually? The body of Christ. What do communicants become? The body of Christ. Just as bread is the result of many grains and although remaining themselves are not distinguished from one another because they are united, so we too are mutually with Christ." Whatever words we use – "the church," "the people of God" or "the community of believers" – as we celebrate the gift of the body of Christ, we also celebrate the gift of one another in Christ.

REFLECTION

Jesus, Living Bread That Gives Us Life

Today's First Reading, like last week's invites us back to the desert experience of the Israelites. The Book of Deuteronomy was written for people who lived after the desert experience. The author of this Sunday's passage was writing history in the form of a homily he attributed to Moses. Moses is here reminding his people that after spending 40 years learning to depend on God in the desert, they should well remember what they had learned. He then went on to describe their testing. We may take lightly the Israelites' longing for the pots of stew they left behind in Egypt. They truly feared for their lives, thinking they would starve in the desert. This led them to suspect that Moses and God had duped them into a suicidal venture far worse than the slavery they had survived for generations. Moses gave his people one command in two forms: Remember and Do not forget. Moses wanted the people to remember that in their wandering when they were fed up with God, and afraid they would die, God remained with them, putting up with their complaints and seeing to it that both their basic and their deepest needs were met. Moses reminded them that in spite of their fears, they did not die. In fact, they learned that God could be counted on to take care of them never leaving them to face their perils alone. They came to recognize God's loving presence through their times of trouble.

Our journey through life may be every bit as frightening and grace-filled as the one on which Moses led his people. Our advantage over our Israelites ancestors is that we can learn from their experience and go beyond it. Christ promises us his presence on the way.

CHURCH REPAIR FUND SET UP

After the roof repairs, the tuck-pointing of the brick structure and the work done on the stained glass windows in the Summer and Fall of last year, the repair work has now entered its second phase. Work now has begun in the interior of the building. As you can see from the pictures, what appeared on the surface to be mere cracks in the walls have turned out to be more than that. The mortar is disintegrating after so many years.

The Church was built in 1924, extensively renovated in 1967 by Msgr. Robert Schmidt and restored in 1994. In four years - 2024, the building will be 100 years old.

A Church Repair Fund has been set up to give those who want to help an opportunity to do so. We thank the anonymous family for the donation of $1,000, towards the repairs.
