Answers:

1. (b) During a special Mass we remember all our relatives and others who have died. They are also remembered during a special part of each Mass celebrated during the year.
2. (b) As the Catechism of the Catholic Church phrases it, "Even the minister's sin cannot impede the fruit of grace"
3. (a) St. John of the Cross (1542-1591) was a good friend of St. Teresa of Avila. Together they helped reform the Carmelite Order during a lax period. His feast day on December 14.
4. (c) The term is used in Isaiah 22:22 and again in Revelation 1:18. (The Church uses it as one of the "0" Antiphons during Advent.)
5. (a) Sometimes these first five books (called the 'Pentateuch' by Catholics and the "Torah" by Jews) are referred to as the "Book of Moses."

Parish Painting and Pews

In the next few weeks we will begin cleaning and painting the outside of Saint Patrick Church, and Hall. The painter has put us on his schedule.

At the last Pastoral Council, and Finance meeting, the members recommended that we purchase new pews for the Church. We have an initial bid of $23,900. for twenty three pews (and new kneelers). The pews will have padded backs and seats.

We still have some things to work out; especially the design of the pew ends, color of padding and a few more things.

I want the parish to participate in the purchase of the pews, but since we just decided on this earlier this week, I haven't worked up a plan.

With the new pews, I also plan to change the green color in the Church.

Thank you,

Father Dave

The Real Presence of Jesus Christ in the Sacrament of the Eucharist: Basic Questions and Answers

3. When the bread and wine become the Body and Blood of Christ, why do they still look and taste like bread and wine?

In the celebration of the Eucharist, the glorified Christ becomes present under the appearances of bread and wine in a way that is unique, a way that is uniquely suited to the Eucharist. In the Church's traditional theological language, in the act of consecration during the Eucharist the "substance" of the bread and wine is changed by the power of the Holy Spirit into the "substance" of the Body and Blood of Jesus Christ. At the same time, the "accidents" or appearances of bread and wine remain. "Substance" and "accident" are here used as philosophical terms that have been adapted by great medieval theologians such as St. Thomas Aquinas in their efforts to understand and explain the faith. Such terms are used to convey the fact that what appears to be bread and wine in every way (at the level of "accidents" or physical attributes - that is, what can be seen, touched, tasted, or measured) in fact is now the Body and Blood of Christ (at the level of "substance" or deepest reality). This change at the level of substance from bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ is called "transubstantiation." According to Catholic faith, we can speak of the Real Presence of Christ in the Eucharist because this transubstantiation has occurred (cf. Catechism, no. 1376). This is a great mystery of our faith—we can only know it from Christ's teaching given us in the Scriptures and in the Tradition of the Church. Every other change that occurs in the world involves a change in accidents or characteristics. Sometimes the accidents change while the substance remains the same. For example, when a child reaches adulthood, the characteristics of the human person change in many ways, but the adult remains the same person—the same substance. At other times, the substance and the accidents both change. For example, when a person eats an apple, the apple is incorporated into the body of that person—is changed into the body of that person. When this change of substance occurs, however, the accidents or characteristics of the apple do not remain. As the apple is changed into the body of the person, it takes on the accidents or characteristics of the body of that person. Christ's presence in the Eucharist is unique in that, even though the consecrated bread and wine truly are in substance the Body and Blood of Christ, they have none of the accidents or characteristics of a human body, but only those of bread and wine.

Good Example, Best Example

No matter what your background, if you have grown into a person of faith there is usually someone whose example you followed: a priest, godly teacher, devout parent. That person helped you learn what a child of God could and should be. And if you have rejected God, there is most likely a failed example you remember, someone whose life and words harmed, betrayed or deceived you. How wonderful it would be to have only good examples here on earth and none of the harmful ones to lead us astray. In Mark 6:30-34, we are reminded that God has given us the a trustworthy, divine example to follow: Jesus. He called us "sheep without a shepherd," not because the Shepherd had disappeared, but because we forget to look to Him. It's easier to watch the people around us, than to keep our ears and eyes tuned to God and trusting Him alone to guide us. Take a moment in prayer today to consider who you're following: a good example, or the best example?

SECOND COLLECTION: Support the Catholic Home Missions Appeal today! Over 40% of dioceses United States and its territories are considered mission territories, because they are unable to fund essential pastoral activities needed in their communities. Your support funds religious education, seminary formation, lay ministry training, and other programs that build vibrant faith communities right here in the United States. Please be generous.

Prayer of the flock Lord

We are your people, the sheep of your flock. Heal the sheep who are wounded, touch the sheep who are in pain, clean the sheep who are soiled, warm the lambs who are cold. Help us to know the Father's love through Jesus the shepherd and through the Spirit. Help us to lift up that love, and show it all over this land. Help us to build love on justice and justice on love. Help us to believe mightily, hope joyfully, love divinely. Renew us that we may help renew the face of the earth. Amen.

Marriage Minute

Some spouses need to bite their tongues more; others need to loosen their tongues and share more. Which are you? With time, hopefully, you can find the middle ground that is "just right."

PARISHIONERS DEPLOYED OVERSEAS:

Greg Craig is deployed please keep him in your prayers.
