Saint of the Week

Saint Joseph Calasanz, 1547 - 1648
Patron Saint of Catholic Schools

Saint Joseph Calasanz was a Spanish priest who was well trained in philosophy, theology, and canon law. He held an administrative position under two bishops, but feeling a deep concern regarding the lack of education for poor children, he put aside this career. Instead, he devoted the rest of his life to the education and formation of the orphaned, homeless, and poor children of Rome.

Trying, but with no success, to have children admitted for free to local schools, a local pastor offered to let Fr. Calasanz use rooms in his church for classes. Soon other priests joined him and within 5 years, he was able to open the first free school for children in Europe. Two years later, he had around 1,000 children in his schools.

A Message from our Pastor, Fr. Ted Dudzinski

Brothers and sisters in Christ,

Am I “Striving to enter through the narrow gate..?”

Today, Holy Mother Church is reminding us of three things in today's Gospel passages: First, that heaven exists. This is the banquet in the Kingdom of God, the way Jesus describes salvation and eternal life. Second, that hell exists. This is what's outside that banquet, where there is "wailing and grinding of teeth" - images of the hopeless frustration that the human soul experiences when it is cut off forever from friendship with God. And third, that in order to make our way to heaven, we have to keep on doing our part.

In the Gospel, Jesus is asked a question that every human being will ask at some point in their lives. It is a question about eternal life, salvation, and whether heaven is for real. Jesus' answer is perhaps not as encouraging as we would like! He doesn't say: "Oh yes, heaven is for everyone. Just try to be good."

Instead, He says: "Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I tell you, will attempt to enter but will not be strong enough." (Luke 13:24) We should clarify that we do not know how many people are eternally saved and how many are eternally lost. Jesus hasn't revealed this to us and theologians will speculate back and forth. What we can do is strive to enter the "narrow gate". The more important question to ask is: How do I enter the narrow gate?

Today, a theologian who can help us is named C.S. Lewis. He wrote a theological book called Mere Christianity in which he points out the three rules for living a moral life. If we follow these three, we can hope to be doing our part to aim for the narrow gate. C.S. Lewis uses the image of a fleet of ships, sailing in the ocean, to explain the three rules for a moral life. The problem is, we often seem to focus on the first rule and forget about the other two.

In the imagery of a fleet of ships, each one of us is a separate ship in the fleet. The first rule is to be civil, kind, and generous to those around us. It means not crashing your boat into anyone else's boat! In morality, it means to be a decent, kind, and compassionate human being.

However, today, we often twist this first rule into something along the lines of: As long as you're not hurting anyone, do whatever makes you happy. What people do in private is their choice, as long as it doesn't affect me. C.S. Lewis says, "When a man says about something he wants to do, 'It can't be wrong because it doesn't do anyone else any harm,'" he is thinking [...] it does not matter what his ship is like inside provided that he does not run into the next ship. The problem with this, Lewis says, is that we can't steer a ship unless the ship is well taken care of. If we all are in charge of our boats, we can't just say, "The only rule is to not bump into another's boat." Not crashing into others is just step one of three. He says, "What is the good of telling the ships how to steer so as to avoid collisions if, in fact, they are such crazy old tubs that they cannot be steered at all?" If men and women are not virtuous people themselves, we can't have a good society.

So, the second rule to living a moral life is to care for your soul and to form yourself in virtue. In this way, one can hope to be able to steer their ship.

The third and last step has to do with our goal, to which point are we sailing our ship? The fleet of ships has to sail somewhere! This somewhere is heaven. The third rule is to strive for God and for heaven. Every Christian should have this goal! This is what Jesus means by "the narrow gate" that leads to salvation. To get through a narrow gate you have to leave behind all your excess baggage - you have to go through it on purpose. It is possible to be labeled a Christian on the outside without really making an effort to follow the Christian way in our hearts. It is possible to come to Mass, to be involved with parish activities, and still never really enter into a committed, life-changing, personal relationship with Christ. Jesus knows that going through the motions isn't enough; we need to let his grace change our hearts and our very lives.

Christ gave us the model to follow. To live in truth before God and man, to take up the cross of our daily life, our responsibilities, and to be willing to sacrifice ourselves for the good of others. These are all placed before us today, as Jesus invites us to strive for that narrow gate, which is certainly more than just being a "nice person".

In the hearts of Jesus, Mary and Joseph,

Fr. Ted Dudzinski

MUSIC AND LITURGY

A Message from Dr. Wendy Yuen

Praise God, From Whom All Blessings Flow

At St. Mary and St. Ann, I was met with welcoming parishioners. I was also blessed to be able to work with supportive colleagues. With your hospitality and warm-hearted spirit, I feel blessed and truly welcomed.

It has been three months that I have worked as the Director of Music and Liturgy here. It was not easy to leave behind my parishioners, dear friends, and the beautiful mountain trails in Helena, Montana. Yet, looking back over these months—with all the learning and adjusting—I can see how God has been leading, helping, and pouring out blessings. This is the God I am singing praises to.

The hymn reminds us that every blessing we have flows from God, and that all creation is called to respond in thanksgiving. As the hymn unfolds, the vision of praise grows wider: it is not only our own song, but the song of every land and every people. And it looks beyond our present moment, proclaiming that God's mercy and truth are eternal.

Each time we sing it, we are reminded that our voices are joined with creation itself, with the church throughout the world, and with the saints and angels in heaven.

As a community, may this hymn be our shared prayer of gratitude. I invite you this week to take a moment to notice God's blessings, to lift up a prayer of praise, and to let your life join in the song that will never end.

Dr. Wendy Yuen

A Message from Fr. Joshua and Rachel Witt

Praised be Jesus Christ, Now and Forever...

Thank you for taking the time to read my bulletin article. I am always edified by the words in bulletin articles, especially from Fr. Ted Dudzinski, Fr. Matthew Jakupco, and Fr. Chris Omotosho. We also have great words shared by others, including Dr. Wendy Yuen and Rachel Witt. I am also thankful for the words I have read and heard from our Deacon Jim Rush. We write thoughtful and informative bulletin articles for you, dear brothers and sisters. We do this because we care, and we want our pastorate family members to be informed on topics and items of interest as we journey together in this earthly life. You have decided to make St. Mary and St. Ann your spiritual home, so for that, we are grateful.

One of the lessons I was given from my mother was to write thank-you notes. I am not talking about an email message or a text message. I am talking about getting a card or a stack of thank-you notes with envelopes, a book of stamps, and some nice writing pens that don't bleed all over the paper. Then, after some thinking and consideration, I learned to write to the people in my life. My sister Kelly has told me over the years that I am a good writer. I received this from my mother, as she was also a good writer. I still have some notes she wrote to me over the years. I have them as keepsakes because she has since gone home to God. But they remind me that she loved me in life and still loves me.

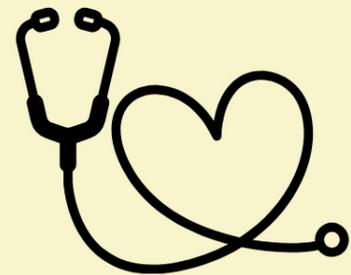

I am rambling, but I will leave you with this: consider writing some letters or thoughtful notes to the people in your lives. For those who work, writing to your co-workers and teammates from time to time can be both encouraging and a way to show appreciation. Also, remember, spouses, how awesome it is to write to your beloved. And children, when you have been given a gift, WRITE A THANK YOU NOTE. It is a good habit to form now and carry with you into your adult years.

Finally, remember God's words that He has left us through the Holy Scriptures, both the Old Testament and the New Testament. I was encouraged just today (8/19/25) from the Book of Judges chapter 11 with the following encouraging words: "The Lord is with you, O champion!" This reminds me that in God's eyes, you and I are His champions – His beloved sons and daughters. Also, I read the words, "Be calm, do not fear." These are excellent reminders for me as I prepare for my deployment coming up in October. Please pray for me and know I will pray for you!

In His Sacred Heart,
Fr. Joshua Janko

Calling all Nurses and Health Care Professionals...

The pastorate has benefited greatly over the years from a dedicated group of nurses who started a 'parish nurse' ministry. Embracing Catholic teaching to care for the human body as a temple for the Holy Spirit, they generously shared their expertise and helped us care for the physical needs and good health of our church family. They accomplished much, from bringing in AED devices, sharing information, offering trainings and at one point, even provided direct care, offering monthly health checks after Masses.

We would like to re-new this group and need your help!

If you are a medical professional (LPN, RN, NP, EMT, PA, MD, etc..), mental health provider, or work in a healthcare setting (administrator, public health, etc.) and would be willing to help us form a small advisory group who would serve over the next year to help us review, guide and develop our programs and practices, please contact Rachel Witt in the pastorate office.

THANK YOU!

Catholic Near East Welfare Association

Catholic Near East Welfare Association was founded by Pope Pius XI in 1926 as an instrument of love and a sign of hope for those in need scattered throughout the historic but unstable lands of the ancient Eastern churches - the Middle East, Northeast Africa, India, and Eastern Europe. (<https://cnewa.org/about-us/>)

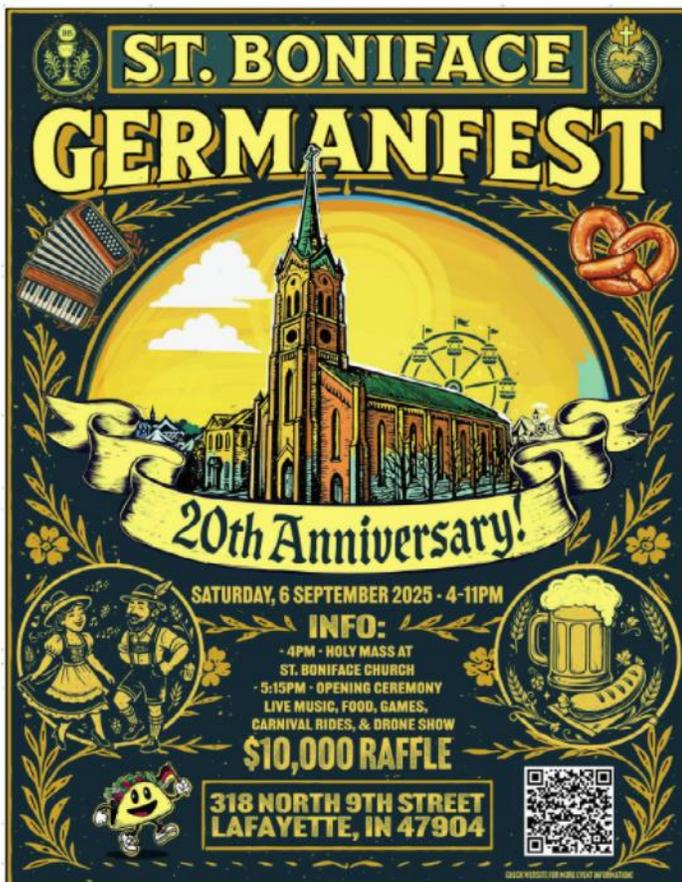

The Most Reverend Timothy P. Broglio, Archbishop for the Military Services, USA & President of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops has written Bishop Doherty concerning “the terrible suffering of Christians and other innocent victims of violence in Gaza and surrounding areas who are struggling to survive, protect their children, and live with dignity in dire conditions.” The Catholic Near East Welfare Association (CNEWA) is in Gaza providing vital emergency humanitarian relief and medical/psychological care for the sick, malnourished, and wounded. Catholic Relief Services (CRS) is working through local Church partners to provide food, shelter, cash assistance, hygiene supplies, and care for people’s emotional well-being. Both organizations have well-established partnerships with the Catholic Church in the region which allow them to respond quickly and efficiently.

At the request of Bishop Doherty the following two links for collection websites are being shared with our Pastorate. These agencies provide humanitarian relief and pastoral support for our brothers and sisters in Gaza and surrounding areas in the Middle East. Thank you, in advance, for your contributions.
